Ministers Sponsor Lecturer

Dr. Grace Sloan Overton of New York, was sponsored by the Ministerial Association of Goldsboro, in the Goldsboro high school, eighth grade of William Street school, and various churches throughout the city during the week of March 11-15.

Each morning at 9:05 Dr. Overton spoke to the student body. Her subjects of discussion were: Monday—"The Fundamental Structure Of Our Bodies;" Tuesday—"Our Minds Body, And Creative Ability;" Wednesday—"Social Know-how;" Thursday—"Finding the Key To Your Own Door of Vocation;" Friday—"Life, Labor, and Love;" and a summary of the week's subjects.

On Wednesday and Thursday the juniors and seniors from Brogden high school were guests, and on Friday, the seniors from Grantham high school and the eighth grade from William Street school attended the lecture of Dr. Overton.

During the week, Dr. Overton received students in private and group conferences.

Dr. Overton also spoke to each of the classes and to a few homerooms. On Thursday she spoke to all the boys of GHS, while Friday she spoke to the girls of this school and the eighth grade girls from William Street.

Teachers Attend Meet In Asheville

Five Goldsboro teachers attended the annual meeting of the North Carolina Education Association in Asheville on March 27-30.

The delegates from Goldsboro were: Mr. Eugene L. Roberts, GHS; Mrs. E. L. Roberts, William Street School; Mrs. Eliza Cox, GHS; Mrs. John Hawley, William Street School; and Miss Lucy Smith, Virginia Street School.

Mr. Roberts will be the incoming president of the Goldsboro unit of the NCEA.

The purpose of the meeting was to discuss and plan better schools and better teaching.

There were several meetings of the various subject groups.

A Young Man's Fancy Turns To Love

By Leah Lloyd Riggsbee

"In the spring a young man's fancy (so they say) turns to thoughts of love." Since the season is upon us, I feel that we, the weaker sex, should be prepared for his thoughts in case they ever leave baseball and various other things in order to turn.

Love is defined in any dictionary, so if you don't already know what it means, look it up. That's what dictionaries are for, stupid!

Now since you have looked up the definition of love and know what we're talking about, I shall continue. The definition is very helpful but it does not enlighten us as to the signs that precede your advancement to this state. (The state of being in love.) So I shall attempt to put you in the know. But first let me warn you that a young man's fancy isn't the only fancy that turns.

I want you all to know that if you see him and feel all, well that way, you're in love. Sometimes it

Is Honored

Martha Winslow, president of the Goldsboro High School Student Association, was recently elected secretary of the NCSSCC in a meeting held in Kinston.

Gaynelle Sauls Is Varsity Club Sweetheart Now

Gaynelle Sauls is the Varsity Club's sweetheart.

Announcement of the club's selection was made, March 9, during the second night's showing of "Janie."

She was selected by the Varsity Club members in a secret ballot. All nominees for the place were eliminated except the high four and the final secret ballot was between these four.

To be elected sweetheart of the Varsity Club is considered a high honor among the students of GHS. Gaynelle, a member of the junior class, was born in Snow Hill Oct. 18, 1929 and has large brown eyes and dark black hair.

She has participated in dramatics and has been in "Lost Horizon," "Little Black Sambo," "Just Before The Prom," "The Lady Who Came To Stay," "Men Folk" and the radio studio dedication program "The Question."

She served on the cafeteria committee last year.

GHS Student Named On Student Council

Martha Winslow of GHS was elected Secretary of the Eastern District of the North Carolina State Student Council held at Kinston, North Carolina, March 22. This was the seventh annual session of the district meeting.

The theme of the convention was "Youth's Role in the Postwar World."

The delegates attending from GHS were: Martha Winslow, Kitz Bridgers, and Mr. Eugene Roberts, official delegates; Herbert Howell, Jane Brown, and Susan Jenkins, unofficial delegates.

After the registration of delegates, the first general business session was held. President Roland Collins of Grainger high school, Kinston, called the session to order after which a devotional was held. The delegates were welcomed to Grainger high school and to Kinston. An address was given by Chancellor R. B. House, University of North Carolina, on the qualities of leadership. After the recognition of officers, Pat Hardwick called the roll and gave the minutes of the sixth Annual

On Friday evening, March 22, the Eastern Carolina Dramatic Festival, sponsored by the North Carolina Dramatic Association of Chapel Hill, opened with a welcome by Mr. Ray Armstrong, superintendent of the Goldsboro city schools, and a short review of the festival program by Mr. Clifton Britton, teacher of dramatics in GHS and president of the North Carolina Dramatic Association.

The Festival will return to GHS next year.

The first play presented was "Joan of Arc," done entirely in French by the French class of Greenville High School. It gave a bit of Joan's life up to the time where she began to for her country.

The next play was "Western Nights," given by the Needham Broughton Little Theatre, Raleigh. The play took place in the West, and told about four cowboys, one of whom was named "Boots" because of his love of horses and his fondness of nice boots and clothes. Seriously injured while riding, he hated the thought of dying. However, the Ghost of his dead brother visits him and tells him about the wonderful land "across the mountains." Thus the boy passes away looking forward to seeing the new land.

Following this was "Gold Is Where You Don't Find It," presented by the Junior Goldmasquer, Goldsboro. This was a cartoon-comedy, the characters being a prospector and a donkey. It tells of their search for gold, and when it is finally found, the exciting adventures of the search become more enticing, so the prospector forgets about the gold he has just found, and continues his search.

The last play for that night was "Companion Mate Maggie," given by the Chi Pi Players, East Carolina Teachers College, Greenville. This was the story of a Negro girl who leaves home to find fame and fortune in the city, but finally realizes that home is the safest and best place after all.

The festivities were started off Saturday morning by a general meeting in the auditorium. Mr. Britton talked on directing; Foster Fitzsimmons, associate director of Carolina Playmakers, spoke on scene design; Mrs. O. K. Jayner, director at Needham Broughton High School in Raleigh, talked on play selection; and Foster Fitzsimmons spoke in playwriting in high schools.

Following these speeches, "Mountain Laurel," the original play by Jane Parker, Goldmasquer, was presented. It told of the

NCSSCC.

The items of business were then brought up. The appointment of standing committees was made by the president. Martha Winslow was named chairman of the Resolutions committee. The naming of committees and the nomination of officers were the main items of business in the first session. Very few people nominated, so after the announcements the first general business session was adjourned after which the official delegates and their advisors went to a luncheon at the Hotel Kinston.

At the opening of the second general business session it was voted to reopen the nominations since so few were nominated the other time. Martha Winslow was nominated for secretary of the NCSSCC. After the brief campaign speeches the convention adjourned to discussion groups.

The delegates were divided into three discussion groups each having a sub theme under the principle theme "Youth's Role in the Postwar World." The sub themes

The rest of the staff will be chosen later.

The play is being directed by Miss Alice Lee Harris.

SA Handbook Is Being Revised

Work on the revision of the SA handbook for GHS is nearing completion according to announcement by Eunice Bizzle, chairman of the committee in charge. The last handbook of the student association was published in 1940, so the SA has as its major objective this year the publication of the revised handbook.

The committee has about completed its work and after they have finished the principal C. W. Twiford and Advisor E. L. Roberts will check and approve changes, where upon the handbook will be submitted to the student body for approval.

Serving with Eunice on the committee are Rev. Bryan, Jewel Orton, John Thompson and Mr. E. L. Roberts.

Eunice Bizzle succeeded Robert Andrews who resigned from his position as chairman a few weeks ago.

Report Cards

By J. C. Horne

As spring rolls around so does the end of the third quarter. As the flowers blossom and smell so does the fourth quarter. As the birds and bees return so do the little pink slips that teacher so generously hands out. As the fifth month of the year comes into view so do our report cards. As the little spring showers flow so do the tears of our bewildered parents. As the March breezes blow so am I until this whole thing blows over.

"Janie" Nets Over $1,000

Over one thousand dollars was taken in on the Varsity-Goldmasquers production — "Janie" — which was presented the eighth and ninth of March.

The dedication of the Broadcasting Studios was also made at this time. The studios and Room 16, newly redecored, were open to the public for inspection after the presentation of the play.

Goldmasquers Present 3 Plays In Contest

Clean Up Campaign Is Held

A clean up campaign was held in GHS a few weeks ago. It was sponsored by the Building and Grounds Committee with Leonard Fulghum and Shirley White, Co-chairmen.

Each homeroom was held responsible for cleaning their own rooms and certain other areas in the building.

Among the things done were: dusting; cleaning the floors; washing cabinets; windows; and walls; repairing desks; and replacing window pains. Flowers were put in some rooms to beautify them.

Homerooms volunteered to help clean up the lawns. Each day a different class took a portion of the lawn to clean. Trees were also pruned.

Do You Remember?

By Annie Ruth Crumpler

WHEN

Wolves weren't plentiful in GHS?

Billy Ray didn't like Martha? Gas and chewing gum were scarce?

Carl, Bobby and Dan had German haircuts?

Marilyn T. and Susan S. made 5's on tests?

Ruth C. was a redhead and Margie Perry was a blonde?????

Shirly W. had green eyes?

Carolyn L. and Tootie were serious???

Annie Ruth C. didn't have a thing to say????

Donald B. and "Collie Bone" weighed 200?

"Men Folk," "Gold Is Where You Don't Find It," and "Mountain Laurel" are the contest plays to be presented in Chapel Hill by the Goldmasquers on April 4, 5, and 6.

"Men Folk," the senior contest play is about the women who are married to sea-faring men and how they wait for them to come back from their voyage. The characters are: Granny, Marjorie Pate; Jenny, Ava Crumpler; and Rose, Gaynelle Sauls.

Extras are: Sara Sue Bartlett; Eleanor Brown; Polly Edgerton; Ann Boyette; Edwina Hallman; Susan Gardner; Sara Jane Pate; and Anna Frank Strosnider.

The junior contest play, "Gold Is Where You Don't Find It," is about a prospector and his donkey who are in search for gold. This is a new type of play called a cartoon-comedy.

The characters are: Old Ben, Dan Bernstein; front end, Ned Champion; rear end, Carl Casey.

"Mountain Laurel," the original play, is about a married couple who try to give a returned soldier something to live for. The characters in this play are: Ann, Margie Perry; Sara, Catherine Robinson; Lee, Robert Andrews; and David, Billy Ray.

Last year at Chapel Hill the Goldmasquers won several contests: theater art; set design; costume design; make-up; and junior and senior contest plays.

All other knowledge is hurtful to him who has not the science of honesty and good nature.

One of the Chi Pi players, between two of the plays at the GHS dramatic festival, was describing a recent trip on an airplane.

"Flying on a big plane doesn't make a bit of difference to me," she declared; "I faint just as fast as on the small ones."

Home Ec. Club Takes Pond Project

The girls of the Home Ec. club voted at a recent meeting to take the fish pond at the West end of the building as a project for beautification.

Gilda Vann gave a report on the various kinds of roses and the girls decided to set rosebushes on the School grounds.

Recently the outgoing and incoming executive boards of the Wayne County Chapter of the Future Homemakers of America Club met in Goldsboro High School to decide upon a date for and practice the installations of new officers into the club.

The board was served refreshments by the Goldsboro Chapter of the club. Thirty one students and advisors attended.

At the candlelight service in the Mount Olive High School all new officers of the Wayne County Chapter of Goldsboro High School was made secretary of the club for the year 46-47.

Later in Goldsboro new members of the Goldsboro branch were initiated.

Red Cross Committee Lists Work

The Cross Committee of Goldsboro High School has sponsored the following activities this year.

(1) A membership drive, stressing 100 per cent participation.

(2) A sophomore home economics class made a nutrition survey in the 4th and 5th grades in William Street School.

(3) Another home economics class made soft toys for children.

(4) Each homeroom filled gift boxes to be sent to other countries.

(5) Mr. Barden's classes made much needed articles for the hospital—ash-trays, lap-boards, walking canes, etc.

Sally Hood is chairman of the Red Cross Committee and Miss Miriam Koch is advisor to the committee.

The recent dramatic festival of GHS is the occasion for the production of this oldie:

There is a movie critic who written an occasional movie scenario, which some studio has purchased but never used.

This critic was golfing with is B. Mayer, Darryl Zanuck, Harry Warner. During the the critic cooed to Mr. Mayer:

"Louis, I've just written a scenario. I'd like you to read it. Mayer yelled to Warner: "ry! It's your turn to buy it." Zanuck fell right down vulsions.

Easter Holidays

Easter Holiday in GHS will be observed from April 19th, "Good Friday" until April 22nd, "Easter Monday."
