Young People Form New Club

A new club for the young people of Goldsboro has been started by Al Paley, the new director of the Wayne County Community Building.

In the past two months the club has met, elected its officers, obtained a meeting room in the Community Building, had three big dances, opened the snack bar, and had music for dancing every Saturday night, and formed a compact club.

Five or six students of GHS got together with Mr. Paley and made plans for the first dance which was a legendary Sadie Hawkins Dance. The idea came from the Li'l Abner comic strip. All girls asked boys for dates and provided the transportation to and from the dance. Prizes were awarded for the best dressed boy and girl and "Lena the Hyena" was crowned. It was a very successful dance and the club was off with a very promising start.

The last football game of the season was celebrated by a big Homecoming Dance, also sponsored by this new club. The club wanted more members so they had an Election Dance. As patrons came to the dance they paid one dollar tuition fee, voted for their officers, then went on in the dance. Anyone wishing to join now must submit his name to the club, where they are discussed and voted on. If they are passed, they may join. So far, no one has been rejected.

Every Saturday night when there isn't a big celebration by a dance, the Snack Bar will be open to all who wish to come in for a coke and dance.

Seniors Meet With DKG Group Here

Members of the senior class were guests at a meeting of the Delta Kappa Gamma, an honorary teachers' society, held December 5, in the Education Building of the St. Paul Methodist Church.

Rev. John C. Grainger, Episcopal minister, was introduced by Miss Mary Moore, program chairman. Mr. Grainger spoke on his "Experiences in Germany."

Refreshments were served buffet style, after his talk. Mr. C. W. Twiford and Miss Cooper poured tea.

The Christmas theme was carried out in decorations. Mrs. Twiford presided over the meeting.

Sociology Classes Study Religions

Miss Carolyn Langston's sociology classes which are made up entirely of seniors, are now taking a unit in religion.

To keep the students from having a feeling of prejudice toward protestant ministers, the Catholic Priest and the Jewish Rabbi are being asked to talk to the groups. Each minister is telling something about the history and beliefs of his church. All these talks are completely factual. There are no sermons.

The ministers speaking to the classes are: Rev. Leon Russell, Methodist; Rev. James M. McClesney, Presbyterian; Rev. Charles W. Riggs, Christian; Rev. Alfred J. Smith, Baptist; Rev. John C. Grainger, Episcopal; Rev. Rashie Kennedy, Free Will Baptist; Captain Charles Sams, Salvation Army; Rabbi Joseph Weiss, Jewish Synagogue; Father Hyland, Catholic; Dr. Wm. Howard Carter, Tabernacle; Rev. Elbert D. Newlin, Friends; Rev. C. H. Deans, Church of God; Seventh Day Adventist; and Christian Scientist.

Homemakers Have Party

The Future Homemakers of America Club held their Christmas party on Monday, December 16. The program consisted mainly of instruction in dancing.

Each girl brought either money or some canned goods to be given to a needy family in Goldsboro at Christmas.

"El Ranchero" Is Social Theme

"El Ranchero," the first SA social of the year, was held in the William Street School Gym November 22 with a large number of the students and faculty attending.

The gym was gaily decorated in a Spanish theme. Posters decorated the walls and tables.

A short intermission was held during which a floor show was given by the first year Spanish class.

Christmas Play to Be Presented By Seniors

School Band Members Attend Meet

Nine members of the high school band attended a Shriners' convention at Wilmington, Thursday, November 21, to participate in the Shriners' parade.

Herman Joseph, a clown, who spent 24 of his 34 circus years with Ringling Bros. Circus, led the band. All the band members were dressed as clowns.

Film Library Is Started For Schools

"The Bethlehem Road," a Christmas play written by M. A. Hubbard, will be presented by the Goldsboro schools.

The story is typical of the time of Herod, and is woven against the background of the Nativity. Miriam, whose father is about to be executed by Herod, goes to the palace to intercede for him. Herod agrees to free the father if Miriam will remain with him. A dancer of the court hears of the plot and sends Miriam and her companion away, bringing the wrath of Herod upon herself. Down the road to Bethlehem they go, where they meet Miriam's father and mother. There they encounter the Shepherds and the Wise Men, and the glory of the Nativity bursts upon them.

HOLIDAYS

Christmas holidays will begin this afternoon at 3:30, and will end January 6, 1947. No students were excused from school to work as in some previous years, except the regular D. E. students.

Duo-Pianists Give Concert

Juniors Hold Devotional In Chapel

At a meeting of the junior class held in the GHS auditorium on November 21, the class decided to take some of the class' money to help improve something in school.

The money to be used is some of that taken from the junior class' magazine drive. A committee was named to decide what the class should do.

Mr. Clifton Britton discussed with the class the possibility of having a junior play.

Watches were then presented by Miss Janie Ippock to Janie Bartlett and Polly Edgerton, winners of the prizes in the magazine drive.

The seating arrangement in the auditorium was discussed. It was found that most of the class wished to change their upstairs seats to those downstairs.

The meeting was presided over by Miller Eason, president of the junior class.

Local Pastor Speaks Here

"Thanksgiving" was the theme of the talk given by Rev. Leon Russell, of the Methodist Church, at the SA Thanksgiving devotional held in the GHS auditorium on November 27.

Mr. Russell brought out the fact that war has caused many people in other lands to be hungry, and that we should be grateful for what we have here in America. He also spoke about the first Thanksgiving, and the struggles of the Pilgrims then. Mr. Russell closed his talk with the statement that Thanksgiving should not be a day, but an attitude to always remain with us.

During the service the student body sang "Thanksgiving Prayer" and "America the Beautiful." Margie Pate sang "The Lord's Prayer," and the Glee Club gave a selection. (Continued on Page 6)

Seniors Hear Nurse Speak

Mrs. Earl Futrelle, a local registered nurse, spoke on the nursing profession to an assembly of senior girls in the library on November 18.

In her talk Mrs. Futrelle spoke of the various nursing schools, entrance requirements, phases of nursing, and social life while in training.

One point she stressed was the qualifications needed to enter a school of nursing. A girl or boy must be a high school graduate, at least seventeen and a half years of age, and must have units in certain required subjects. Some of these subjects are English, history, and chemistry. Each school of nursing has different requirements.

Another point was the urgent need to apply to the school of his choice at an early date. A student may train at a hospital or go to (Continued on Page 6)

Arthur Whiteman and Jack Lowe, duo-pianists, presented the first concert of the year, sponsored by the Community Concert Association, at the Goldsboro High School Auditorium on November 19.

Rev. A. J. Smith, president of the Concert Association, welcomed those attending the concert on behalf of the Association.

The selection played by the duo-pianists were: Group I: Overture to "Alexander's Feast," by George Frederick Handel, "Sinata in E-flat Major" by J. S. Bach, and Coronation Scene from "Boris Godunov" by Modest Morresorsky; Group II: "Two Pictures of War (1915)" by Alfredi Casella; "Tour Waltzes" by Johannes Brahms; and "Roumanian Rhapsody No. 1" by George Enesco.

Following the intermission the pianists continued with Group III: "Selections" Musical Comedy, "Clair de Lune" by Claude Debussy; and "Guaracha" by Morton Gould; Group IV: Triana, from "Iberia" by Isaac Albeniz; "March" by Sergie Prokofieff; "Pastorale" by Ivor Stravinsky, and "Bolero" by Maurice Ravel.

The pianists were well received and gave several encores. GHS marshals were on duty for the occasion.

Junior Class Has Devotional

The junior class of Goldsboro High Schools had their monthly devotional Wednesday, December 4.

Since this was the last devotional before the Christmas holidays, it was devoted to Christmas readings and singing of carols.

The readings were given by Erline Griffin, vicepresident of the class. Eloise Balkom sang a solo, "Oh Holy Night."

Mr. Grainger Speaks To Freshmen

Rev. John C. Grainger, Rector of St. Stephens Episcopal Church of Goldsboro, spoke to the freshmen recently in their first devotional of the year.

Mr. Grainger spoke on "Friendship" and the "Influence GI's are Exerting on Youth in Other Countries."

The program was opened by the group singing "In the Garden." Paul Pittman, vice-president of the class, introduced the speaker.

A closing prayer was given by Mr. Grainger, after which Peggy Ann Britt, president of the class, thanked him.

Libby Lou Stuart was accompanist.
