Feature Story Causes Worries

by Dana James Gulley
2:10—11—12—12½—

Fourth period was almost over, and since I hadn't written a feature, I thought that I had better make an attempt at writing one. What could I write about? Objects — songs — love affairs — books? None of them were what I needed. The weather wouldn't do either; neither could I talk about the teachers. (Who wants to fail?)

It's so hot and I'm very tired of thinking. I believe I'll . . . just . . . go . . . to . . . sl . . . RING.

What Summer Plans Have You?

by Dana James Gulley

Hi! What are you going to do this summer? Are you going to the beach or the mountains, New York or Florida, uptown or stay home? Your main object during the next three months to have fun, and lots of it.

Personally, I prefer the beach—sun, wind, and water— and sun-burn, red as fire, and the mountains, cool breezes and dizzy heights. Take one and then the other and you'll have variety, as well as a wonderful time!
