

'As We Wuz . . . ' Senior Class Day Program Planned

Above are two pictures of G.H.S. students. You can see these two together a lot around school. Who do you think they are?
Those pictured in the last issue were Barbara Keith and Jesse Ray Mitchell.

Style Wiles

By REBA MILLER

And do I see red!
Red hair, I mean.
Moonsheen and double-strength peroxide have really transformed some of the boys' hair on the G.H.S. campus.
All their trouble hasn't been in vain, either. At present the whole school is contemplating esriously, or otherwise, becoming blonds or red-heads; depending on the chemicals.
This rage has reached the girls, too. Many of them have a nice blond streak across the front of their hair. Not many of them have attempted to become whole-blonds, though.
Cotton dresses, short sleeved blouses, and low-cut shoes are coming on parade with the warm weather apparently here to stay for awhile.
Boys are reaching for their ever-popular T-shirts and cotton sport shirts. A few of them are sporting shirts made of twenty-one different colors and shades. Oh, my aching eyes
If the weather continues as it is today, I'll see you in Morehead! Bye, now.

The tentative theme for the morning program for the annual Senior Class Day is "The Vision of Sir Launfal" by James Russell Lowell. The program will be held May 30.
The four classes will assemble in their separate circles around the flag pole, each carrying a chain of greenery.
Then there will be a short speech by the Senior president, Conrad Spencer.
The program will end with the four classes singing their farewell songs.
On the afternoon of May 30, all the seniors will picnic at Tuscarora and if it's hot weather, they might take a swim. That night they will be honored by Paramount Theater at a show.

Seniors React To Graduation

Upon asking these seniors what they think of the fact that they are graduating, they replied with the following answers:
Nan Barnes: Ho does — when'd you git in.
Reba Miller: It's been a long, long time.
Mary Lou Roberts: Do you really mean it????
Bobby Williams: It'll be a wonderful experience—if I graduate!
Joyce Britt: I'm going on a long vacation after the big moment.
Bill Sills: I'm going to just love the Navy.
Arden Newbould: Can't wait.
Neil King: I ain't particular happy to see it—I have spoken.
Steve Jeffress: I don't even think.
Jean Connor: I can't believe it.
Edith Long: I'm going to celebrate to the fullest extent.
Janis Jernigan: Can't say yet—haven't received that diploma.
Jessie Ray Mitchell: Goodie, Goodie, Gum Drops.

Hold Weiner Roast

Miss Emily Teague's fifth period Family Relations class held a weiner roast at the Goldsboro Municipal Golf Course on April 14.
Each pupil donated forty cents in order to have enough money for the affair. Guests were asked by the members of the class.
About 16 people attended.

Seniors Have Left Out Feeling As Year Closes

(By Sara Thompson)

Seniors, have you had that "left out" feeling in the previous weeks? Seeing the present juniors elected to take the reins of the S.A., the underclassmen out for spring football practice, the new cheerleaders, the election of class officers, the filling out of subject elective cards, has really left the seniors "out in the cold".
It's a funny feeling, too, just to think, something that we've taken for granted these past years, of always "having to come back to school next year" is ending at last.

Future Uncertain

Some of us aren't sure where we'll be or what we'll be doing next September, but we'll always have those wonderful memories of our high school days.
Never will we forget our freshman year, when everybody looked so "at home" here in this big building, and we felt so unimportant and insignificant.
But things began to get better when we entered as sophomores. Why, it actually made us feel more important to take Biology. (Let's think of some of the more pleasant things.) Yes, we were proud, too, of our boys on the athletic teams, and the girls were busy on committees. We really began to be a part of this busy activity at G.H.S.

Juniors Help Seniors

The best is yet to come. As juniors, we sorta helped the seniors run the school, but of course, they never admitted it. We worked our fingers to the bone, giving the seniors an original and entertaining Junior-Senior, and we'll never forget that, believe me.

Now, as sophisticated seniors, (the freshman's ideal) we are preparing to leave dear ole G.H.S. (or make a "break" is the term used by some students). We've had four busy, educational, and fun-filled years, and when we leave we are taking our memories with us and leaving you behind to feel the same as we do now.

On Students' Blindness

(With due apologies to John Milton)

This was found in a copy of an old Hi News:
When I consider how my life is spent,
Ere half my days in this dark school and wide,
And that one subject which is death to describe
Failing me sadly, though my time is lent
To serve there with my teachers, and consent
To their desires, lest they return- ing chide—
"Do they require day-labor, sleep denied?"
I wonderingly inquire — but conscious, to prevent that
Question, soon replied, "They do not need
Either your work, or your attention; who studies
With ambition, they succeed in life. Knowledge is kingly; thousands from its portals speed
And long for lost opportunities with regret;
They who strive to learn shall be rewarded."
