

Home Economics Classes Conduct A Kindergarten

The Home Economics classes under the direction of Miss Emily Teague conducted a kindergarten April 23-28.

The activities of the children, who ranged in ages from 3 to 5 years, included field trips, movies, and various phases of painting and coloring.

The kindergarten was held as a project in child care. To receive a credit for home economics, a class must study child care. Each girl was required to observe the children for two hours during the week.

Those who attended were: Zeke Morgan, Beverly Ann Causey, Sandy Best, Terry Smith, Betsy Ward, Carol Zealey, Weldon Jeffrey, Sissie Ward, Anne Porterfield, Millie Lewis, and Molly and Suzie Spicer.

(By Betty Daughety)

Have you ever had an opossum in your classroom? Well, it seems that Miss Eleanor Simpson has.

When she entered her class room she saw that her waste basket had been turned upside down. As you can find anything nowadays in the classrooms, it came as no surprise to find this.

But when she was in the act of straightening the basket an ugly opossum jumped out and then a lot of jumping was going on. Miss Simpson landed on her desk and a few of the girls climbed on chairs and carried on a dance until the animal was caught.

What a dance it was no one will ever know.

How the opossum was trapped under the basket and how it got into the room may never be revealed, but it couldn't have gotten there by itself and students would never play a trick on a teacher—or would they?

Students See Color Movie

"Arabian Nights", a movie in technicolor, was shown to the student body on April 27.

The movie was the second full length feature to be shown this year. Money for the movie was appropriated by the Student Council.

After the movie, Principal C. W. Twiford dismissed the students so that they could attend either the tennis match between G.H.S. and University of North Carolina Freshmen or the baseball game between the Earthquakes and Durham High School.

State Degrees Awarded Three FHA Students

State degrees were awarded to three Goldsboro girls, Hilda Toler, Colleen Cooper and Hilda Westbrook, who attended the FHA State convention in High Point April 21.

Goldsboro had eight delegates attending the meeting and they left a day earlier as they had been invited to Woman's College in Greensboro along with the delegates from Pikeville to spend the night. They were: Ruby Handley, Joyce Jones, Barbara Godwin, Betty Daughety, Pearlina Ennis, Hilda Westbrook, Hilda Toler and Colleen Cooper.

While at WC the girls visited the new Home Economics Department which as of then had not been opened, and they also visited the new library.

The delegates were invited to attend a wiener roast which was held by Bailey Hall where they were also guests for the night.

Saturday morning they traveled to High Point and the meeting started at 10:30 o'clock and continued through three o'clock. The welcome was given by the president, Nancy Holloway, of the High Point chapter.

The program consisted of a short play, acrobatic dancing, a panel discussion and solos.

There was also the event of installing the new officers and advisors.

Feather Weight Gem Razor which is being sold nationally in a 98-cent set. This offer is being advertised in the pages of your Scholastic Roto.

See Your Roto Razor Bargain

Razors have been unearthed dating back from the late Stone Age, and way back in 3400 B. C., the Egyptians were the first people to popularize shaving. As far back as 1760 an unknown Frenchman invented a safety razor.

While shaving has been the thing to do for a long, long time, the razor art can be a rugged experience for the new shaver. Usually, because it isn't necessary to shave more than a couple of times a week, he resorts to using one of his father's hand-me-down razors, and doesn't understand how to get a good close shave.

From the very beginning, a fellow should have a good razor of his own. By getting the "feel" of one particular razor, he can develop his shaving technique—and enjoy a consistently fine shave.

For the first time, a nationally known manufacturer is giving real consideration to the new shaver. In an unprecedented offer, Gem is making it possible for the high school fellow to obtain a fine razor practically as a gift. It's the new

MORE POWER TO YOU!

Today, new production miracles are in the making. The electric companies have doubled the amount of electricity available before the last war. And they're still stepping up the pace.

Your Carolina Power & Light Company is planning to add a 100,000 horse power unit in June, known as the new Goldsboro Electric Steam Generating Plant, located at Quaker Neck. This plant will go into service supplying the needs in this area and other sections of our state. This is a part of our building program—it means more power for you!
