

thirteen judges are chairmen of the housekeeping committees in the various home rooms. Under the guidance of Miss Lockhart the committee will grade each room twice a month, after making an inspection tour at an unannounced time.

A certain number of points will be given for proper ventilation, flowers, arrangement of pictures, appearance of shades, bulletin boards, floor, teacher's desk, cabinet, closet and pupils' desks.

BOOK WEEK OBSERVED

The week of November 13-17 is being nationally observed as Book Week. The general theme for this year is "Reading for Fun". In Albemarle High School we wish each student to become "book conscious", to develop a lasting interest in books, to realize the power, the knowledge, the information, and most important, the pleasure derived from reading books. Posters, book reviews, book games and contests are being used to develop a greater and more enduring book interest among the pupils.

THE HOUSE OF THE FLASHING LIGHT

The lights go out! A shot is heard! Slowly the curtain is drawn on a living room scene lighted by only four candles. Then the play is on.

Such is the beginning of the three-act mystery play, "The House of the Flashing Light", directed by Miss Elizabeth Scarborough, and sponsored by the Parent Teacher Association for presentation in the high school auditorium Friday evening, November 22. The cast includes Lois Crump, Virginia Boger, Ralph Robinette, James Brown, Wilhelmina Ebird, Katherine Palmer, Fred Moore, Max Copley, Woodrow Almond, Rebecca Auten and Dora Gene Martin.

The admission will be 15¢ for all school children and 25¢ for adults. Don't miss this play!
