

WHO'S WHO

SARA DOBY

THOMAS HATLEY

Having one of the highest scholastic records in the graduating class, Sara Doby is naturally an outstanding student. She is known for her genial disposition and studious habits.

Sara is president of the business section of the Journalistic club and business manager of the Full Moon. "I think movies are swell," Sara laughs, "especially if Betty Grable or Robert Young is in them." She reads a great deal and rates L. M. Montgomery as her favorite author. Too, she dances, plays tennis and likes baseball. As for food, try keeping her away from cream puffs!

Next year Sara plans to attend W. C. U. N. C., where she will study to become a sociology teacher. (Incidentally we think she might go to Hollywood and double for Martha Rayle!)

EXCERPTS FROM SOPH'S DIARIES

Actually got a smile from Tommy today. It scared me so I couldn't smile back. . . . Charles spoke to me in the hall—and a very nice smile. Charles for me from now on. . . . Saw Betty Morton today. . . . To the tennis court as usual—wish I could play real good so I could make a hit with Jimmy like Rose does. Kelly. . . . I was running for a tennis ball and fell down flat and who should be watching but Burton H. . . . Saw "Crack" at lunch—he wrote another cute poem for me. He must be a genius! . . . Girls go around saying, "Imelda likes Jacob!" . . . At last I have succeeded in getting Reed away from J. L.—he's got "umph." . . . Went to show with Martha, "Bea," Knets walked home with Martha and me. "Mat" got mad at me because I wouldn't walk fast. (Didn't kiss her good-night.) Went home broken-hearted.

Jewel, Marlene, Mildred and I went to ride with Bob, Merling, and Abe today. . . . Went to the show. Saw Jimmy and "Luffy" but still missed Bill. . . . Just can't succeed in making Reed like me. Today in Latin he stayed toward the back of the room all day. (I sit in the front.) . . . Worra, Worra—no talk to me. . . . Reed's, Tommy's, and Bailey's pictures are in my locker. Jack Bailey is the cutest. . . . Jerry's cute. I'm going to smile at him every day in English. . . . I like my seat in Latin, 'cause it's right behind Charles. Do you suppose he would ever fall for poor little Tommy R. just would not like him, too. . . . Glenn comes by my locker almost every period with me. . . . Hope the S. S. club starts up again, but Sara and Betsy seem too busy with John and Kelly right now. . . . Had a swell time dating Lois. Bob and Margaret are getting along fine too.

The new president of the eleventh grade—that's Tom Hatley, dependable, good-natured, and technical minded. Last year he was president of the junior class. He is the council representative and former president of his homeroom, 11-1.

Tom's favorite movie stars are Mickey Rooney and Paul Muni. "But I like Spencer Tracy, too," he adds. Since he is a "whiz" at mathematics, naturally that is his favorite subject. In sports, Tom chooses baseball, football, and swimming. When asked about food, "Aw, I take anything to eat," he grinned.

Thomas is president of the Sound club and can usually be found tinkering with radios. He wants to attend a school of technology to study electrical engineering after graduation next year.

Bookkeeping Class Has Budget Project

By Geraldine Crisco.

"Eat, drink and be merry" seems to be the motto of the bookkeeping class. A recent project on daily expenditures revealed the startling fact that the boys in this group spend an average of $4.41 per person for recreation, while the girls spend $5.37 per person. The total spent for recreation was $47.34, the fifteen girls spending $25.30, and the five boys, $22.04.

A close check-up on all forms showed the amounts spent on clothes, school supplies, church, and recreation.

Commenting on the project, Mr. Copat, commercial teacher, said, "On the whole the girls did harder, neater, more accurate work than the boys."

A first practice set, scheduled for the first of April, will include the use of regular business forms such as invoices, notes, bills, club books, pass books and cash books.

Home Ec Students Study Child Care

The second year home economics class is so interested in the study of child care that they have chosen for their special project the making of baby clothes. Some are making them for a special child, while others are making them because they are interested in the work.

Many books on child care have been brought from the Stanly county library, and with those in the department, the girls are finding many interesting articles to read on this subject.

SOCIETY

Teams Have Picnic

Members of the boys' and girls' basketball teams were entertained at a weiner roast on Morrow Mountain, March 14.

After weiners, slaw, and pickles were served, the boys and girls enjoyed dancing and singing.

Crowells Entertain At Buffet Supper

At their home on Pee Dee avenue, Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Crowell recently entertained the faculty at a buffet supper. Delicious barbecue, slaw, sandwiches, pickles, and coffee were served to about twenty-five guests.

Arnold Visits School

Mr. George Arnold, principal of Hugh Morson High, Raleigh, former principal of Albemarle High, with a delegation from his school, recently made an inspection of the building and grounds, and asked for a demonstration of the new sound system.

Miss Watson: "What gifts did the Magi take to the Christ child?" John Kennedy: "Gold, Frankenstein and mirth."
