Investigator Webb Uncovers Ex-Football Players' Theft

In a recent check-up at A.H.S. several important crimes were uncovered, according to H. T. Webb, special investigator for N.C.E.A.

The surprising fact that these major offenses were committed by well known members of A.H.S.'s varsity football team, which was undefeated and untied for three seasons, shocked the faculty and students beyond words.

Webb's investigation disclosed the removal of some valuable equipment from the science department. These major offenses were finally pinned on "Butch" Boyett and "Muscles" Lowder. The shrewd, hardened criminals used great ingenuity in smuggling this expensive apparatus out of the lab without Prof. Hatley's knowing it. Mr. Hatley couldn't explain how it happened.

He said, "I have good eyes and a working brain, but I guess these thugs learned some new techniques when they received their college diplomas."

These fugitives had removed the model steam engine, distillation apparatus (for whiskey purposes), venir caliper, and the new $1,000 oscilloscope that the science instructor had just received from the Duke school of engineering.

Prof. Hatley expressed his deep gratitude to agent Webb for discovering these thefts. Hatley's plea was: "I hope these fugitives are apprehended so my equipment can be returned. I never use the junk, but I like to see it sitting on the shelf. When people see these expensive machines they think I'm giving their children an education comparable to that of a college. This keeps them thinking that my classes do anything but loaf."

Campus Chatter

The "Lilly Whilters" entertained last Friday night at a cocktail part in the fabulous decorated ballroom of A.H.S.

Gaynelle Chandler, Jean and Jane Bullock, Martha Moore, and Carolyn Akers started the gala affair with a bubble dance under the direction of "Sling Shot" Almond.

After the presentation the six-hundred couples present enjoyed round dancing and "guzzling" beer. (Milk was served to those delicate seniors who couldn't stomach the "stuff".)

Bill Grigg and "Lib" Elder were there together, of course; and Jane "Fat" Smith came toddling in with Frank Efird, (we predict that they've started a "case".)

Ginger Helms and Frank Burrell's peroxidized red hair shone as they danced cheek-to-cheek under the chandelier donated to the school by the "Stanly Steamers". (These guys have certainly made the money by touring the country winning basketball games!)

Roy Holt, wearing his dunce cap, told jokes at intermission; but nobody caught on except Miss Lentz because they were all in French. (Thank goodness Sally Kluttz didn't!)

The "Melody Makers," a nationally advertised band, played for the event; and the proceeds will go to the Lucky Strike cigarette company who will furnish everyone at A.H.S. — that is, except the "Lilly Whilters" who have a strict rule against smoking — with two packs of cigarettes a day.

Everyone be sure to attend the stock car races which will be held on East Main street next Saturday night at seven o'clock. Chief Cain will decide upon the winner. Anyone wanting to enter see "Cob" Griffin.

After the fashion show last Wednesday night Mr. Mac hired Paula Howard and Norma Efird as life guards for the pool in the old gym. Who cares whether they can swim or not?

The "Sophomore Hop" was raided by the senior and junior girls when they found that the underclasswomen had stolen their men. Betty Lynn Crowell headed the casualty list with black eye given to her by Laetta Plyler when she caught a dancin' with her man, Harry Pawlik.

Mary Helen Cooper, Cora Mac, Barbara Brown, Martha Moore, and Barbara Setzler making final preparations entering the "nunnery" at W. U. N. C. next year by having their heads shaved.

Did you notice Madie and Sam Stamper's picture in "Life" week? By the way, which one does have the Toni?

After hearing of all "partying" that goes on at Carolina, Jimmy Helms, Dwight Crawford, Gene Laughter, and J. Lee mailed their applications to Harvard, where they will spend many hours in peaceful studying.

Did you know that instead of going to Winthrop as her parents expected, Ellene spent last weekend at Pfeiffer? What's the difference in the two schools, men, maybe?

Did you know that Bobbie Wilson has a ring with the initials M.M. inside? What ya say, M.M.?

Instead of chasing women, Patterson's running after balls lately; because Bill C. entered beat him in the race.

Lois Lowder. Too bad about Sara Fra Poplin being expelled from school. She was caught partying at Morton's during school hours — tch, tch. Best wishes at State, Sara.

Flash—Mrs. Fry just received the B.F.O.A. (Biggest Female America) award.
