

Spring Fashions Take Their Bow

The Easter Parade will officially begin Sunday morning at ten o'clock when the socialites of Albemarle will be stepping out in their best.

The pastel hues of ice blue, lime, and lilac will be worn, and navy solids and checks, dressed up with a big cluster of flowers ranging from big red roses to dainty white ones, will also be seen among the finery.

The quilted skirt topped off with a sleeveless blouse and a snug belt will be tops in this year's fashion parade. The gay combination of a sleeveless blouse and very full, gathered skirt is again holding its own. Many girls are wearing these cute outfits and it seems that even more will adopt this simple but adorable style.

Fashion has, as on many occasions, gone from one extreme to another. This year it has done so in the coat field. Toppers are ranging in color from creamy pastels to gay checks and plaids. One of the most popular ones is the short waist length type. It comes in various styles and materials, but the most popular seems to be the waist-hugging one fashioned of poodle cloth. Girls! They are precious! The old-fashioned duster is again taking its place near the head of the fashion parade. Many of these dusters are of linen trimmed with velvet and they look charming over a sheer dress.

The new paper taffeta will make someone a dreamy creation, but watch out!—don't get it too near a fire. Ever practical nylon is again being used to make dresses which always look fresh and chic.

Many of the dresses this year have lowcut necklines to assure coolness during your school hours and to provide that feminine look. They are made in many different styles to give you an air of individuality. One very different and also charming ensemble is a pale-hued dress with a short-sleeved cardigan of the same color. The lavender outfit is especially charming.

You can always tell a lady by her hands and in the gloves of

GOOD SALESMAN: Last week a widow came in to buy a suit of clothes to bury her husband in. Charles James sold her one with two pairs of pants.

INTERNAL REVENUE AGENT: Taxes Ranger.

LORDLY SENIOR: Last year I had only one fault — I was conceited. Now this year I don't even have that one.

LESLIE: What are those big things on your feet?
Doug: Snowshoes.

Leslie: You mean you're barefooted!

ONE FRIEND TO ANOTHER: "Will you tie my bow tie for me?"

"Why, I'll be glad to, but you'll have to lie across the bed."
"Why must I lie across the bed?"

"I'm an undertaker."

GOOD SLOGAN: Early to bed,
And early to rise,

To do otherwise.

MRS. LYKE: Buddy, name five things that contain milk.
Buddy: Butter, cheese, ice-cream, and two cows.

this season you can see them. Two of the most popular glove styles are the mesh ones made of string and the sheer nylon ones. Both styles come in white and pastels, so make your choice.

Since pastels are so much in evidence this year, it is easy to see why even shoes are bursting out in these gay spring colors. Shell shoes are popular again this year and they look equally cute for school and dating. Pastel loafers are also taking-over. They are sturdy but feminine and many girls are already sporting them.

Let's all put on our new bonnets and other finery and take our place in the Easter Parade. See ya around.

WHO'S WHO

JANE RUSSELL

DAVID PLOWMAN

After Jane Russell, our Who's Who of the month, told me very modestly that she hasn't held many offices in the school, I could hardly believe her. So, since my job as interviewer calls for it, I decided to find out for myself just what she has accomplished during her four year high school career. This is what my snooping uncovered.

Jane was elected homeroom officer for two years, and was secretary of the student body during her sophomore year. She was tapped into the honor society in the spring of the eleventh grade, and this in itself tells of the wonderful points included in her personality.

Jane's increasing popularity and friendliness were the two factors by which she was elected the managing editor of the Full Moon, chairman of the school Welcome committee, delegate to Mars Hill Music convention, and delegate to Honor Society convention.

In spite of her smallness in statue, Jane has a wonderful and more or less powerful voice. She has proved this by being in the Mixed Chorus for three years and being in the ninth grade operetta.

She just couldn't decide which movie stars are her favorites, but she finally picked Gregory Peck, Virginia Mayo, Tony Curtis and Janet Leigh.

Some lucky Junior College will have Jane walking down its David Plowman, a popular senior, has become known for his dependability in all things. His versatile interests and pleasing disposition make him an excellent contender for Who's Who.

David transferred from Norwood to begin his junior year at A. H. S. While attending Norwood high school he won the High School Art Contest for two years in the water color department in the natural scenery classification. Also, he was a member of the Beta club.

This popular and capable boy was elected treasurer of the student body last year and he has performed his many duties efficiently. David has the responsibility of keeping the student council's financial budget straight, and he has charge of all the money the Student Lounge accumulates during the week. Also he did excellent work on the Junior Program committee and the Junior-Senior Prom last year.

David has participated in many intramural sports including baseball and basketball. He enjoys watching all games, especially football, although he has never gone out for the team.

David enjoys eating (period). He has no favorite foods, but

Miss Harrison Wed In April Ceremony

Miss Catherine Harrison became the bride of the Rev. Charles E. Page on Saturday afternoon, April 5, at four o'clock in the Central Methodist church. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Ben F. Moore, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, and the Rev. Paul W. Townsend, pastor of Central Methodist church.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a ballerina length gown of white starched chiffon with a fitted bodice and a high neckline trimmed with Venice lace. The long sleeves ended in points over the hands. For her bridal bouquet Mrs. Page carried a white prayer book topped with a white orchid.

The bride was attended by her sisters as maid and matron of honor. They wore lavender ballerina length gowns and carried nosegays of mixed spring flowers.

The Rev. Ralph Taylor, former pastor of Central Methodist church, attended the bridegroom as best man.

April Bride Feted By Two Teachers

Mrs. Paul B. Fry and Mrs. Wallace Ivey entertained at a bridge party at the home of the latter Friday, March 21, honoring Miss Catherine Harrison, who became the bride of the Rev. Charles E. Page, April 5.

When the guests arrived, they were served a dessert course with nuts and coffee.

The honoree found her place marked with a corsage of violets and was presented with an honor gift of crystal in her chosen pattern.

Four small tables were used for the bridge session; and when scores were tallied, Miss Mary Edna Matheson was recipient of the high score prize. Mrs. Warren Coble received the bingo prize.

Decorations consisting of mixed spring flowers were placed throughout the room.

some say chicken gizzards top his list, eh—David?

Doris Day is his favorite type of actress, but as far as the actors are concerned he has no preference.

After graduation David intends to enter State Forestry School and then to establish his career along this line.
