

BULLDOG BARKS

ATHLETES OF THE MONTH

"Tub" Russell

One Athlete of the Month is the left fielder on the baseball team, Kenneth "Tub" Russell.

"Tub," as he is called by all of his friends, is a tall, likable, good looking senior who makes a habit of being friendly to everyone.

Boxing is another one of "Tub's" favorite sports, and he is one of the mainstays on the "Y" boxing team. Kenneth has also been active in all our intramural sports activities. He won the horseshoe pitch for the 11th grade last year.

Kenneth organized a boxing match for the benefit of the March of Dimes at the Y. M. C. A. this year and also boxed in it.

In addition to all this, "Tub" has taken part in most all sports, varsity and intramural, that AHS has.

Kenneth Hall

One of the outstanding athletes this month is Kenneth Hall, outfielder for this year's baseball team, which has a big task ahead of it in defending the South Piedmont Conference championship won last year by a team of experienced ball players.

Kenneth covers the field easily and quickly and is a good fielder. His throwing arm is strong and accurate. At the plate, he shows some weakness, but much promise.

Although baseball is his favorite sport, Ken participates in many other sports, though not on school varsities. In basketball, he played on a champion Senior Hi-Y team and on an intramural team that placed second. He also played on many other intramural teams.

Albemarle Baseball Team Drilling For Heavy Season

Albemarle high school's baseball team, defending South Piedmont conference, are working hard at their daily drills to prepare to defend their title.

Coach H. T. Webb insists that hitting will be the weakness. With only 3 players returning from last year's team, the Bulldogs face a tougher schedule, and power hitters haven't been found yet. Because of the hitting weakness the Bulldogs' ability should not be underestimated. Signs of promise are showing and may yet develop into a team to be reckoned with.

Returning from last year are Claude Lawhon, a junior who will play shortstop; Raygene Smith, a junior and only experienced pitcher; Ken Smith, a sophomore and a centerfielder. Ken appears to be one of the strongest hitters.

James Gibson, a left hander, is another pitching prospect. T.Boe McLendon is doing the backstopping now and he will see plenty of action. Jerry Traywick, the all-conference basketball player, is the first baseman. Jerry is also one of the stronger hitters. J. W. Foster, a sophomore, is looking good at second base. Larry Chance, a freshman and third baseman, is one of the defensive players. Donnie Smith, another freshman, is playing left field. Tub Russell, the only senior on the team, is playing left field. Tub also plays catcher.

Several of the reserves are displaying their skill, and some of them may break into the lineup before the season is over.

Tommy Poplin, a senior at AHS, has won a scholarship at Elon College on the basis of her grades and on the recommendation of Mr. Cashwell.

AHS Field Day To Be Held Soon

Field Day at A. H. S., an annual event, is scheduled this year for Friday, April 25. The Monogram Club is again sponsoring the big day in intramurals.

Rules will be as in former years. A student may be entered in three events only. Boys events are the softball throw, football kick, shotput throw, broad jump, high jump, three-legged race, 50 yard dash, sack race, 100 yard dash, potato race, 200 yard relay, 400 yard relay, and 200 yard boys and girls' relay. Events for the girls are fewer; they include high jump, broad jump, softball throw, three-legged race, 50 yard dash, sack race, potato race, rolling pin contest, and 200 yard relay.

All grades are urged to enter each event, for the greater the competition, the greater this year's Field Day will be.

and Bruce Lowder; lighting, Johnny Youngblood; sound technician, Joe Gaskin; business manager, Harold Smith; promoters, Kathryn Kimrey and Carrie Mae Russell; property mistress, Doris Rogers; make-up mistresses, Peggy Jo Lowder, Catherine Atkins, Janet Troutman, Carolyn Gaddy, and Doris Rogers; publicity chairman, Ginger Helms; posters, David Morrow, Kent Hall, Patsy Williford, Jean Barringer and Peggy Morris.

The ushers, who were elected by the senior class, were Nancy Austin, Peggy Morris, Janet Helms, Betty Davis, Betty Burris, Betty Lowder, Marlene Harrington and Jean Taylor.

An admission of thirty-five and seventy-five cents was charged for the performance and the proceeds will go for a gift to the school. This year the seniors voted on giving new stage scenery and fixing the footlights.

played by Emily Milton, Betty Brunson, and Patsy Williford, respectfully. These girls were attractive and vivacious, with one common interest—boys.

Joy, played by Tommie Poplin, was Maudie's teenage cousin, who was shy around boys until she started following Maudie's advice.

David Morrow, cast as Davy, was Maudie's pleasant and dependable boyfriend who got tired of being a guinea pig for her experiments in "technique with men."

Jerry, played by Kent Hall, was a sincere likable fellow in his early twenties. However, he was so busy getting ahead in business that he failed to realize how deeply he cared for Sylvia until Maudie woke him up to that fact.

Ted, played by Junior Josey, was Jerry's age, good-looking, but more sophisticated than Jerry.

Jimmy Brown, cast as Chi, was Davy's age, very handsome, and he knew it.

Margaret, the maid, was played by Catherine Atkins. However, she was considered more one of the family than a maid.

Mrs. Whit, Mrs. Allen, and Mrs. Day were the mothers of the three teenage girls, and they didn't care for Maudie's techniques. They were played by Kathryn Kimrey, Ann Daniel, and Jean Barringer respectively.

The production staff consisted of the following: student director, Ginger Helms; stage manager, Doug Knotts; assistant stage managers, Leslie Swanner
