

Devotions Held By Tri-Hi-Y Club

Devotions will be conducted in the auditorium from 8:05 to 8:30 each Thursday morning, it was decided at the last meeting of the Senior Tri-Hi-Y.

This was prompted by the success of the Thanksgiving devotions.

Speakers for the devotions were presented by members of the student body: Marie Clayton, J. C. Boone, and Larry Tucker.

Juniors Selling Pennants, Paper

"Anybody want to buy a pennant?" This is a familiar saying around high school now. Members of the Junior class have been busy selling pennants in order to raise money for the Junior-Senior prom they must stage this spring.

The pennants are royal blue with a big white Bulldog and the letters A.H.S.

Another project taken up by the class is selling stationery. Plans are also being made for the junior play which is to be presented later in the school year.

New Year's Resolutions

My name is Dotty Walker
Next year I won't be such a talker!
If this one thing, Santa doesn't bring,
I resolve to have a wedding ring. —Miss Bankett.

I promise to be true to my "T"
Wouldn't you, if you were me? —Judy Whitley.

To grow some more so I'll be tall,
This is the resolution of Lydia Hall.

I promise to be good to my Keith
So '53 will bring him no grief! —Ellen Palmer.

Not buy so many sweaters
And to write Howard "odds" of letters. —Kathryn Grove.

To make the Crossroads of '53
The best one the students will ever see. —The Annual Staff.

To have to myself Richard Jordan
Even if jealous girls do call it hoardin'. —Betty Gantt.

I love my students, I'm Mrs. Fry,
But, give up my ferns? I'd rather die!

And when we are told the deadline is here
We will be ready to meet it without any fear. —Full Moon Class.

The upperclassmen boys, I vow,
To leave alone, starting now! —Linda Moose.

To teach my students and please their mothers
Leaving my comic books to others. —Mr. Robinette.

No more classes will I cut
And I promise to keep my big mouth shut. —Gene Snuggs.

Of Rita Hayworth and Marilyn Monroe
I promise this year I will talk no mo'. —Robert Shaver.

To make more A's and a few more B's
A couple of C's, but certainly no E's. —The Students of AHS.

At no one but Johnny will I look
This is the promise of Ellen Cook.

Christmas is coming to bring Sid home
And then I promise, no more will he roam. —Carolyn Miller.

To stay out all night on New Year's Eve
It comes so seldom and then it takes leave. —All the Party Lovers.

To all our students we do implore
Please, study your books some more! —The Teachers.

Into your heads—so hard and so thick
I resolve a little French to stick! —Mrs. Deese to French II.
