Girls Win Awards In Shorthand Test

Several students in shorthand have recently passed a test that entitles them to receive awards.

The people who passed the O.G.A. are Patsy Aldridge, Betty Boone, Sandra Lentz, Toby Furr, Yvonne Hathcock, and Vanonda Crisco.

Johnsie Baldwin, Sylvia Rogers, Ruth Morris, Vanonda Crisco, Shirley Morton, Myra Melton, Irene Eudy, and Judy Scaggs have accomplished the three minute, 60 words.

Johnsie Baldwin, Sue Furr, Carolyn Helms, Sylvia Rogers, Janice Parker, Frances Ross, Sue Whitley, and Frances Regan have achieved the five minute, 60 words.

The five minute, 80 word was passed by Ruth Morris, Johnsie Baldwin, Sylvia Rogers, and Sue Whitley.

Four different kinds of tests have been taken. The first one is the Order of Gregg Artist. To pass it one must write correctly in shorthand material that has been printed. The remaining three tests are the same but taken at different speeds. For example, to pass the three minute, 60 word test the student must take dictation for three minutes at 60 words a minute and then transcribe it correctly. The same thing goes for the five minute, 60, and the five minute, 80.

Teachers Publish "Give and Take"

The spring issue of "Give and Take", a magazine published twice a year by the Albemarle city schools, has just come off the press.

This magazine is for the use of all teachers in the city school system. It will be sent to other schools in exchange for similar magazines which they publish, thus permitting an exchange of ideas and experiences.

The staff of "Give and Take" is composed of an advisory committee and a reporting committee. Mr. Claud Grigg, Mr. Douglas R. Jones, Mr. J. W. Swaringen, Mr. "Pete" Clark, and Mrs. J. L. Cashwell form the advisory committee. The reporters are Mrs. Lillian Taylor, West Albemarle school; Mrs. Gelia Talbert, East Albemarle school; Mrs. Ethel Earnhardt, North Albemarle school; Mrs. Mary Allen Sikes, Central Elementary school; Mrs. Addie Hayes, Albemarle High School; and Mrs. Vivian Christian, Kingville Union School. Miss Blanche King is the coordinator of the Albemarle APSS program.

are taking their cars. A program has been planned for the entire day that Saturday.

Several of the girls are looking forward to receiving their pins, which have been ordered recently.
