

Club Starts Point System

Business was the main point of the Bible Club meeting Wednesday, September 21. It was decided to order a pin for each member. The pin will be blue with A. H. S. Bible Club printed at the top and a red cross in the middle.

A point system was voted on and accepted. Each member must have eight points each month, and if not, he will be suspended for one month and then he must pay his dues again. The club has four meetings each month and the presence at each meeting counts two points; therefore it is easy to stay in the club. There are many other means for making points such as bringing a visitor or new member, being an officer, or taking part in a program. At the end of the first semester, the member with the most points will receive an award. The point system is to get members to work more and to obtain a greater interest in the club.

Prayer meetings will be held again this year each Thursday at 8:00 o'clock before school in Miss Abrahamsen's room. This is a meeting held to pray for others and for starting the day off right.

Since it was so effective last year, the Bible Club was encouraged by the teachers to write devotions for the homeroom again. These will be sent to the homerooms for the devotions on Mondays. Also, a program will be held over the loud speaker once a month.

A new project will be to place a big card with a prayer on it in the cafeteria where the students can see it as they enter. This is to remind them to be thankful for their food.

The Bible Club will have another assembly program this year. It will be comical and serious. Everyone enjoyed last year's program and the members hope that this year's program will be enjoyed as well.

Mary: "Let's eat up the street."
Jane: "Naw I hate asphalt."

Bible Club Starts Year's Activities

Starting the year off early, the Bible Club has already been organized and held two regular meetings, one each Wednesday, in the A. H. S. library.

"The Bored King and the Bandit" was a play given by several members of the club at its first meeting of the year, Wednesday, September 14. Those who participated in the play were Gene Burris, the bored king; Patricia Starnes, beautiful princess; Wayne McSwain, notorious bandit; Kitty Almond, a slave; Martha Huckabee, faithful steward; and Peggy Smith, chamberlain.

After the comical part of the program, Gene Burris gave a serious talk on "What Can the Bible Club Do for Me?", telling the things in store for the members during the year and explaining them to the new ones.

To lead the club through the first semester are Vivian Smith, president; Sue Winn, vice president; Ann Stone, secretary; and Libby Hatley, treasurer. Miss Jean Abrahamsen, the Bible teacher, will advise the club.

Songbirds Elect Year's Officers

Songbirds of the freshman class have gotten underway with the election of officers to lead their Ninth Grade Chorus for the coming year.

The offices will be filled by Roger Smith, president; Sherrill Williams, Nancy Jo Ivester, vice presidents; Jo Parks, secretary; and Harold Kimery, boys' treasurer, and Shelly Thomas girls' treasurer. Jo Parks, Ann Smith, Josh Morton, and Richard Kimery will serve as accompanists for the group.

Topics For Study Go to Homerooms

Guidance books were distributed to all homerooms by Miss Abrahamsen, who is in charge of the guidance program this year and for the next five weeks each homeroom will study these books on Wednesday.

The topics being studied are: seniors, Looking Ahead to Marriage; juniors, Understanding Yourself; sophomores, Streamline Your Reading; and freshmen, What Good Is High School?

Science Classes Display Exhibits

The Science Department of Albemarle High School, under the direction of Mr. R. C. Hatley, had one of the displays in the exhibit hall of the Stanly County Fair, which was held during the week of September 19-24. Featured in the display were the outstanding projects of previous years.

Barbara Holt's doll display with Skipper Gantt's jet engine proved to be the main eye-catchers. Posters done by the General Science Class made the background for the display, with Rita Morris' poster being the most outstanding. Also a series of pulleys by the general science classes proved to be very interesting for the mechanically minded.

The physics class contributed several machines, with a series of bells done by Joan Melton of last year. The piano, which works on the principle of electric door bells, was one of the elaborate contributions to the exhibit.

Several quotations from prominent scientists topped the display, which was termed "fully successful" by Mr. Hatley.

Rings Ordered By Junior Class

Voting for the color and style of ring to order was done by the Junior Class at a recent meeting in the auditorium.

The class decided on a plain ruby stone with the traditional bulldog and high school building imprinted on the sides of the ring. The approximate cost of this keepsake will be $18.75. The juniors hope to receive them before Christmas.
