Here And There

IN CHEMISTRY CLASS Mr. Hatley asked Rat Lisk the answer to question number six.

"That's the only one I don't know," Rat replied.

"Well, tell us the answer to number seven," Mr. Hatley persisted.

"Er . . . er . . ." Rat stammered, "I don't know that one either."

"PLEASE DON'T PUT up that window," Mrs. Fry begged Wayne Spivey. "It sticks and I have to swing and swing on it and even then it won't come down."

"Do you come down when they throw you peanuts?" John Wayne Napier wanted to know.

MARVIN MORTON CAME out of fifth period class dying from laughter and bumped into Cread McManus.

"What in the world is so funny?" Cread questioned.

"I was telling myself jokes and ran across one I'd never heard before," Marvin told him.

IN FRENCH CLASS Edshay Brunson was bragging about making a hundred on the last two tests.

"How'd you manage?" someone wanted to know.

"Easy," Edshay assured him. "I made sixty on one and forty on the other."

DURING A WHAT'S MY Line program at Tri-Hi-Y meeting Kay Cauthen was trying to guess the line of a mortician.

"Do the people you work with talk back to you?" she asked.

THE CLASS WAS listening to the World Series in Mrs. Westerlund's room.

"What's the score?" Peggy Furr woke up long enough to inquire.

"Two up," Eugene Burris told her.

"Whose favor?" Peggy demanded.

MRS. DEESE WAS about to despair of George Lowder.

"I'm going to advise your mother to put you in an institution," she threatened.

"They wouldn't have him," Bobby Baucom piped up.

"Well, if he doesn't go," Mrs. Deese replied, "I'm going to have to."

SOMEONE MUST HAVE tapped a wire, for this telephone conversation was overheard recently:

Gary: "How about a date Saturday night?"

Maxine: "Sorry, I don't accept dates from strangers unless they're tall, dark, and handsome."

Gary: "Well, baby, you've got yourself a date!"

AFTER SEARCHING FRANTICALLY for the heart to use for homecoming, Elizabeth Tucker decided to ask Mr. Benton if he knew of its whereabouts.

"Why of course I know," he answered promptly. "Clyde Hill made a clothes line out of it."

CELIA GRIFFIN: "Drag, how do you spell hyena?"

Drag: "Why, Celia, can't you spell your middle name?"

MISS MISENHEIMER was telling her fourth period class what to do in case of a fire drill. She appointed boys to turn out the lights and to close the door as they went out.

"What's the point of turning off the lights?" someone asked.

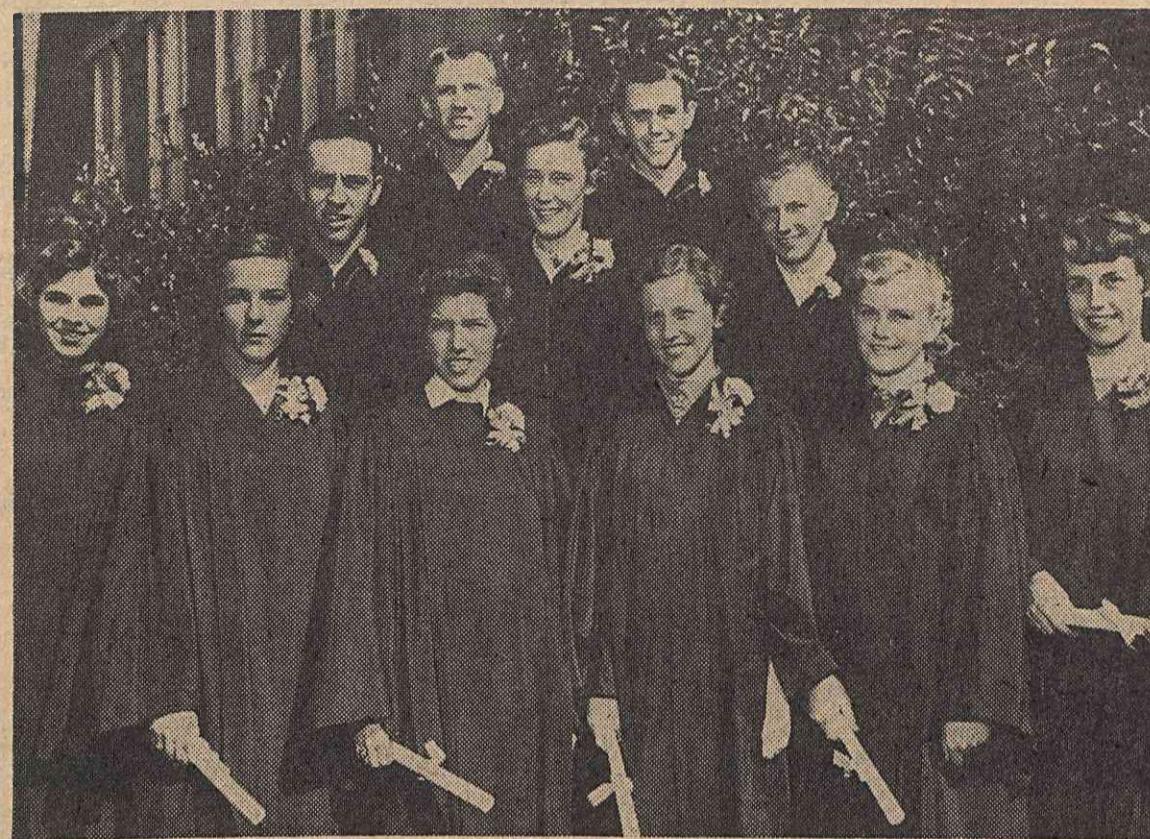

Jackie Biddle had the answer: "If we have a fire, it will be light enough."

POLIO PENDERGRAFT APPEARED at the ball game wearing a hat with a big pin in the back. Someone wised off at Polio saying,

"Hey, cowboy, what's that pin for?"

"It's an aerial to tune in knowheads like you," Polio cracked back.

NEW HONOR SOCIETY MEMBERS ARE TAPPED

11 Seniors Are Tapped Into Honor Group

Memorial Shelf Begun In Library

Forty-two books have been donated to the school library by Mrs. T. R. Wolfe to be used on a memorial shelf to her late husband.

This is the first shelf of this type in the A.H.S. Library. Some of the most interesting titles and their authors are as follows: "The Roosevelt I Knew" by Frances Perkins, "The Big Change" by Allen, "American Guerrilla In The Philippines" by Ira Wolbert, "Behind The Curtain" by John Gunther, "Stonewall Jackson" by Colonel Henderson, and "Hiroshima" by John Hersey.

Miss Norma L. Roberts, a senior at Duke, will practice teaching U. S. History under Mrs. Westerlund, November 14 through January 20. She will also observe Mrs. Westerlund's sociology classes.

Members Explain Four Standards For Membership

The National Honor Society tapped eleven members into its membership during exercises last Friday morning.

Peggy Furr, Patricia Thompson, Jimmy Almond, Luther Kimrey, Johnny Richardson, Iris Hunsucker, Jo Stallings, Joe Kluttz, Sandra Poplin, Pamela Hinson, Sybil Efird, all seniors, were tapped because of their outstanding traits of character, scholarship, leadership, and service.

The six members of the society that were tapped last spring, led by Principal J. L. Cashwell, and Superintendent Claud Grigg formed the procession. Edshay Brunson, president, presided over the entire program. The first verse of "Holy, Holy, Holy" was sung, followed by the Scripture and prayer given by Susie Culp.

Robes To Arrive For Chorus Use By October 28

Part of the proceeds obtained through the sale of Birthday Calendars will be donated by the Albemarle Lions Club to the Mixed Chorus for the purpose of buying new robes.

Measurements for the robes have been taken and the order sent to the Collegiate Cap and Robe Company. The robes are expected to arrive approximately October 28.

The school colors will be carried out in these handsomely tailored navy blue rayon-faille robes and white satin stoles.

Members of the chorus are not only helping in the sale of calendars but they are also making an earnest effort to raise money to pay for the robes by selling Christmas cards.

Pat Boone, Pattie Paige Tops In A.H.S.

Pat Boone and Patty Paige are the number one singers around A.H.S., according to a poll taken of students last week. The favorites of the group singers are the Hilltoppers. "Love Is a Many-Splendored Thing" is the favorite song by an overwhelming majority.

It was a close race between the female singer and the group artists. J. P. Morgan was behind Miss Paige by a vote of 45 to 50. The Ames Brothers were out in front of the Clovers by a vote of 31 to 30. Pat Boone had a wide margin over Frankie Laine by a vote of 58 to 20. "Only You" was second with 32 votes, and "Ain't That a Shame" occupied the third place position by a vote of 20.

The boys and girls of the ninth and twelfth grades seem to like different artists and songs whereas the tenth and eleventh grades pretty well like the same thing. Here's what the students like:

In the freshman class, the girls gave most of their votes to Pat Boone and the boys favored Frankie Laine. They also had different opinions about the group singers too. The girls went for the Ames Brothers, and The Hilltoppers got the boys' votes. The songs were a different story. The girls differed among themselves.

The votes were about even for "Seventeen" and "Only You." They also liked "Wake the Town and Tell the People" and "Ain't That a Shame." All the boys liked "Love Is a Many-Splendored Thing."

In the sophomore class, the whole thing was a different story. The only thing they differed on was that the girls liked Pat Boone and the boys threw in with Frankie Laine. The class as a whole went about the same for J. P. Morgan and Patty Paige, the Ames Brothers, and the Hilltoppers. "Love Is a Many-Splendored Thing" and "Ain't That a Shame," according to the ballots. Most of Patty's votes came from the girls.

In the junior class, it was the same as in the sophomore class. The girls picked Pat Boone and the boys preferred Nat King Cole and Frankie Laine. The unusual thing was that Nat King Cole came in second place on a write-in vote. The class as a whole voted for J. P. Morgan and Patty Paige, The Hilltoppers and The Ames Brothers. When the songs were concerned, both boys and girls liked "Only You," "Moments to Remember," and "Ain't That a Shame." The boys especially like "Love Is a Many-Splendored Thing."

The senior class tells another story. The only thing the seniors agreed on was Pat Boone, J. P. Morgan, and "Love Is a Many-Splendored Thing." The boys also liked Patty Paige. "Autumn Leaves" and "Moments to Remember" were among the songs picked by the senior girls, while the boys went for "Only You." The ballots also showed proof that both the boys and girls like "Wake the Town and Tell the People."

Varied Programs Given In Assembly

During October, the program committee, under the direction of Mrs. Saunders, gave three assembly programs.

For the first week, fire prevention was the theme. A short talk was given by Fire Chief Morris, after which a movie on fire prevention was shown. On the twenty-first, the Honor Society held its tapping ceremony. Ending the month's programs was a talk given by Dr. Bud Smith, the president of Wingate college.

Full Moon Staff Is Now Organized

Take a look at a scene that takes place every month in one of the classrooms of A.H.S.

"Say something funny; I've got to have a Here and There." "Where did you go on your vacation this past summer?" "Hurry, the deadline is at the end of this period." "How do you spell purchased?"

This isn't a sound wave from Mars. It's just a Full Moon English class. This is where you find the inside story of the Full Moon. Here each person has a job to do for the paper.

Selected on this year's staff are: news editor, Carolyn Helms; managing editor, Pat Thompson; reporters, Maxine Harwood, Barbara Holt, Drag Kimrey, Joe Kluttz, Kay Haire, Pat Atkins, Bill Fisher, Peggy Furr, Elaine Holt, Barbara Copley, George Lowder, and Vivian Smith.

Feature editors are Ross Mason and Johnsie Russell; feature writers: Billy Fitzgerald, Lois Harwood, Celia Griffin, Mickey Green, Dotty Walker, Sandra Poplin, Hazel Lawhon, Joyce Turner, Susie Culp, and Betty Boone.

Sports editor is Edshay Brunson. Sport writers: Wade Smith, Johnny Richardson, Jimmy Almond, Bruce Curlee, and Franchot Palmer.

Editorial writers are Johnny Richardson and Peggy Furr. Exchange editor is Kay Cauthen. Jean Morgan is the library editor. In charge of photography is Bruce Curlee.

Council Chooses Gantt And Deese As Co-Sponsors

The A.H.S. Student Council, under the leadership of their officers and without the aid of a sponsor, have paid off many of the debts that have piled up since last year.

The members recently elected Mr. Bob Gantt sponsor for this year and Mrs. Mildred Deese as co-sponsor.

Through hard work and plenty of effort, funds were raised at the dances after the football games and sponsored two successful dances.

Officers for this year are: president, Wade Smith; vice president, Jo Ellen Brooks; secretary, Pat Starnes; and treasurer, Libbie Hatley.

By Their Words

"I don't know anything about a horse except which end eats." Mrs. Westerlund.

"Did any of you see the radio show last night?" Miss Caughman.

"Women have two kinds of minutes—the regular and the wait-a-minute." Mickey Greene.

"She's just a little hub-cap going with a big wheel." Jeanette McDonald.

"Look at that boy with red breeches marching in the drum." Diane Tucker.

"When you choked me I could hear my tonsil squall." Billy Swan.

"My mouth was full of food, I had to chew on the outside." Johnsie Russell.

While watching the World Series on T. V., she exclaimed, "Come on we've got to have a touchdown." Hazel Lawhon.

"I'm so tired of school that I'm going to quit—after I graduate." Vivian Smith.

"I don't care what color of socks you wear, just so they are white." Mr. Hauss.

"Some folks who live it up discover they have a lot to live down." Gene Burris.

"Give me a dime so I won't have to break my dollar bill." Wheaties Richardson.
