THE FULL MOON

Vol. 22 — No. 2

Albemarle High School, Albemarle, N. C.

October 26, 1956

HERE AND THERE

Jo Ellen Brooks was explaining an algebra problem to Linda Duke. "The answer is X equals zero," she wound it up. "Good night," Linda replied, "all that work for nothing!"

One day at the beginning of football practice, Mr. Robinette asked Punk for the football he was kicking.

Punk replied, "I chased the ball and I ought to be able to kick it."

"Well," answered Mr. Robinette, "the referees chase the balls in the games, but they don't get

In the Monroe football game the "Hill Special" had run several times and the Monroe defense was catching on to it, so instead of giving the ball to Clyde, Punk Gantt kept it.

One of the defenders who tackled Clyde anyway said, "You boys sure faked my pants off that time."

"Your assignment is on the board," Coach Webb told his second period Economics class.
"I've got to do some work for Mr. Cashwell. He's over in Salisbury in court; I mean he's on the jury."

Larry Joe Burleson and Mrs. Deese occasionally have their little arguments and one day Larry Joe threatened to go tell Mr. Cashwell what he thought. "If you don't keep guiet, I'm going to tell Mr. Cashwell what I think!" replied Mrs. Deese.

After drawing a circle with a crooked line through it, Mr. Braswell asked the class what Braswell asked the class what it was. Nobody answered, so he replied, "An ant swimming through a puddle of champagne."

While walking from the K & L one day, Ann Stone asked, "Do you know what a straw is for?"

"No, what?" innocently asked Lulabelle Smith.

"To tell fools when the drink's all gone," quipped Ann.

During a recent game, the op-ponent's quarterback fumbled the ball. It rolled in front of the halfback. Seeing Jerry Lowder and Roger Whitley bearing down on him, the halfback yelled to the quarterback, "You pick it up; you dropped it."

Last Monday afternoon at the Junior Varsity football game, Jenny Henderson asked:
"What's the score?"
"Seven to seven," replied Jo

Ellen Brooks.

"Whose favor?" Jenny asked.

"Babe, we can't go to the next rock n'roll show 'cause it's on Homecoming," explained Billy Corbett to Larry Freeman.

s, we can to be sponsors," replied Babe.

During a chemistry class, Mr. Hatley asked Rex Whitley the answer to a question. Rex replied, "I left my book at home." Mr. Hatley answered, "Oh, is your mother going to study chemistry today?"

One night at Harmanco's, Punk Gantt began a joke session. After telling four or five jokes Punk said, "Yessir, I know a lot of said, "Yessir, I know a solution good jokes."

"Yea?" remarked "Q" Smith, going to tell "When are you going to tell

Freshmen Elect Leaders For Year

Election of the freshman class officers was held at the first meeting of the class on Oct. 8.

The officers are as follows:
President, Paul Welch; vice-president, Dudley Roache; and secretary and treasurer, Billy Tuckretary and treasurer, Billy Tucker. Maxwell Brother. Maxw freshman advisor.

Honor Roll Small Due To Different Grading System

Due to the change in the grad-Due to the change in the grading system the number of those on honor roll is not so large as usual. This year there is only one honor roll, since highest honor has been done away with.

Students must make at least three A's on academic subjects, and not more than two R's and not more than two B's.

Those who made honor roll are:

Twelfth Grade

David Grigg, Gene Langley,
Lane Lowder, Patsy Blake, Jo
Ellen Brooks, Jackie Richardson,
Gerry Currier, Robert L. Smith,
Clara Bost, Rona Jane Mauldin, Linda Moose, Anne Rogers, Lulabelle Smith, Jewell Bunting, Winfred Ford, Ruby Griffin, Carol Little, and Sylvia Mauldin.

Eleventh Grade

Eleventh Grade
Rita Morris, Sue Winn, Larry
Mullis, Charles Delk, Billy Hartsell, Marie Bowers, Pat Smith,
Gay Crowell, Martha Huckabee,
Kay Swindell, Glenda Keever,
Cary McSwain, Wade Smith, Ronnie Millican, Kitty Almond, Joyce Burris, Becky Coble, Libby
Hatley, Barbara Hoey, Peggy Sue
Lisk, Peggy Smith, Evelyn Underwood, Diane Watkins, Barbara Smith, and Pat Starnes.

Tenth Grade

Tenth Grade

Tenth Grade

Brenda Huneycutt, Lane Brown,
Aldena Harrington, Janice Morris, Jo Parks, Judy Redfern, Martha Smith, Sue Tucker, Billie Jo
Barrier, Ruby Morton, Jane
Chandler, Linda Curlee, Nancy
Ivester, Ann Smith, Linda Efird,
Millie Hatley, Gloria Jones, and Josh Morton.

Ninth Grade

Minth Grade

Mary Jo Winn, Charles Brown,
Jimmy Stonestreet, Harry Whitley, Joe Stoker, Suzanne Finch,
Bobbie Mullis, Homer Blalock,
E. J. Whitley, Neil Efird, Mike
Ross, Paula Feldman, Jerry Lou
Holbert, Elaine Morris, Pam
Truette, Annette Lowder, Landis
Miller, Jo Ann Holt, and Bobby Harris.

Crossroads Staff Is Working Hard

Selling ads for the Crossroads is keeping members of the business and literary staffs very busy these days, as a big attempt is being made to close this project in the next few days. Business manager, Robert L. Smith, with the other members, is taking assignments as quickly as ing assignments as quickly as possible in order to make the way clear for the photography staff to go to work.

Delmar photographers came to take individual student pictures October 22 and 23, taking two days this year in order to get in the annual. All the girls wore dark sweaters with white collars dark sweaters with white collars while the boys wore white shirts with dark coats and ties.

A theme has been chosen by the annual staff and rough sketches are being drawn in or- carry out this theme. der to get an idea of how the pages will look. All of the committees are being put to work to January 13.

LINDA MOOSE Carrousel Princess

J. L. CASHWELL Named to State Committee

PAUL B. FRY Heads N. C. Choral Group

Full Moon Staff Organized

Students Attend Press Institute

Chapel Hill played host to students coming for the Fifteenth Annual North Carolina Scholastic Press Institute on October 6. Linda Moose, representing the Full Moon; Jo Ellen Brooks and Robert L. Smith, representing the Crossroads; Joyce Burris and Gay Crowell with Mr. and Mrs. Carter attended. Chapel Hill played host to stu-

Useful information was gained by each representative and val-uable ideas were brought home marle High School representa-tives went to State College to see the State-Clemson football game.

English Students Edit Newspaper

Members of the Full Moon class have been organized into a formal staff to work on the business manager.

News writers are Mary Ewing Griffin, Jo Ellen Brooks, Jane Mauldin, Linda Whitley, Vicki Cranford, Charlie Smith, Larry Burleson, Robert L. Smith, Burnie Miller, Diane Tucker, Johnny Renger, and Myrna Mills

fred Ford, Rona Jane Mauldin, Patsy Blake, and Frances Little.

Sports writers are George McManus, Jimmy Cochran, Don

When he wanted by 1 left wanted by 1 l Taylor, and Buddy Stoker.

Circulation manager is Toby Ragsdale, and editorial writers are Gene Langley and David

Elected last year were Linda Moose, editor, and Wayne Eudy,

Mixed Chorus Is Planning Program For N. C. Principals

The Mixed Chorus of Albemarle High School, under the direction of Mr. Paul B. Fry, has received an invitation to sing at a meet-ing of the North Carolina Princ-ipal's Association on November 8 at the Bessemer School in Greens-

Principals from all over North Carolina will attend the dinner meeting and will hear the sixty-three voice chorus, which will perform as a special feature on the program the program.

For the performance, the girls in the chorus will don their finest evening apparel and the boys will wear white dinner jackets. The many different colors of evening dresses and the formal attire of the boys will add color and variety to the program.

Members of the chorus will leave sometime during the after-leave sometime during the afternoon on November 8 for Greensboro. They will make the trip by bus. The chorus will eat their evening meal in Greensboro, then gave their performance for the principals and then return home by bus.

The program will include such numbers as "Sleigh Ride," "Where in the World But in America,"
"Onward Ye Peoples," "Battle
Hymn of the Republic," "Oh,
What a Beautiful Morning," and

Mr. Fry and the chorus consider this invitation a great honor and are working hard toward making their appearance a good

BY THEIR WORDS

"Those who read are wise; those who don't read are otherwise." — R. C. Hatley

"You, the seniors, are privileged to lead the school—yes, I know some of you are badly misplaced." — Mrs. Deese

"If you made low on these tests, don't get discouraged—we'll have some more." — Miss

"I'm going to type a letter with my left hand so nobody will re-cognize my typing." — Kitty Al-

"He's the same size I am, only bigger." — Larry Freeman

"I do all right on everything but my subjects." — Mickey Dry "This baby looks just like the other one." — Mr. Robinette

"I wonder if it would be a hardship or inconvenience to anyone to postpone your test un-til tomorrow." — Mrs. Fry "When he walked by I felt

"Don't come back after you get your report cards and try to get me to change an A-minus to a B-plus." — Miss Caughman

"I'd be the toughest boy in town if I wasn't chicken." — Jim Stiller

"Never tangle with a man, if you aren't one yourself." —Mick-

"Turn on the windshield." -Gene Starnes

"We're going to start a bowling alley here with heads rolling down the aisles." — Mr. Lippard "I'm always the victim." -

Rona Jane Mauldin "I hate to disappoint you people, but I just don't have the guts to jump out this window."

— "Rat" Lisk

like to see return is the showing of movies in the auditorium. This old paper announced the showing ry.

The Creative Writing Club was ublishing a magazine called the Al-Hi-Script, which was sup
The Creative Writing Club was a musical who, Campus Chatter, Here and a library column.

There, and a library column.

One thing the students would Joann Bennett, and W. C. Fields.

Full Moon of '39 Reveals Old Secrets

Back in 1939 most of us seniors were so busy being born that we didn't have a chance to read the newspapers, so here is the news in a nutshell, straight from a Full Moon dated December 15, Y Club, a dress modelling show put on by the Home Economics Too. Three seniors Bill Furr Ted

1939

There were only nineteen ads pageant. Incidentally, the direction the paper, and some were unfamiliar. Do you remember Mod-Fry.

Many of the present features in the Full Moon had already got their start.

939.

The paper was printed on a Department, and the announce-The paper was printed on a single sheet of paper, smaller than the present Full Moon, and consisted of only four pages. The editor was Lee Copple and the publisher was a journalism class.

There were only nineteen ads

There were only nineteen ads

The paper was printed on a paper, and the announcement of winners in a photo contest sponsored by the Photography Club. The Dramatics Club and the Music Department, and the announcement of winners in a photo contest sponsored by the Photography Club. The Dramatics Club and the Music Department, and the announcement of winners in a photo contest sponsored by the Photography Club. The Dramatics Club and the Music Department, and the announcement of winners in a photo contest sponsored by the Photography Club. The Dramatics Club and the Music Department of winners in a photo contest sponsored by the Photography Club and the Music Department of winners in a photo contest sponsored by the Photography Club and the Music Department of winners in a photo contest sponsored by the Photography Club and the Music Department of winners in a photo contest sponsored by the Photography Club and the Music Department of winners in a photo contest sponsored by the Photography Club and the Music Department of winners in a photo contest sponsored by the Photography Club and the Music Department of winners in a photography Club and the Music Department of winners in a photography club. The Dramatics of winners in a photography club and the Music Department of winners in a photography club. The Dramatics of winners in a photography club and the Music Department of winners in a photography club. The Dramatics of winners in a photography club and the Music Department of winners in a photography club and the Music Department of winners in a photography club and the Music Department of winners in a photography club and the Music Department of winners in a photography club and the Music Department of winners in a photography club and the Music Department of winners in a photography club and the

7-0. Three seniors, Bill Furr, Ted Wallace, and Buck Mabry, had made the All-State list of sev-