

As revolting students ransack the office, Denis Rickman ties up Sgt. Alma Crowell, and Tom Adams calls Calvin for reinforcements.

Teen Dems Orgynize

The Stanly County Teen Dems received the coveted award of "Political Party of the Year," presented by Pabst Brewing Company, as the Democrats swept the voting for the second consecutive year. Last year's award went to the Democratic Party for its Chicago Convention.

The local club, headed by Tom Adams, held its party February 22-23 at the Heart of Albemarle Motel, the National Guard Armory, and various points between.

Honored guests at the event were Richard Hathcock, Danny Talbert, and Buggs Courtney. Entertainment at the Armory was provided by the Fabulous Tensions and Charles Crawley. Later at the motel, the guests were entertained by the motel manager and several local policemen.

The club was graded on three aspects of politics — originality, brutality, and the following week's rumors. The locals ranked high in all categories except brutality. Only a few injuries were reported. The most serious injury was received by a Full Moon reporter when he was struck in the face by a snowball.

Looney Toons

- 1) Hold On, I'm Coming — Calvin.
- 2) Sunday Will Never Be the Same — Church-O-Theque.
- 3) Roll Over, Beethoven — Mr. Fry.
- 4) Love Is Blue — Danny Talbert.
- 5) Shame, Shame; Who's Making Love? — Teen Dems
- 6) I Wish It Would Rain — Track Team.
- 7) Say It Loud — Carrie Davis.
- 8) Dizzy — Buggs Courtney.
- 9) Puff, the Magic Dragon; Windy — Mr. Hawkins.
- 10) Who's Afraid Of the Big, Bad Wolf? — Carolyn Hill.
- 11) Move In a Little Closer — Mr. Hatley.
- 12) Ain't No Big Thing — Stewart Medlin.

MOONBOMBS

Civic Center Planned

The Chamber of Commerce has selected "John's Tavern," formerly "Kepleys," for the proposed Stanly and Rowan County Civic Center. Plans are now under way to replaster the building and remodel it in the fashion of an Old English Pub.

Canadian Trip Planned

Denis Rickman is chartering a bus to Toronto, Canada immediately after graduation. All interested senior boys, eighteen and older, are asked to buy their one-way tickets immediately.

Gift of the Month

The FBLA gift of the month is a personally autographed picture of Lamar Burleson.

Rebels Take Over Office

STUDENTS ARE REVOLTING

Rebel students took over the administrative office at noon, March 32, after a week of violent demonstrations.

The action came as the result of a faculty decision to move the juke box from the school cafeteria.

"We had already protested the repressive administration," commented student leaders Mark Rutt and Stokely Carbuncle. "We petitioned for soul food in the cafeteria, chocolate milk for lunch, and inclusion of more Chinese students."

"When the administration moved the juke box out of the cafeteria, we decided it was time to act."

Led by members of S.O.T. (Students Opposed to Teachers), the students forced their way into the office and demanded the resignation of Principal Warden Hawkins and his secretary, Sgt. Alma Crowell.

After resisting the dissident students, Hawkins was forced to leave when the rebels threatened to feed him three pounds of surplus cafeteria prunes.

Sgt. Crowell defended the vault until student Tom Adams commandeered the P.A. and began to recite one of his typical radio broadcasts. Becoming very nauseous, Sgt. Crowell barely had time to write herself a permit before leaving for the rest room.

Students immediately began to barricade the office. Wayne Davis and his bricklaying squad quickly erected a four-foot wall of bricks and empty beer cans to defend the students.

At 1:30 p.m., teachers led by

Gen. Nell "Foghorn" Westerlund, made a last-ditch effort to liberate the office. Students met the attack with a barrage of paper clips, pencils, rotten prunes and stale rolls, but were soon defeated.

During the furious hand-to-hand combat, Gen. Westerlund put three students out of commission while Madame Deese wounded two rebels with the spikes of her high-heel shoes.

Charles Crawley also won honor by knocking four persons unconscious. Unfortunately, two were students.

Student survivors were taken to Stanly County Hospital. Five points will be taken off each of their grades.

Misery Is A Wet Puppy

Misery Is . . .

- Prunes.
- Being carded at Kep's.
- Your girl friend knitting baby booties.
- One black sock and one blue one.
- Your little sister finding your copy of Candy.
- Chemistry, when R. C. is fresh out of amusing anecdotes.
- Getting stuck in the mud just when you are leaving Badin Lake.
- Drinking two pepsis at Wilhelm's right before the church sermon.
- Sideswiping your insurance man's car.
- An announcement by Mr. Hawkins.

- Kissing your baby cousin and finding out he has the mumps.
- A Green Fly burger.
- A Playboy with the centerfold removed.
- Happiness Is . . .
- Snow in March.
- A fifty-foot scratch mark.
- A Teen Dem rally.
- Being left at home by yourself for the weekend.
- A warm gun.
- Skinny-dipping.
- The beach.
- Your older brother's I. D. Saturdays.
- Finishing your research paper at 8:00 a.m. before it's due 2nd period.

Calvin, Cushion Clean Up

Last year, The Cherry Bomb reported a moonshine raid within ASHS. Reporters Johnny Snuggs and Buggs Courtney, acting as an investigation team, followed their sensitive noses to the boiler room where they found Calvin in the midst of Operation Ninety Proof. They revealed that Calvin planned to pump liquor through the water cooling system to the cafeteria so the students and teachers would get stoned, enabling him to take over.

After intensive investigation, The Full Moon's Commission On Calvin recently reported that Calvin did take over ASHS in last May's secret coup d'etat and has been ruling from the caverns below the boiler room for ten months.

The report also pointed out that Calvin intends to make some changes at Senior High. A recent edict from the Caverns Of Calvin stated that school food will soon be changed to meet the needs of the student body.

This innovation was decided upon after Calvin's recent collaboration with Cardinal Cushion on the planning of school lunches. It has been decreed that "On Fridays 'soul food' will be served to all students at ASHS, especially the spiritually deficient ones."

Vice Squad Raids A.V. Stag Show

Members of the Albemarle Vice Squad raided the Audio-Visual Room yesterday and seized several allegedly obscene films and tape recordings.

Two unidentified A. V. members were arrested and charged with possession of pornographic materials.

The raid was the result of a complaint by a certain French teacher whose room is near the A. V. room.

"People would be shocked if they know the filth that was going on in there," commented the teacher. "Why last week they were showing 'Bambi!' A lot of people think 'Bambi' is an innocent film but there's a lot of sexual symbolism in it. All those naked animals. . ."

The confiscated materials were turned over to Warden Hawkins who said he would have "to study the films and tapes very carefully before making any decision."

Faces Un-Focused

This month each Student Council representative voted for himself for student of the month. This picture was taken as they were leaving for lunch.

In recognizing their accomplishments, we first think of Doug Pinkston who is in the back seat, although not visible at the moment. He puts up the music each day in Varsity Singers and won the Amateur Drawing Award for his art work in his music.

Connie Hamilton is a conscientious worker who donates her afternoon hours to pruning the school's shrubbery. At times she has been seen picking up beer cans in the parking lot.

Disguised at the left, rear doorknob is Patsy Davis, who, in her many costumes, has made 21 consecutive successful trips to Hardee's during her lunch period in the guise of a steering wheel.

At the rear of the car is Harry Baltes, chairman of the Student Council traffic committee, writing out a citation for Paul Wolf for clogging a traffic lane to Hardee's during rush hour.

Ann Slander Answers

Dad Should Support Stockings

Dear Ann Slander,
I am 16 years old and I think I am old enough to wear lipstick, make-up, and nylons. My mother is all for it, but my father gets very angry whenever I suggest it. What should I do?

RALPH

Dear Ralph,

If you simply can't reason with your father, I'm afraid you'll have to pray to your fairy godmother.

Dear Ann Slander,

I have a very handsome and charming eighteen-year-old son who has never dated the same girl twice. I'm afraid the reason Wilbert hasn't ever gotten a girl is that he has five warts on his right hand. I've begged Wilbert to have his warts removed, but he refuses, insisting that they remind him of a pet toad he had years ago. What can I do?

WORRY WART

Dear Wart,

Introduce Wilbert to some nice frogs.

Dear Ann Slander,

My husband and I are heartbroken. Our little Brigitte has shamed the whole family. The whole neighborhood talks about how she is always running around the whole town. She never stays home anymore, and when she does come home it's usually very late. I simply can't control her. I think I'm going out of my mind. And she was such a nice little poodle. What can I do?

"MUMMY"

Dear Mummy,
It's time Brigitte grew up! You should quit treating her like a baby, and make her fix her own meals and roll her own hair.

Dear Ann Slander,

Last week my family went to the funeral of my great aunt on my mother's father's side. Well, we got there and we were seated right next to my second cousin twice removed whom I never have liked since the time she insulted my husband's uncle's great aunt at my father's uncle's wedding. This simply ruined the whole funeral for my family. I don't even think they should have been invited. Am I right?

INSULTED

Dear Insult,
Certainly. Next time, demand that invitations be sent.