Election Returns . . .

Student Body Elects Next Year's Officers

Chuck Gaskin, Jane Gullledge, Linda Little, and Arlesa Daniels will lead the Student Council next year. They will hold the offices of president, vice-president, secretary, and treasurer respectively.

There was not a run-off for the office of vice-president and secretary. Chick Morris also ran for president, and Crystal Waller ran for treasurer.

As a kick-off to the campaigning, and also for advertisement, a portion from the play "Cheaper by the Dozen" gave the students a sneak preview of the upcoming presentation.

After the play, the four candidates and their campaign managers used their five minutes time allotment to make campaign speeches.

Rodney Lee, this year's president, first presented Crystal and her campaign manager Irelou Easley for their presentation. Sammy Ferguson and Debbie Flowe danced their way on stage as a remembrance of the 50's festival. Jimmy Cain, "homecoming queen" from the student-faculty basketball game, represented another aspect of this year's school activities. Mark Frazier came out next with a lighted candle signifying one of the student council assemblies.

Irelou then spoke, explaining how Crystal helped make these activities possible while in office of secretary. Crystal followed with her campaign speech.

Darryl Ellis followed with his speech for Arlesa. He spoke of her good nature and ability to get along with others.

Arlesa made her campaign speech, saying that she felt it would be a great honor to represent this school as treasurer, even though she knew her opponent was just as worthy.

Following the candidates for treasurer, Dewey Preslar, Chick's campaign manager,

Student Play Is A Success

A cast of twenty students interested in dramatics presented the play "Cheaper by the Dozen," Friday, April 13, in the school auditorium. Approximately $300 received from admissions will go to the Drama Club fund.

The cast was as follows: Dad (Frank Gilbreth), John Baugh and Mother (Mrs. Gilbreth), Jan Griffin. The children in order of height, shortest to the tallest were: Freida, Carol Fitzgerald; Ethel, Gina Morris; Martha, Debbie Ross; Ernestine, Kathie Neel; Jackie, Jenell Hudson; Lillian, Bess Knotts; Betty, Betty Gullledge; Jane, Crystal Waller; Anne, Lisa Roberts; Dan, Chuck Barger; Bill, Tracy Hicks; and Frank, Bain Jones.

Mrs. Fitzgerald (Cook) was played by Terrie Daughtery; Dr. Burton by Buddy Clark, Nurse by Joanne Harbers, Joe Scales by Bobby Swan, Miss Brill by Monica Lowder, and Larry by David Adams.

The production staff consisted of stage manager, Reggie Daily; lighting director, Mark Lowder; set directors, Robbie Hill, Ellen Morrow, Janet Miller, Melinda Lowder, and Tony Wilcalis.

Property director, Allison Harris; sound effects, David Gore and Barbara Eddins; publicity, Lynn Whitehead, Deborah Poplin and Alice Johnson; and make-up, Melita Corriher, Mary Ann Ritchie and Debbie Burris completed the stage crew. Kristi Whitley was pianist.

After the final curtain call John Baugh presented Mrs. Jane Hartsell, director, with a dozen long-stemmed red roses on behalf of the cast.

SENIORS CHOOSE MARSHALLS

The senior class voted for eight marshals to serve next year, and for this year's graduation.

The chief marshal is Arlesa Daniels who received the most votes. Others elected are Crystal Waller, Jenell Hudson, Steve Crowell, Chuck Gaskin, Melinda Moose, Melissa Moose, and Bess Knotts.

STAFF EXTENDS APOLOGY

The Full Moon would like to apologize for an error that appeared in the last issue of the newspaper. Lew Smith will attend the Air Force Academy in Colorado Springs, Colorado instead of the Naval Academy at Annapolis, Maryland. We are sorry for this misprint.

JUNIORS TAKE SAT

Two hundred twenty-five students from South Stanly, West Stanly, North Stanly, West Montgomery, and Senior High took the Scholastic Aptitude Test Saturday, April 7 at Senior High.

Jones Takes First Place

Bain Jones received first place honors in the North Carolina Woman's Club Festival of the Arts Oratorical

Bain Speaks Out For First Place.

Contest in Winston-Salem March 31.

Bain spoke on the subject "What Does Our Judicial System Need?" He won district honors in Charlotte March 10, and gained the right to compete in the state contest.

The Albemarle Junior Woman's Club sponsored Bain in the contest, and he was accompanied to Winston-Salem by Mrs. Harold Sharpe and Mrs. Malcom Wall, Club representatives.

Bain participated in the Optimist Club's oratorical contest for three years, and he maintains an excellent record. This is the first time he has entered the Woman's Club contest.

tendent of secondary education in Concord city schools; and Mr. Raymond Rhodes, of the State Department for Public Instruction, made up the committee.

They began Monday with a tour of the building and a planning meeting. There was a reception in the cafeteria for the faculty members and the committee from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m.

The committee began Tuesday by studying and discussing the reports prepared by the different departments. Then they held conferences with teachers and members of the student body, who were picked at random. After school, committee members prepared reports of findings for the Association.

Between the ten years, the schools are to report to them about correcting the weaknesses.

Belonging to this Association is an indication that Albemarle is willing to provide extra resources to upgrade its schools. It shows that Albemarle wishes to maintain a system to meet the needs of students on a more comprehensive basis than is normally applied by state funds.

The committee visited the elementary schools during the last week in March. They will visit Junior High next year.
