Yearbook Staff Completes Final Task

Several girls take out time from lunch to sign their best friend's yearbook.

during the week.

Tuesday, the Junior class will honor the graduates, as will the Student Council Wednesday. Seniors will have a picnic outside during fourth period.

The Senior Talent Show will be Thursday in the auditorium and will be open to the whole school. The five scheduled acts so far are: Dewey Preslar, musical combo; Nona Pease and Eleanor Gold, choral singing; Debra Bryson, Cinderella; Jackie Tucker, skit; and June Fisher and Terrie Daugherty, baton twirling.

Seniors will be offered a variety of activities Friday. The Senior Class picnic will be at Morrow Mountain from 6:30 to 8:30. Also, the school will order special tickets for the Seniors to attend Senior Night at Carowinds from 9 p.m. until 5:30 a.m. Tickets will be $6.00 and students must provide their own transportation.

The Senior Supplement to THE FULL MOON will be partially paid for by the Senior Class and will contain the class History and the Last Will and Testament. The Senior Council has not decided on the Senior Gift.

Midnight Rambler Returns

Sammy Ferguson and Curtis Paschold hold the most recent mark of "The Midnight Rambler".

Alias Midnight Rambler is on the Senior High scene again. This time he left his flag of vengeance on the school's flagpole sometime during the weekend of April 27.

The flag was inscribed with THE MIDNIGHT RAMBLER. In one corner it had a hand gripping a blood stained dagger. In the other corner was a star and quarter moon.

This marks the fifth time such actions have occurred from this particular group. They have left their name previously on sidewalks around the school. On one occasion "Midnight Rambler" was written in paint along the brick wall at the front entrance, the marks of which still remain.

So far, there are no definite leads as to who might be carrying out these actions. Thus far, they have appeared only on weekends at night.

New Flag Presented

Navy Recruiter, John Kimrey, presented Senior High a new flag in recognition for high scores received on the Navy Qualifying Exam.

Chief Kimrey was pleased that two students, Roy Rogers and Randy Eudy, received high enough scores to enter Nuclear Electronics.

Roy and Randy will begin basic training at Great Lakes, Michigan, June 25.

Ritchie To Serve As Chief

Mary Ann Ritchie will serve as Editor-in-chief of the 1973-74 Full Moon. Lynn Snuggs will serve as News Editor, Jan Griffin will be Feature Editor, and David Sanges will hold the position of Sports Editor. Steve Crowell will serve as Business Manager.

Other rising seniors on the staff are Sherry Morton, Ronald Wall, Cathy Harwood, Arlesa Daniels, Chick Morris, Linda Hinson, Chuck Gaskin and Allison Harris.

Rising juniors are Chuck Barger, Roger Green, Alice Johnson, Stuart Jones, Lou Love, Karen Lowder, Alan Morton, Lynn Whitehead, and Kristi Whitley.

Officer Sherrill Calloway relaxes while reading THE FULL MOON after fourth period halls are quiet.

Racial Problems Upset Trouble Free School Year

For the first time this year, racial trouble erupted at Senior High. It sprang from a disagreement between blacks and whites concerning the choosing of the junior varsity cheerleading squad.

The trouble started Thursday, May 3, during lunch period and spread into the following week. Reportedly, blacks felt somewhat discriminated against in the choosing of the cheerleaders.

Comments from both sides triggered small skirmishes in the halls and in the French lab later Thursday. These actions caused uproar throughout the school.

Thursday night, H.E.L.P. met to discuss the problem and come up with a solution. This group, along with the Student Council, decided to add two additional members to the squad. Former finalists who wish will be allowed to try out for positions. They will perform before a panel composed of three white and three black judges.

Both Student Council and

H.E.L.P. feel that this method will insure fair representation since the choosers will not be associated with the school.

As a result of the trouble, police had to be called in Friday and Monday. They were posted throughout the school to suppress any actions that might arise.

School was dismissed at 11:30 Friday in order that tensions would be eased over the weekend. However, Monday morning, more fighting broke out in the front lobby. Police quickly stopped the fighting and five students were arrested. A number of students were suspended.

This marks the first time racial problems have occurred at school this year.

Both faculty and administration hope these problems will soon be solved.

Easter Assembly

Features Choir

In Choral Concert

The Senior Choir performed in a school-wide assembly, April 19, during fifth period.

The Choir was accompanied by an ensemble during part of the program. The small combo consisted of Crystal Waller, piano; Kristi Whitley, xylophone; Jan Lefler, and Lori Whitley, guitars; and John Baugh, string bass.

The first part of the program, consisting of sacred selections, included "Let the Song Be Begun," "Tenebrae Factae Sunt," "Adoramus te," "Ave Verum Corpus," "Come, Soothing Death," "My Eternal King," and "For All the Saints."

The ensemble next played "Goodnight, Sweetheart," "All The Things You Are," and "People," which was also accompanied by the Choir.

The second half of the program featured lighter, more modern music. Among these numbers were: "Consider Yourself," "Blue Moon," "Singing In The Rain," "Moonlight Serenade," "Hi-Lili-Hi-Lo," "Love Is A Many Splendored Thing," "Shendoah," "Charlottown," "Lend Us Your Friendship," and "For All We Know."

In addition to this performance, the Senior Choir also sang at the YMCA the next day for an Associational meeting of the Social Services Department.
