ZOLTAN COMPLAINS

Throughout his stay in the Sudan, where he filmed Alexander Korda's "Four Feathers", the technicolor adventure drama coming to Highlands School Theatre through United Artists Release, Zoltan Korda kept cabling friends back home that he was hot. In fact the heat was so intense that he kept wishing for a good old-fashioned London fog. The lowest temperature during the day was 119 degrees, while at midnight the thermometer dropped to a mere 100 degrees, which wasn't Zoltan's idea of ideal weather in any language.

The Rev. B. B. Underwood of Memphis, Tenn., was the Monday and Tuesday guest of the Rev. and Mrs. R. B. DuFree.
