

dicts who feel that they must have it.

These people who are so hopelessly drawn into slavery by this drug find it very hard to get or keep a job. Moreover, they feel that they must have five dollars a day, at least, even if they must steal or murder for it, for that is the cost daily to satisfy their needs. Our prisons and insane asylums are filled with such as these to-day.

Boys and girls, we are the adults of tomorrow, shall we through ignorance be led astray to join the crowd of addicts, or shall we become worthy citizens of America and prove that this is the home of the brave and the free?

-Nancy Potts

SIXTH GRADE

The Sixth Grade has begun the study of words and their history. Each day we find five new words we do not know the meaning of and have not used in speech before. We keep them in a notebook. At the end of each month we are to have in our notebook one hundred new words, the meaning of them, where we found them, and why we are interested in them. Words are a very interesting study.

-Barbara Zoellner

The Indian Fair

As soon as Mack and I got out of school on Friday, we were met by Mom and Caroline. We had a nice ride over there. When we came to a tourist camp, we stopped and got a cabin. As soon as we had our things out of the car, we went on to the fair. When we got to the fair, we saw the exhibits, then we had supper, after which we rode on some of the rides. Then we played some Bingo and went back to the tourist camp about twelve o'clock.

The next day we went to Knoxville. We saw many things in Knoxville.

We got back home about six o'clock.

-Peggy Potts

FOURTH GRADE

We read a book every month. We do not get our report cards until we have. I am reading Sonny Elephant now. We read the book then write a short story about what we have read. We check out books on Monday and Friday. After we read the book we check it back in.

-Carlton Crane

The Indian Show

We saw how the Indians heal the sick. They had a real Indian Princess and two Indian Chiefs. The two Indian Chiefs did the war dance. They had a good band with them.

-Edna Norton

Sara Hall had her tonsils and adenoids removed Saturday. She has missed three days of school. We hope she can be back Monday. We have missed her while she has been gone.

-Mattie Potts

Last Saturday while Richard Thompson was playing football, he got a peice of gravel in his eye. He had to go to the doctor to have the gravel taken out. The eyeball was cut. We are glad that he is better now.

-Buddy Houston

Anne Anderson has gone to Columbia and is going on to Charleston. She will be gone a few days, then she will be back with us. We hope that she will have a good time.

-Herbert Johnson

We have a new pupil, Thelma Webb. She missed five weeks of school because her mother has been sick.

-Betty Potts