MEET JOHN DOE, JULY 4-5 HIGHLANDS SCHOOL THEATRE

Frank Capra is responsible for many outstanding productions, but it is doubtful if any of them will top "Meet John Doe" for enthusiastic audience acclaim.

Equipped with a startlingly unique plot, the film abounds in humor, drama and suspense, building up to a climax that leaves one nearly prostrate with suspense, yet with a feeling that he has witnessed a great entertainment. Because it is so keenly American, because its hero could be any one of this country's millions, the picture will go right to the heart of every person who sees it. It is difficult to remember Gary Cooper in a finer role. Excellent too is the work of Barbara Stanwick in the leading feminine role, with Edward Arnold, Walter Brennan and James completing notable supporting characterizations.

The story is of a mythically-created John Doe who eventually becomes a real person, wins the admiration of millions of average Americans, only to learn he is being used by ambitious politician who seeks the Presidency on a platform that condemns every free, American right espoused by the Doe cause. Hero Gary Cooper suffers near defeat, but things right themselves as the story ends.

MRS. EDWARDS OPENS FRUIT AND MELON STORE

Mrs. Louis Edwards has opened a fresh vegetable and fruit shop at Wiley's Fruit stand on Main Street, and will specialize in South Georgia Watermelons and Cantaloupes. The melons, fruits and vegetables, grown on the Georgia farms of her brother-in-law, are gathered late in the afternoons and brought to Highlands for next morning's selling. Home-made jams and jellies are also sold by Mrs. Edwards.

Buddy Thompson is assisting in the management of the shop.

John Beale, son of Mr. and Mrs. Haworth Beale, is expected home this week-end. John has completed his four years' service with the U.S. Marines and will be at home subject to call.
