MISS SLAUGHTER TO SPEAK AT BAPTIST CHURCH SUNDAY NIGHT, B.T.U. STUDY COURSE NEXT WEEK

Miss Maxine Slaughter of Raleigh, State Intermediate B.T.U. leader, will be guest speaker at the 8 o'clock evening service hour at the Baptist church Sunday, July 27.

Beginning Monday night, Miss Slaughter will conduct a B.T.U. Study course each evening through Friday, at the church, and a class of thirty to forty is expected to take this course.

EXHIBITION OF FOLK ARTS AND CRAFTS BEGINNING AT MUSEUM TUESDAY

An exhibition of folk arts and hand crafts from Macon and surrounding counties including upper South Carolina and Georgia, will open at Highlands Museum on Tuesday, July 29th. This is to be a loan exhibition and the people are asked to lend any handmade articles they have that will add to the interest of the exhibition either things of long ago times or the present day, including bed quilts, spreads, woven towels, linens, tables, chairs, all kinds of furniture, carving, decorative arts and anything connected with the home or farm.

The library will be open Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings from ten to twelve o'clock, and Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday afternoons from four to six o'clock, from now through the first week of September.

A large old-fashioned loom and a cotton spinning wheel have been promised for the occasion and Miss Bragg, museum director, hopes to have an operator for both on hand. The gift shops are also oc.
