

HIGHLANDS COMMUNITY THEATRE PRESENTS
CANDIDA THIS AFTERNOON

Miss Muriel Brasler, Broadway actress, will play the leading role of Candida in the George Bernard Shaw comedy to be presented by Highlands Community Theatre in the School Theatre here this afternoon, at a matinee performance at 3 o'clock.

Miss Brasler, who is in her early twenties, has already had a varied and successful stage career. She graduated from the Sarah Laurence School where she specialized in dramatics, then went right onto the stage, playing in Tapestry in Gray with Elissa Landi. Later she rehearsed with Leslie Howard for his production of Hamlet, but left to accept the feminine lead at the Pittsburg Playhouse for the winter season. In addition Miss Brasler has played in summer theatres at Bar Harbor, Southampton, Long Island, the Red Barn at Locust Valley, L. I., and at the Reene Summer Playhouse in New Hampshire.

The Boy Scout hut on Main Street has been loaned temporarily for the use of the Community Theatre, and tickets are on sale at the hut between eleven and twelve thirty each day. Composing the ticket committee are the Misses Harriet Zahner, Esther Cunningham, Mary Pugh, Anne Black, Sooky Terhune, Mrs. Russell and a few others acting under the direction of the Box Office Chairman, Winnie Eskrigge.

Lucy Storm, formerly Lucy Trosdal of Savannah, who is a professional actress, is in Highlands en route to fulfill an engagement at a summer theatre in New England, and has been secured to play the lead of Candida when the Highlands Community Theatre takes this play to Brevard on Tuesday, August 12th. Due to a conflicting engagement, Miss Brasler will have to return to New York before the 12th, and the Theatre is fortunate to have Lucy Storm succeed Miss Brasler as leading lady in the play. Miss Storm has formerly played this part at the Royal Academy in London.

Dr. and Mrs. Thomas Parker of Greenville, S.C., arrived Monday for a ten-day visit with Dr. Parker's aunts, the Misses Marguerite and Clare Ravenel. Dr. Parker volunteered for service in the U.S. Navy last fall and is stationed in Atlanta, where he is a member of the aviation examining Board.
