M. Allen: "That's easy, eat yeast cakes."

R. Wilkinson (walking down the hall and calling): "Crush, Crush, Crush."
Pattie: "Were you calling me?"

B. Dellinger: "Yes, and I like to meet people I can be congealed with."

Dot Miller: "Have you any invisible hair nets?"

Clerk: "Yes ma'am."

D. M.: "Let me see them please."

Lena Tidwell: "Do you like conundrums?"

N. C. S. Guy: "I-er-, yes I guess so—but I never ate any."

A. H. W. (looking at a pair of brown silk hose): "I want some the same color only black."

"Internal organs is wrong" by a brilliant English student.

C. T.: "Are late hours good for one?"

C. H.: "No, but they are for two."

Mary Blount Martin (regarding her C. Symphony program with a puzzled air): "Please tell me, do they play all that fine reading too?"

He was named Thomas Henry from the Apostle Thomas.

F. Anderson: "Goodness! I knew there was a Thomas Iscariot but I never heard of a Thomas Henry."

J. Holoman (reading dramatically): "The scoundrel stabbed him in his victuals." (vitals.)

Grace Moore: "He writes such an eligible hand that I can hardly read why he writes."

She Wanted to Watch Him.

"Will you have gas, madam?" inquired the dentist, as a stout, elderly woman entered his office.

"Well," she replied with a doubtful glance at the doctor, "you don't suppose I'm going to let you tinker about me in the dark, do you?"

The captain of an Atlantic liner approached a miserable looking man leaning over the railing. "Waiting for the moon to come up, eh?" he asked good naturedly.

"Oh, dear me," ejaculated the ill one, "has that got to come up too?"

COLLEGIATE PRESS

Queens College—The Phi Beta Chi Science Club held its initiation on Saturday evening. After the initiation a banquet was given by the members to Honorary Members from the faculty, the new members and several prominent physicians from Charlotte who have given several lectures to the Science Classes during the year. The Banquet was given at the Guthrie Apartments and an enjoyable evening was spent by all.

Elon College, N. C., March 20.—A unique and delightful entertainment was given here last Friday evening when the Y. W. C. A. put on a County Fair in the Men's gymnasium. The principal feature of the entertainment came in the form of the free attractions, consisting of comic readings, dialogues, and popular songs rendered by the Y. W. girls, while gay decorations, side shows, fortune tellers, wienie stands and clowns gave to the whole the touch of a real county fair. A faculty "take off" in which a sham faculty meeting was cleverly executed by the students, proved to be a very amusing climax to an evening of enjoyment. A silver offering was taken at the door which will go towards the construction of a Y. W. C. A. hut.

The arrival of twins was told to Ethel, the ten-year-old daughter: "Oh, dear me," said the little girl, "Mama has been getting bargains again."

An Irishman had just "come over" and, being hungry, went to one of the swellest hotels in New York. When the waiter appeared to take his order he said: "Bring me the best you have."

After being gone a few minutes the waiter returned with a glass of water, a bunch of celery, and a lobster.

When about time to check him, the waiter returned to the customer, asking why he had not eaten his meal.

"Well," replied the man, "I drank the water, and smelled the bouquet, but I'll be durned if I can go the bug."
