ANNUAL BANQUET IS GIVEN IN HONOR OF THE SENIOR CLASS

Wednesday evening, April twelfth, the class of '23 entertained the class of '22 at the Annual Junior-Senior banquet. The Junior class officers—Louie Mays, Elizabeth Kendrick, Tommy Underwood, and Woodie Harris were assisted in receiving the guests in the parlors by Dr. and Mrs. Charles E. Brewer and Miss Gertrude Royster.

Tastefully decorated tables were arranged in the shape of a U in the college dining room which was lighted by parchment shaped lights and by a lighted man in the moon which hung above a background of lattice-work covered with dogwood. "The Man in the Moon"—the Seniors' mascot—was further carried out in the green menu cards. The following courses were served.

I

Manhattan Soup

II

Creamed Turkey in Patties

Cranberry Jelly Olives and Celery

French Fried Sweet Potatoes

DR. HUBERT ROYSTER MAKES AN ADDRESS

In our series of lectures on the various occupations and professions open to women today, Dr. Hubert Royster's on the profession of medicine had a peculiar appeal. Women have been successful in all the fields of medicine except in surgery and there have been only two famous women surgeons. The reason for this is not lack of ability, said Dr. Royster, but perhaps distaste for the work or lack of nerve and there is no reason why in the next generation there should not be successful women surgeons.

To be a doctor there are three primary and three higher prerequisites. First, general education, second, two years at a medical school with one year in a hospital and a license to practice. The three higher characteristics are brains, health, character.

TWO CANTATAS ARE GIVEN BY THE CHOIR

Two most entertaining cantatas were presented on the evening of April 20th by the Meredith Chorus in the College Auditorium. The first was Nature and Love by Tschaiakowsky; the second, The Fisher Maidens, by Henry Smart. The solo parts were taken by Misses Stitzel, Snider and Rodiger, with Miss Eiberg at the organ and Miss Goldsmith at the piano. The cantata was directed by Dr. Brown.

A complete legend as follows was carried out by The Fisher Maidens. A group of gay fisher maidens, welcoming toil as their daily work set sail to procure food for those at home. Leaving the well-known bay and the fishing village behind they sail into the sunset.

When the wind has left them tossing lazily on the sea one of their number began to sing the story of Lillian, a maiden allured to her death by a group of mermaids under the

PRESS ASSOCIATION ENJOYS PROFITABLE CONVENION AT W. F. C.

The Fourth Semi-Annual Convention of the N. C. Collegiate Press Association assembled at Wake Forest College April twenty-first and twenty-second. Practically all the college publications of the State were represented. At the first meeting Friday night at eight o'clock after the address of welcome by Mr. J. F. Hoge the convention was addressed by Mr. O. J. Coffin Editor of the Raleigh Times on "The Practical Uses of a College Newspaper." Following this an informal reception was tendered the delegates by the staff of the Wake Forest Student.

The regular business session of the association took place Saturday morning. The program was as follows:

Address—"The News a College Magazine should Publish."Pres. W. L. Poteat

Address—"A Retrospect of College Publications by a Former College Editor."

Mr. Edgar Folk (New Jersey Ledger).

Address—"Division of a College Magazine."...Mr. C. S. Greene (Wake Forest Student.)

The reports of the secretary, treasurer and executive committee followed. After a brief report from other publications represented, the time and place for the next meeting of the association was decided. The invitation extended by Miss Bertha Moore to Meredith as the place of meeting in October was accepted. Before adjournment the following officers were elected.

Pres.—Alice Lowe, (Meredith).

First Vice-Pres.—Lois Rogers (Queens).

Sec. Vice-Pres.—R. S. Perkins (U. N. C.)

Secy.—Fannie Paul (Meredith).

Treas.—Leston Elkins (Davidson).

Saturday afternoon the members of the convention were the guests of the Athletic Council at the game between Wake Forest and N. C. S.

A most delightful "five-page edition" banquet was given Saturday night in honor of the delegates by the staff of Old Gold and Black. After adjustment of business left over from the morning session the convention stood adjourned to meet in Raleigh the last week in October, as the guest of Meredith College.

The representatives of Meredith were Bertha Moore, editor and Fannie Paul editor-elect of The Acorn and Katherine Brown editor and Alice Lowe editor-elect of The Twig.
