Louie Mays, Junior Class President, acted as toastmistress. In her welcome to the class of '22 she referred to the ill feeling between the two classes when her classmen were Freshmen and even when they were Sophomores. But now as upper classmen and joint occupants of the Junior-Senior library—reading room say the faculty—the two classes meet as real friends. She then called on Ruth Livermon, as the president of the incoming Senior class of '23, to propose a toast to '22. To Ruth Livermon's toast Mary Tillery, the Senior President, gracefully responded. Barre Pritchett next proposed a toast to the Senior mascot—"The Man in the Moon." A toast to the President, Dr. Brewer, was then given by Lois Kendrick. Dr. Brewer responded in his usual pleasing manner. The next toast was to the Dean by Ruby Spainhour. At first Miss Royster didn't understand that this meant her as dean of women but in her friendly gym class way she thanked "1917." A. Lowe next proposed that we drink to the boys—arrayed (in dress suits) as never was Solomon in all his glory. Mr. Dave Vansant, Student Government President at N. C. State, responded to this toast. The last toast—to Meredith—was given by Beulah Rowland.

The toastmistress then said she thought it a good idea that the class of '22 had changed its mascot from a black devil to the man in the moon for she heard that the new mascot had been busy lately. Then the orchestra, which had been playing during the evening, struck up the wedding march and tiny little Miss Barbara Harris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles U. Harris, dressed as a cupid bride with white tulle dress and orange blossom wreathed veil entered the dining room. She carried a miniature bridal bouquet of lilies-of-the-valley and bride's roses in which was embedded the announcement of the approaching marriage of Ruth Couch, of the Senior Class to LeRoy Allen of Raleigh. Louie Mays read the announcement, the date—May 30, Meredith Chapel, and suggested that the guests follow the bridal party to the parlors for best wishes and congratulations.

The banquet was a success in every way. One girl summed it up correctly when she wrote in her Diary—"Food, orchestra, dress suits, evening dresses, flowers, surprises and what not—."

Margaret Wyatt spent the week-end in town with her aunt, Mrs. Wyatt.

CHEMISTRY CLUB MEETS

The Curie Chemistry Club members enjoyed on Friday, April 21, a most interesting discussion of the rubber industry, discussion conducted by the Junior chemists. Slides showing various stages of growth of rubber trees and refining process were operated by Miss Miriam Ruffin, and a paper on the manufacture of synthetic rubber was read by Miss Erma Moore.

The business session which followed resulted in the election of Miss Bernice White, president for the year 1922-1923 and Miss Edna Grubbs, vice-president; the remaining offices to be filled by the incoming Sophomores.

Profuse expression of appreciation is offered Dr. Winston for her untiring effort and interest in our club.
