TURKEY DAY OCCASION FOR MUCH MERRIMENT

marginal attention, while we gave to the turkey our focal attention, as it were.

It occurred to a few of us that Thanksgiving is one of our very few holidays besides Christmas which is not connected with war or the making of peace, some war hero or some war-like celebration. Thanksgiving was instituted for the primary purpose of thanking God for all his benefits to us, for prosperity, liberty and health, and as such it has come down to us today. We think more of the material side than we used to, but then the whole world is more materialistic than it used to be. And it is not a very bad thing if, after eating a long-anticipated, satisfying Thanksgiving dinner, one can feel at peace with his conscience and fellow-men. Perhaps this is one of its best results.

With college girls, though, the best thing about Thanksgiving is that it is only about three weeks from Christmas holidays and is a sort of foretaste of the joys Christmas portends. But of that and its joys let others, more efficient tell.

ORDERLY ROOMS

"We all know that 'cleanliness is next to Godliness,' yet few of us try to put the fact in practice. Of course, bodily we may all be clean but if our rooms are not clean, tidy and neat, we, ourselves, have not obtained the degree of cleanliness that we each should strive for.

I wonder how many of the rooms in our different dormitories are swept and tidied each morning. I wonder how many girls give their rooms the same time and attention every morning which they give them on "inspection day." Twice each week, it is safe to say, I believe, that every room in college is in good order. But how long do the majority of them remain in order? Is it fair to Miss White or to the girls who do give their rooms daily attention for us to clean our rooms only twice every seven days?

Do we want to live in untidy rooms? Are we comfortable in disorderly rooms? Can we study under such conditions?

Certainly not, still very few of us take the time to deter the conditions. We excuse ourselves on the ground that we do not have time, but that will not answer, because we do have time. If we would only spare just a few minutes each morning to do a good thing for ourselves, we would soon find that it required less and less time. We would become more and more careful and the conditions of our dormitories, as a whole, would be greatly improved.

Girls, let's try to be neater and more tidy for our own good, for the good of the other girls, and for the good of the college.

THANKSGIVING DAY BRINGS MANY TREATS

And Meredith did not eat alone, either, for there were several old Meredith girls back home to spend the day, a few friends from State College and, of course, a large representation from Wake Forest College at each table.

DR. MADDY SPEAKS ON COUNTING THE COST

Next, it would cost the pangs of an accusing conscience, for only Jesus can take away the sting.

Third, it would cost the loss of a life of helpful service. Is it right to waste a life and near its close offer God the remnant?

Not to be a Christian would cost us the self-respect and moral tone of womanhood, yea, even the price of each immortal soul.

STUDENT MEMBERS AT PULLEN ENTERTAINMENT

The second course was popcorn in bags. We were told that we would find a small package in the bottom of the sack, but we must not fish in and get it out. We ate hurriedly, and we drew out a package which contained a cookie. The one who could eat his first and say "enough" won. Inside we found mixed in, soda, soap, and other mixtures to make them more delicious. We had enough. Punch was served, and in the midst of this we were alarmed by the "buzz-z-ing" of a clock, which said get on our hats and leave as quick as possible. That was the sad time, but then, all good things must end sometimes.

"Are these beans pickled?" asked Lib.

Miss Law: "If you eat them they will be preserved."

Lib: "They will at least be canned."
