 "Rastus, is my hawth warm?"
 "Yessah, the wahmest ah was evah in."

Rodie: What are wieners?
 Lois: Hamburgers with tightens on!

"Samson," said a nearby Phillistine, "I see you have a hair cut."
 "Yes," replied Samson, "that's my weakness now."

Miss Herndon: Do you know Lincoln's Gettysburg Address?
 Della: No mam, I thought he lived at the White House.

It takes somebody with a lot of horse sense to say "neigh."

CONTESTS BETWEEN CHOWAN COLLEGE LITERARY SOCIETIES

 Craddock, Alathenian; secretary, Agnes Harrell, Lucalian. Query: Resolved, That the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill would be beneficial to the American farmer. Affirmative, Alathenian, Margaret Lawrence, Mary Whitley, Isla Poole, alternate; Negative, Lucalian, Wilma Ellington, Mary Lou Jones, Mary Lou Martin, alternate.

10 P. M.—Reception.

SONG AND READING CONTEST

The song contest for the college song most suitable for general, dignified college usage, occurred at 8:30 in the afternoon. Both societies were full of "pep" and enthusiasm, and they sang their songs well.

The Alathenian song, "Long Live Chowan," was given first choice by the judges. It was written by Miss Mary E. Whitney, professor of Romance Languages at Chowan. This song was sung by a sextet composed of Ethel Taylor and Lillian Deloche, sopranos; Christine Stillman and Elizabeth Webb, altos; and Rosalind Horne and Ann Downey, tenors.

The Lucalian song, "Chowan Invicta," was given second choice. It was written by Mrs. John M. Sewell, bursar of the college. This song was sung by the entire society. This Chowanian has printed in it both of the winning songs and others that were presented in the contest.

The judges of the song contest were: Miss Eva Lawrence, Mrs. Eliot Nicholson, and Miss Sarah Vaughan, all of Murfreesboro.

The reading contest, which was scheduled for 4 o'clock, was won by the Alathenian reader, Miss Inez Parker. Her reading was a comedy entitled, "A Wedding," by John Kirkpatrick.

SOCIETY DEBATE

The query: Resolved, That the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill would be beneficial to the American farmer was debated by representatives from the Alathenian and Lucalian societies in the evening at 8 o'clock.

The negative, upheld by the Lucalian representatives, Wilma Ellington and Mary Lou Jones, with Mary Lou Merritt alternate, won the debate. The silver loving cup, which was to be held permanently by the society winning the debate three times, belongs to the Lucalian Society.

The affirmative, upheld by the Alathenian representatives, Margaret Lawrence and Mary Whitley, with Isla Poole alternate, contended strongly for the bill, but they met strong opposition.

Margaret Lawrence, the first speaker on the affirmative, was judged the best speaker of the evening. She delivered her speech distinctly and forcefully.

The judges were: The Hon. W. L. Knight, Weldon; the Rev. Lonnie Sasser, Auland; and Mr. J. B. Henning, Murfreesboro.

RECEPTION

The annual Society Day reception followed the debate on the evening of Society Day. A large crowd gathered in the parlors and society halls, which were beautifully decorated with jonquils and ferns. In the main hall Mr. and Mrs. John M. Sewell and Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Day, Jr., served punch.

N. C. STUDENT VOLUNTEER CONFERENCE

 various colleges. On Friday evening Dr. W. L. Poteat, President Emeritus of Wake Forest College, spoke on "The Christian Message." He discussed briefly the changes that have taken place in the Christian religion from the days of Christ up to the present. He also said that we should not tell people they have to give up all for Christ, but rather to tell them that they gain everything in Christ.

On Saturday morning Mrs. A. G. Dixon, a missionary to Japan, made a very practical address on "The Task of World Missions." She gave, as three characteristics which a missionary needs, great love, faith, and courage.

Dr. J. F. Love of Raleigh spoke on "An Adequate Missionary Motive." Miss Olive Gould, Educational Secretary for the Student Volunteer Movement, gave a vivid description of what a day on the mission field is like. She spoke on "An Adequate Purpose for World Missions." The closing address was made by Dr. A. C. Reid of Wake Forest College, on the subject "Spiritual Prerequisites for the World Task."

Several students appeared on the program. Probably the most interesting were the two young ladies from China who spoke on the subject "Foreign Students in America." These two young ladies are now in school at Greensboro College.

On Saturday night the Student Volunteer Group of High Point College presented a play, "Larola," which was very impressive, and in keeping with the spirit and purpose of the conference. It showed how Christ "breaks the iron gates of caste" in India.

The Devotional Periods, led by Nina Roberts of Bennett College for Women, were very impressive.

As the Conference closed, students realized, more than ever before, the great opportunity that challenges them as young Christians to accept the call of the Master and to give of their best in His service. In his talk on "Why I am Going to the Foreign Field" Mr. Edwin B. Dozier, of Wake Forest College, expressed the purpose of many others when he said, "Jesus Christ is my commanding passion, and that is why I go to the foreign field."

JANIE BURNS TO GIVE GRADUATING RECITAL

 tive personality that readily wins friends for her. Last year she was voted Meredith's most entertaining girl. This year she has competently served as president of her class. She has always been ready to help in anything that she could. Everyone is looking forward to her recital with the keenest sort of interest and pleasure.

Her program is as follows:
 Prelude and Fugue—E Minor—Mendelssohn.
 Arietto de Balletto—Gluck.
 Sonata, Op. 53—Schubert.
 Allegro Vivace.
 Con Moto.
 Scherzo.
 Polonaise, Op. 26, No. 1—Chopin.
 Nocturne, Op. 62, No. 2—Chopin.
 Waltz, Op. 34, No. 1—Chopin.

DR. BREWER TALKS TO INTER-CITY ROTARIANS

 program. The stunt was given for a prize and each city was competitor with the other. Edenton was winner of the contest.

Dr. Brewer spoke on "What Vocational Service Means to Me." This is a subject that is being discussed in all the Rotary Clubs throughout the world.

Dr. Brewer says it was a very interesting meeting and continued the fine feeling that prevails between these three cities.

Our president says, "I had a mighty good time, seeing my former students of Meredith and Wake Forest and all their parents and friends."

He says he was glad to see the fine town of Edenton with its patriotic traditions and its beautiful location.

REIDSVILLE MAN WINS PRESIDENCY ON 1ST BALLOT

 for this position were P. M. Conway, C. W. Arnold, R. A. Hall, E. E. Allen, and J. D. McConnell. All save King, Arnold and Norton were eliminated on the first ballot, Arnold being dropped on the second, leaving Norton and King in the race on the third and last ballot.

Carl R. Pritchett, class of '30, is from Reidsville, N. C. Pritchett's honors since entering Davidson have been varied. He first made himself known on the basketball court with the freshman team. He worked rapidly in that sport, making his varsity letter his sophomore year, at the end of which he was elected captain of the team for his junior year. It is very seldom that a captain is chosen from the junior class. During the season just completed, Pritchett, with his skillful forwarding and management of the team, proved to be the most valuable man on the five. Pritchett has also been especially active in the forensic activities of the college. From an alternate on the freshman intercollegiate debating team he rose to first place among twenty-five men trying out for varsity places his sophomore year. He was again selected this year to participate in two varsity debates. He is a member of Alpha Phi Epsilon, national forensic fraternity, and of the Ministerial Band. He has been an active worker in Y. M. C. A. fields.

Thad Brock and Walter Fraley of the rising junior class, vice presidents-elect of the student body, are both from Baxton Springs. Each have made their varsity letters, Fraley in football and Brock in both wrestling and football.

The nominations for these offices were made by a special committee appointed by the Student Council. Nominations were also called for from the floor. Contrary to previous custom, the nominations were made and posted a day before the elections were run off.

DEAR DIARY

 I saw them cutting the top out of one with very large scissors. I suppose that it was too high, and they thought that it would look better. There are stone benches around the fountain, too. I guess that they will let us take our dates out there when it gets warmer, and sit around and look at the little goldfish.

Tuesday: I heard that Miss Welch gave a demonstration in the cookery lab this afternoon on "Invalid Diet." I almost know that all of the seniors, some of the juniors and sophomores, and one or two of the freshmen went to hear and see her demonstrate, because I expect that they will be needing such training soon. My mother and my aunts always told me that all of the opposite sex are invalids.

Wednesday: The Carolina Playmakers were here tonight. I hated to pay seventy-five cents to go with my roommate, but it was worth the money because I completely forgot that she was by my side, or that anyone was near me when I heard that strong, deep R. R.

voice and saw those dark entreating eyes. Diary, I wonder if she were only making believe that she loved him. I've a notion that it was not so hard to pretend anyway.

Thursday: Just a week from today and I will be at home, Diary. For once I shall cast away all thoughts of any kind of work; books will be put in a dark corner, and even you, dear Diary, I fear will be cast aside. What? Oh, yes, only until I come back, because then your leaves will hardly hold all that I will have to tell you. R. R.

"Johnnie," said the teacher, "who is it that sits idly all day while the others are working?"

Johnnie paused a second, then his eyes brightened, and he blurted out, "The teacher!"

Surgeon: I feel duty bound to tell you that four out of five patients die under this operation. Now is there anything you'd like for me to do for you before I begin?

Colored Gent: Yas, suh, kindly hand me mah hat.

At THIS Store You Can Be Stylish —Economically

It seems to be universally accepted that It Costs Money to Be Fashionable.

Yet it is noticeable how many women who patronize this store contrive both To Keep Within Their Means and Still Keep in Step With Style.

Much of the credit, of course, attaches to our patrons themselves, who combine a keen eye for What is Correct in Fashions, with due appreciation of What is Moderate in Price.

Our own contribution is that we specialize in Keeping the Modes Within Moderation.

We choose a model from the viewpoint of merit, but we price it from the viewpoint of merchandise.

We mark it at its worth.

We never mark it at a premium.
