WELCOME TO ALUMNAE TO ATTEND STUNTS

Stunt Night Is Stunt Day Too For Second Time in History

To the Alumnae especially there is a welcome to the college on November 2. Stunt night has always been one of the biggest affairs of the whole school year, but last November we made Stunt Night into Stunt Day, and beginning immediately after lunch, there were athletic contests, song contests, and a full program until evening, when the regular stunts were held. This year the program is somewhat different and we want every old girl back with us on this day to help in the big celebration.

So because we want you so, and because, we hope, you want to come back, won't you do your level best to pack yourself in your "lizzie" and make it for Raleigh on November second to witness the most colorful spectacle since back in the days when you "mezurkered" for Mrs. Sorrell on May Day?

CLASS STUNTS WILL BE HELD IN AUDITORIUM NOV. 2

Revival of Interest As Day Draws Near

Quiet! Lights! Curtains! Slowly the big curtains open. "Ah-h-h-Beautiful! Golly!" What a comparison—or should I say—contrast—to the scene back-stage, for one poor maiden had just fallen over a few trees propped around, and was lying with her feet straight in the air! "Please help me!" cries a Junior. "I'm about to have a 'Debutante Ball' all by myself!"

The Senior Stunt is over. The Juniors rush around looking like a kindergarten having recess. The Sophomores come forward, unearth their portions, and make their clever presentation. By now it is the Freshies' bedtime, but they unbend long enough to give their Grand Finale.

Now the man is saying, "Award this cup to—"

Note: A page is here missing. Everyone is asked to be present in the auditorium at 8 o'clock on November 2 for an announcement concerning this vital question.

VERSE COMES TO VERSE

At 5:45 the Studes, Alumnae, and dreamy-eyed faculty are going to gather out on the front steps. With all the volume they can muster they're going to sing all five stanzas of the Alma Mater, and show all Raleigh and surrounding territories how it oughta be done! Come get an earful of blushing rhododendrons, rejoicing deserts, and blooming fields! Step right up, folks!

Hold Yo' Hosses

You Can't Stunt These Gals

Folks, listen here! You're gonna have the chance of a life time! "What is it?" you ask. "Losing fallen arches?" "2,000,000 a year for the rest of your life?" Nay, more than these. It is, in short, the Alumnae Stunt.

All the wisdom of former stuntsters will be used. For months—no, for years (I might as well make it good!)—these marvelous actresses have been laboring over their production. There will be extravagant dance routines; brilliant dialogue; gorgeous music; a cast of thousands; millions of dollars lavished on costumes and scenery. Never before has such a marvelous plot emerged. A truly super-production! These good ole gals are gonna out-do Mr. Cecil B. DeMille himself.

Mustn't miss it! Four o'clock on the dining room steps.

Class Songs To Be Sung On Ad Building Steps

Have you dreams you want to realize? Do you want to win a prize? If so, join our write-a-class-song-or-write-a-tune contest. It's all so simple—if you aren't musical, try your hand at words to a song—if you are blessed with musical talent, simply put down on paper one or two of those tunes that race through your mind.

All the people are entering this contest. Frances Pittman, of the class of '37 said to one of our reporters, "It was all so sudden. I had no idea of winning a prize, but a day or two later, I was told that I was one of the lucky eight."

The winning selections will be sung November 2 on the front steps from 5:00 to 6:00 o'clock. Every class is going to enter its entire membership into the booming of the larynx!

Hail ye, alumnae, be there to hear your little sisters!

ALUMNAE-STUDENT CONTEST AFTERNOON NOV. 2

Held On Athletic Field of College

Attention, Students! Keen competition! Witness the major sports events of the age! You'll have to be argus-eyed to see them all because they take place at the same time. These conquests will appeal to every type.

Are you coquettish? Do you long for olden days, bicycles-built-for-two, daisies that won't tell? Then don't miss this croquet contest!

Are you a Tilden enthusiast? Then go watch our young racketeers take net profits. The courts are in good condition, judge for yourself. And these contestants have the vim, vigor, and serve it takes to go thru their paces for benefit of ye olde Alma Mater.

Volley ball for the girl who enjoys exercise of a more elevating type—and how these class teams can keep that ball going! It will be as fascinating as watching the fireman climb the greased pole—we might have that next year. Come on out and keep your class spirit as high as the ball!

This last contest is one requiring humor and patience, and acquiring dexterity and precision. See Mr. Tyner's education class concerning pitching pennies! In case you haven't guessed, it's a horse-shoe pitching contest. Cast the lucky loop for a winner! Win our undying esteem and admiration! Horse feathers!

Attention, Students! The above contests take place at three o'clock on the athletic field on Stunt Day! Hear ye! Make this a gala occasion by gracing one of the sports with your presence and keep your class colors flying!

Let's All Get Together And Call it a Day

Lay to, my hearties, and make this whole gala afternoon such a rip-roaring success that all those Higher-Up will get it that we need an entire day next year to spend in these frivolities.

Be on time at two o'clock with your gay sashes and lofty spirits for the palio, which will take place down that oyster-strewn drive of ours, and from start to finish, show 'em what you've got! In the meantime, go easy on those wicked biceps so you can swing that mean arm on November 2 in such a way that everyone will know that we need more than Saturday afternoon!

All Students Participating in Gala Parade Down Avenoo

This year a new feature, the Palio, is going to be presented at 2:00 o'clock on Stunt Day. All the students in each class are going to parade in a body down the oyster-strewn driveway, wearing gay sashes, and perhaps, tophats, of her class color. There is going to be a band at the head of the whole procession, distinctly rivaling Hoot Mon Sousa.

After the parade, from each class there are going to be contestants for the horse race—not real live Dobbins—but nags composed of a couple of darling young ladies stooping gleefully under hides! At the sound of the gun, they must away, lumbering several hundred feet to the journey's end, while voices cheer and hats fly up! Come on, Kentucky Belle, get a move on. Watch Stardust loop-to-loop and take to her heels!

All Alumnae and faculty are needed most essentially on this occasion to clap for the thundering herd.

Prizes will be presented for the gayest and prettiest costumes (they need not be elaborate, however) of each class, and also to the winner of the horse race!

Remember at 2:00 o'clock on the afternoon of November 2!

SHOW YOUR PEDDLE AND ENTER BIKE RACE

Costumes of the Gay Nineties To Be Donned

"Daisy, Daisy, give me your answer do,
I'm half crazy all for the love of you,
It won't be a stylish marriage
We can't afford a carriage
But you'll look sweet upon the seat
Of a bicycle built for two."

If you ask us, any of you will look sweet on any kind of a bicycle and we want everybody to enter the bicycle races on stunt day. Dress like the Daisy of the poem did—long hooped skirts and plumed hats which, though they're not convenient for cycling, were quite the thing to galavant in then. There will be prizes offered to the class with the winning bicycles and also for those dresses most nearly resembling "Daisy." It's going to be a rip-roaring time with cinders and rocks a-flying, and all the classes are expected to turn out and put a bet on their "Class 'Daisy!'"
