SPORT SCOOPS

By CATHERINE CHIFFELLE

Before getting into our present-day activities, I'd like to back track a little bit and pick up the basketball news. The reports of it were rather cut off in the middle last time. The juniors and freshmen had it out with the junior team emerging victorious from that tilt. The same evening the seniors and sophomores had an interesting little combat—more entertaining, by far, than skillful. This narrowed the final playing teams down to the juniors and sophomores. It looked like an evenly matched game, but toward the end the junior took the lead to prove themselves the better team. Ruth Greene and Ida Howell, with 5 and 4 baskets, respectively, to their credit, helped push their team on. Eleanor Gibbs, with 7 baskets, was the highest scoring sophomore. This game was the most exciting of the year, not only because it was the final and deciding game, but also because of the closeness of the scores which were almost the same, right up until the very last. Even the final score was very close, 28 against 25. Congratulations to the juniors, the champions of the year!

This brings us up to the present. There are two major sports in action now—tennis and baseball. Tennis tryouts for class teams have been about completed. The freshmen show a keen interest, for many tried out. The captains of the teams—elected last fall—are: seniors, Edith Ayscue; juniors, Portia Tatum; sophomores, Margaret K. Bunn; freshmen, Beth Perry.

The next on the program is baseball. I'd like to give you the practice schedule here: Monday, juniors and freshmen; Wednesday, seniors and sophomores; Friday there is a practice for all classes. All practices are held at 4:45 on the athletic field. Add this to your schedule and come out.

One of the events of May Day, to which we are all looking forward with more than a little interest, is the annual Father-Daughter baseball game. If your parents plan to be here on that day, see if you can't interest your father in testing daughter's skill. This event is a great deal of fun, so write him as soon as possible.

Here we find the badminton tournaments in full swing, and the contest is narrowing toward the finish. Those who entered are as follows, the partners being together: Tryntje Auer and Marguerite Ward, Jean Beddingfield and Helen Byrd, Janie Parker and Ida Howell, Cora Burns and Kathleen Jackson, Virginia Lancaster and Margaret Martin, Addie Davis and Betty Clingan, Rebecca Vaughan and Victoria Wood, Elfreda Barker and Loleta Kenan, Marjorie Bullock and Lucy McNeely, Margaret K. Bunn and Nancy Stroup, Eula Hutchison and Rachel Lewis, Elizabeth Rosenblum and Nancy Calloway, Elizabeth Brownlee and A. Calheiro, the Pruitt twins, Flo Hewitt and Fay Marsh, and Margaret Hine and Catherine Chiffelle.

Soccer was discontinued because of the rainy weather, which led to lack of time—we never seem to have enough of that.

The last A. A. Board meeting was in the form of a steak fry at Allen's Pond.

Here is a little something that I think is interesting. It is about the monogram points which you may earn in badminton, ping pong, horseshoes, croquet, and archery. Here they are: 10 points for those entering all individual minor sports tournaments. Those sports are badminton, ping pong, horse-

Students Win Over Faculty At Basketball

At Basketball Game Students Impersonate Faculty Members; Student and Faculty Bands Also Added Attractions

The students won 14-2 over the faculty at the student-faculty basketball game which was held at 9:30 p.m. Wednesday, April 3, 1940, in the college auditorium. The game was under the direction of Aileen Snow, president of the Athletic Association, who also kept score. Rachel Lewis was the referee.

The faculty members playing were Misses Maude Clay Little, Betty Adkerson, Myra Williams, Ethel English, Norma Rose, Aileen McMillan, Lois Byrd and E. F. Canady, and R. W. Patrick.

The students playing were Ruth Hicks, Margaret Bunn, Margaret Martin, Avra Sacrinty, Nellie Lee Joyner, Elizabeth Brownlee, Mary Elizabeth Foster, Frances Lanier and Loleta Kenan.

Miss Frances Bailey acted as doctor and it is a good thing she was there.

Immediately preceding the game the student band, under the leadership of Miss Jean Marie Stewart of the music department, played while students imitating the faculty came in and took their seats on the faculty side of the auditorium. The following imitators were prepared by a committee made up of Margaret Martin, chairman, Betty Vernon and Corinna Sherron; Miss Anna Mae Baker, Edith Harrell; Miss Annie White, Jane Wyche; Miss Maude Clay Little, Vivien Jeffreys; Miss Ella Stagg, Celeste Hamrick; Miss Betty Adkerson, Catherine Porter; Dean J. G. Boomhour, Cornelia Herring; Dr. I. M. Mercer, Carolyn Andrews; Dr. H. E. Cooper, Sara Cole; Miss Margaret Kramer, Evelyn Short; Dr. Julia Harris, Kathleen Jackson; Dr. Edgar Henderson, Dixie Bell Bullock; Miss Ellen Brewer, Alice Justice; Mrs. Lillian Parker Wallace, Lorraine Chappell; Dr. Mary Lynch Johnson, Mary Paschall; Miss Miriam Ball, Mary Esther Williams; Miss Ethel English, Ruth Martin; Miss Sallie Marks, D. J. Bordeaux; Miss Myra Williams, Ruth Molsinger; Dr. Carlyle Campbell, Mary Elizabeth Holloway; Miss Margaret Forguess, Frieda Cuberson, and Miss Katharin Carl, Clarice Burns. The impersonators were the center of attraction during the half and immediately following the game.

As the student band stopped playing, the faculty band with their pots, pans, buckets, etc., under the leadership of E. F. Canady, played several numbers.

Virginia Council, college cheer leader, led the cheers for both the students and the faculty.

shoes and croquet. Then for each match which you win after that, you receive 5 extra points. If you win the archery tournament you will receive 50 points. Remember that all of these points are toward your monogram.

With all of the sports, major and minor, of the season there ought to be at least one person practicing something all of the light hours. Find yourself one, two, or more sports and enjoy them.

"Destry" Heralded As Unique Picture

While Marlene Dietrich's return to the screen as a belle of the old West features Universal's "Destry Rides Again," now at the Wake Theatre, there are many other unusual elements in the spectacle-filled picture.

Miss Dietrich co-stars with Jas. Stewart, who starred sensationally in "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington."

Parade of Talent
The two stars head an unusually strong supporting cast, including such well-known players as Mischa Auer, Charles Winninger, Brian Donlevy, Irene Hervey, Una Merkel, Allen Jenkins, Warren Hymer, Samuel S. Hinds, Billy Gilbert, and others.

In sharp contrast to her recent screen roles, Miss Dietrich is seen as a fighting, singing, loving entertainer in a frontier barroom, where she sings cowboy songs to the rowdy Westerners. She squares off with Una Merkel in an epic fist-fight that has been rated the feminine counterpart of the great battle in "The Spoilers."

Miss Dietrich's songs, like the rest of her role, are marked departures. They were written for her by Frank Loesser and Frederick Hollander, and include "Lit-

OLIVE BENNETT

Whenever you need someone to help you out in some way—any way you can think of—or whenever you just need to be cheered up, or perhaps calmed down a bit, just nab one of the day students as she wishes past and ask her to lead you to the president of the Town Girl's Club. Soon you will find yourself in the presence of one of the sweetest girls around. Olive Bennett—that's her name.

Not just the town girls, but the boarding students as well wonder how anybody can be as pleasant all the time as Olive is. She's always a lady, and

"Her voice is ever gentle, soft and low—

A lovely thing in woman."
But don't think that because Olive is definitely a lady that she can't conduct herself in the same carefree, schoolgirl manner peculiar to all college girls. She can squeal just as much as you can when such procedure will add to the fun of the gang.

In case you are wondering, Olive was born in North Carolina's capital city (Raleigh, if you've forgotten!) about the same number of years ago that most seniors were. She now lives with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Bennett, and little sister, Frances, in Cary.

If you are still interested in statistics, you may have a few more: During her four years at Meredith, Olive has been active in every phase of town girl life, insofar as it was related to Meredith. In every-thing of the Town Girl's Club has tried to do, Olive has been a great help, and as president this year, she has carried the aims of the club farther than they have gone before.

Olive is a major in grammar grade education, and if she continues as she did in her supervised teaching (note the terminology!) she'll make a whopping good teacher. She gets a good deal of experience with children by teaching a Sunday school class.

It has been said that Olive likes red-haired boys, if they are good looking. Olive, is that true? Don't hold out on us.

Now, of course Olive's preference for certain men has no connection with this, but you just must know that she is a grand cook, and loves to cook.

Sometimes, however, she is too absent-minded to remember to get rid of her absent-mindedness before she goes into the kitchen. By way of illustration, I'll have to let you in on this: One night when Olive had taken great pains to make biscuits and cut them out nicely, she, instead of placing them on a baking sheet and sliding them into the oven to bake, just put them on a plate and carried them right to the dining room table! She still blushes over that. Wonder why she was absent-minded while being domestic?

But, gee, Olive is a swell girl. And she likes most everything from food to music. She sings well and plays the piano beautifully. She's just an all-around girl. The town girls are lucky to have her, and we boarding girls wish we had her more often.

Four Choirs Give Festival

Choirs from four Negro colleges, Bennett, St. Augustine's, Shaw, and Agricultural and Technical, presented a music festival in Memorial Auditorium Monday night, April 8, at 8 o'clock.

Shaw University assisted in promoting the event by including it in the series of musical events provided annually for its students. Proceeds from the sale of tickets were applied to a fund to enable Negro boys and girls in Raleigh to receive assistance in taking advantage of camping opportunities this summer in the Reedy Creek unit of the Crabtree area.

the Joe," "You've Got That Look," and "The Boys in the Back Room."

Ideal for Stewart
Stewart is seen as the shy young deputy who brings law and order to the frontier without the use of guns.

Joe Pasternak, who has produced all the Deanna Durbin and Gloria Jean successes, exerted his production skill in assembling the notable cast and filling the picture with spectacular scenes. Among these are gun battles, hand-to-hand fights, riots by angered mobs and a climax in which hundreds of women demolish the big saloon.

Miss Dietrich, Stewart, Winninger, Auer, Donlevy and all the other players are seen in action that ranges from stark drama to bright comedy.

U. S. Census Asks Our Help

Uncle Sam is asking college students to write home and remind their parents to "count them in" when the census taker comes around during April. College students, temporarily away from home to attend school, should be counted as members of the household in which they usually reside. Students who have no permanent residence other than the places in which they are living while attending school or college, however, should be enumerated there, and such students should call or write to the district supervisor for the census if they are not enumerated.

It is also necessary that the students supply their parents with certain information they will need in order to report on them accurately. The 1940 questions are somewhat more complex than those of previous years and include such questions as the number of weeks the student worked in 1939, the number of hours he worked during the week of March 24-30, 1940, place of residence April 1, 1935, present, or if seeking work, last occupation, present or last industry and class of worker, whether at work in private or non-emergency government work during the week of March 24-30, whether assigned to public emergency work (such as NYA) during that week, and if he is often temporarily on vacation, sick leave or lay-off, if employed.

As a result of this census, information never before compiled will be made available. Thus, cooperation of all students is asked.

Waller Teaches Course Here

C. M. Waller, who is in charge of freshman sports of N. C. State College, is the instructor in the social recreation course, now scheduled in the Meredith gymnasium. This course, which lasts from 8 until 10 o'clock every Thursday evening, began on April 4 and will continue until Thursday, May 2.

Twenty-two Meredith girls and twenty-two State College boys are learning in this recreation course how to run games and how to play numerous types of games.

The students are expected to gain much from this course, as Mr. Waller is very capable and experienced in recreational work. He has had charge of social recreation in this county and in 4-H club work.
