

CLUB NOTES

Sociology Club

"Wake County Welfare Work" was the topic of discussion at the Sociology Club meeting, Thursday night, November 15, in the Hut. The guest speaker was Mrs. Josephine Kirk, superintendent of Public Welfare for Wake County. Mrs. Kirk, who was introduced by Ruth Vande Keift, reviewed the various phases of the welfare work in the county telling of some of the needs in the different fields. Also Mrs. Kirk discussed some of the possibilities for welfare work in the future and told of the need for more workers. In this connection, she mentioned the qualifications of a worker and emphasized the five most important ones—education, tact, tolerance, humor, and a love for people. At the close of her talk Mrs. Kirk led the group in an open forum, after which a social hour was enjoyed.

Helen Burt Mauney, president of the club, called the meeting to order and presided over the business session. Twenty-five members, six visitors, and six new members were present.

Barber Science Club

Mr. Meachan, taxidermist for the State Museum located here in Raleigh, spoke to the Barber Science Club in room 16 of the Science Building, on Tuesday, November 13, at seven o'clock. His subject was that of preparing and mounting animal skins. He also displayed some stuffed fish, birds, and mammalia.

MacDowell Music Club

The MacDowell Music Club met Wednesday evening in the theory room of the College Auditorium. The meeting was called to order by Betsy Jean Holt, president. During the brief business session, Joy Stilwell was elected club reporter. A varied program on "Stories Behind the World's Great Music" was presented by Helen Teachey and Lucille Sawyer. Stuart Pratt, club adviser, played a recording of Tschaiowsky's Sixth Symphony. After the program, a brief social was held.

Canaday Mathematics Club

The Canady Mathematics Club held its regular monthly meeting on November 13 in the social room of first floor Jones. New members of the club were welcomed by the president, Mabel Baldwin. Miss Laura Efrid of Hugh Morson High School spoke to the group on "Practical Application of Geometry." She showed an exhibition of designs that her students have made during their study of plane geometry. A social hour was held after a brief business session.

Lillian Parker Wallace, and to the sponsors of the two classes, Misses Doris Peterson and Mary Yarborough.

General chairman in charge of arrangements for the party was Carolyn Lockamy. Other heads of committees were as follows: program, Helen Wallis; refreshments, Mary Martin; invitations, Hilda Liles; decorations, Jean Griffith and Ruth Martin; programs, Mabel Baldwin.

About 50 were present at the party.

Counsellors

On Tuesday night, Nov. 13, each freshman and transfer met with her counsellor to discuss a unit on Meredith traditions. New students were told something of the history of Meredith, something of well-known Meredith personalities, of the class traditions, and traditional awards.

Baptists Support Expansion Idea

The Meredith Expansion Program is meeting with reasonable success in North Carolina because Baptists of this state are sensing the need of money to operate influential Christian institutions, not minimizing the significance of educational standards and the vital spiritual life in the least. Since the Wake Forest-Meredith merger discussion, leading Baptist educators have been aroused to the enlargement and the strengthening of the Council on Education. Consequently, this group, led by Claude F. Gaddy of Raleigh, has made and is making definite plans which will be announced in the near future. With sixty leaders studying and planning for this important task of Christian education, to such a task Meredith is dedicated, results are to be expected.

Meredith was aware of the meeting of the North Carolina Baptist State Convention in Raleigh recently, in more ways than one. This year the new plan of rotation of members of the Board of Trustees for Meredith took effect and six new members were elected to serve in this capacity, their term expiring in 1949. New members of Meredith's Board of Trustees are Edwin W. Yates, Raleigh; Mrs. Walter Clark, Asheville; Carroll Abbott, Elizabeth City; Claude F. Gaddy, Raleigh; W. R. Chambers, Marion; and Carl G. McGraw, Charlotte. Heretofore, the term of office lasted through life. The new plan also retired six trustees.

Other trustees of the college include J. E. Broyhill, Lenoir; Margaret S. Everett, Greenville; Eph Whisenhunt, Clayton; J. R. Hunter, Raleigh; Mabel Claire Hoggard Maddrey, Ahoskie; and Beth Carroll Taylor, Charlotte, whose terms expire in 1946. These members are elected to serve until 1947: Maude Davis Bunn, Raleigh; Harry B. Caldwell, Greensboro; Vet Molete Dorsett, Siler City; James M. Hayes, Winston-Salem; Lister A. Martin, Lexington; Alfred J. Smith, Goldsboro; and Walter H. Weather-spöon, Raleigh. The terms of Z. M. Caveness, Raleigh; Commodore T. Council, Durham; Foy Johnson Farmer, Raleigh; Anna Kitchin Josey, Scotland Neck; James Y. Joyner, La Grange, and LeRoy Martin, Raleigh, expire in 1948.

The Y.W.A. study course, originally planned for November 26-28, will not be held at this date. Due to the fact that a missionary was not available to teach the course, the study will be held some time in March, Frances Pope, president of the Y.W.A. announced recently.

Sports Review

By RUTH MARTIN

Hockey season has come to a close! Jane Middleton, manager of hockey, told me—and by the way, she probably told me so it would be sure to be seen in THE TWIG—that the tournament will be played some time in the near future. Of course, some make-up practice had to be scheduled for this week so that some of you who just found it impossible to attend enough of the regular practices could be eligible for the final tournament. These make-ups have been going on all this week and last week, so about next week we'll have the class tournaments and see just which class stands where. So watch the bulletin board to see the date and add a little class spirit to the games by being there with your mouth and voice to put in your two cents.

The number of tennis players has increased—well, you'll have to admit that two is an increase over zero! I kept looking for someone to appear on the courts so I could have some encouraging news; and really, it actually happened! Two eager-beavers have been out there playing for several days—gee, they look good, but it surely is hard for them to keep all the courts in shape right by themselves!

As for horseback riding—it's the same ole' story. Those horses are being ridden so much that they wonder sometimes if they'll ever get to rest; but since they're such good natured beasts of burden, they don't mind.

What d'ye know? It's time for me to run now, but I'll be seein' you in a couple of weeks.

Meredith Entertains Convention Delegates At Open House, Tea

Members of the faculty and student body were at home on the afternoons of November 13 and 14 from 5:00 to 6:00 to receive friends and delegates of the Baptist State Convention. Plans were made for the occasion by the social committee composed of Miss Anna Mae Baker, Miss Ellen Brewer, Mrs. Mary McCay Egerton, and Mrs. Vera Marsh. The guests were received by Miss Baker and members of the student body who showed the visitors points of interest on the campus, and the rooms on the first floor of all the dormitories were open to receive guests.

Both the parlors were decorated, and Russian tea was served by Mrs. Leroy Allen and Miss Hazel Baity one day and Miss Helen Price, Miss Louise Lanhan and Miss Jennie Hanyen the next day. The refreshments, made and served by Miss Brewer and the Home Economics Department, consisted of cookies in the shape of oak leaves surrounding a bowl of raisins and nut acorns, chocolate cakes, and cookies in the shape of fruit.

Dr. Foerster Lectures to Wake English Professors

On Tuesday evening, November 20, at 8:00 p.m., the teachers of college English in Wake County, met in the Faculty Sitting Room to discuss and hear new ideas concerning the teaching methods and materials of college English. Dr. Norman Foerster, formerly from the University of Iowa, and at present connected with the University of North Carolina, presented to the club a lecture on "English In General Education." Dr. Foerster made in the beginning three conclusions towards which he directed his points and thoughts. In brief, the three conclusions were: (1) the instruction and practice of writing and reading cannot be separated; (2) the best content in the world's great literature; and (3) the emphasis of writing should be on human values.

Dr. Foerster advocates a method of instruction in English whereby the student takes a required two years course in which the study of reading and composition are combined.

Over a period of years Dr. Foerster has experimentd with his combined study plan and other new ideas at Iowa State. Another project was a questionnaire, "What is the best way to teach writing?" which he sent to some 18 college English departments.

Succeeding Dr. Julia Hamlet Harris as president of the club is Mr. Roger Marshall.
