Forty per cent of this money collected will be spent nationally on a program of research. Sixty per cent of the money will remain in each state for education about cancer, more and better hospital facilities, etc. It has been found that 30-50 per cent of the cancer cases can be cured if treated in time.

Meredith's contribution was a part of the city and state wide campaigns. In Raleigh the goal set was reached only after an extension of the campaign dates was made, and there seemed to be a general lag throughout the state.

Sports Review

By BETTE LINNEY

On Saturday, April 27, Woman's College in Greensboro held a play day for the various colleges in the state. Meredith participated in softball and tennis, losing the opening softball game to Duke, but taking the second game from Salem College. We lost the tennis singles.

Since the war, much has been done to promote interest in sports throughout the state. Much enthusiasm is being shown and plans are being made to make such play days seasonal events.

Play Day here will be held on May 16. This is the day on which students and faculty alike let themselves go and join in the fun. Competition will be great, but win, or lose, you're in for a treat; so come on out and let's play!

Participation in softball has fallen greatly under par. The regular practices are held on Monday, Tuesday, and Thursday afternoons at five o'clock. The tournament is scheduled to begin Monday, May 13. It is conventional for big sisters to play little sisters. If the tournament is to be successful, it is imperative that more players attend these practices; so plan to come out Monday. See you there!

The date for the tennis tournament has not been announced, but dust off those rackets and be prepared to win the championship. Watch the bulletin board for further details.

Meredith Art Work Displayed in Exhibit

Peace, St. Mary's, and Meredith Students Contribute Art To State Gallery

There is now at the State Art Gallery an Art Exhibition which will last through May 15. This exhibit consists of works of the art students and instructors from Meredith, St. Mary's, and Peace Colleges. Under the instruction of Mr. John Rembert, Mr. Clayton Charles, and Miss Catherine Austell of Meredith, Miss Mabel Pugh of Peace, and Miss Katherine Morris of St. Mary's, the students of these colleges have turned out some praiseworthy work.

The works of the Meredith students are generally modern; those of Peace are quite academic; and those of St. Mary's are of both kinds. Among those Meredith students whose works are represented are Elizabeth Shelton, Meredith Cash, Martha Ann Horton, Jean Bradley. Jean Bradley's work in Commercial Art has been praised as showing a great interest in technique, and each of the other students' work has received many favorable comments.

The report is that there has been wonderful attendance at the art exhibit and many favorable comments have been made. Mr. MacLane of the State Art Gallery has said that this exhibit is the most exciting student exhibit of present art that North Carolina has had. He went further to say that the works show good instruction, sincerity, vigor, and creativeness. According to him, North Caro-

FRESHMEN FROLIC AT ANNUAL PARTY

Did you happen to walk through Johnson Hall Saturday night, April 27? And did you wonder if Meredith had turned co-ed? The occasion was the Freshmen party, and the boys were there for a purpose.

At seven o'clock the freshmen and their dates went from the parlors to the auditorium where the festivities were held. Entering through a low arch formed by bales of hay, one was greeted by a barn-like atmosphere created by the decorations. Crepe paper streamers were strung across the ceiling, and each of the posts was surrounded by hay. A harvest moon hung against the black background of the stage setting. Practice rooms had been converted into a lemonade stand and a booth from which ham sandwiches and potato chips were served later. A dummy stuffed with hay completed the scenery.

Dances, the square dance and the Virginia Reel, made up the main part of the entertainment. Mr. Fred Sloan, of State College, gave instructions in square dancing. Obra Fitzgerald presided as mistress of ceremonies, and Billie Hart was accompanist for all songs. Not to be outdone by their hostesses, several boys appeared on the program. Freddie Hatch played boogie-woogie on the piano and accompanied Elsie Corbett as she sang "Shoo-Fly Pie." Tommie Head rendered several original compositions on the trumpet. At eleven o'clock, the party came to an end as Magdelene Creech read a poem which she had written.

General chairmen for the party were Colleen Brown and Elsie Corbett. Other chairmen were as follows: Barbara Swanson and Frances Spruill, dates and invitations; Ann Drake, decorations; and Jean McLamb, refreshments.

lina and these three colleges have something of which to be proud in their art students.
