

FEATURING THE FACULTY

The month of May has been a most diligent one for many of the faculty members. The Music Department has presented to the student body enjoyable entertainment through its recitals and photography exhibition. On May 1, Mrs. Gladys Lawhon gave her first faculty recital at Meredith. Her program was taken from the following composers: Corelli-Godowsky, Loeilly - Godowsky, Mac Dowell, Chopin, Debussy, and De Falla. On May 13, Mrs. Lila LeVan Loadwick presented her piano recital which was composed of selections from Bach, Beethoven, Chopin, Ravel, Debussy, and Liapounow. Dr. Cooper turned from the organ to exhibit the first one-man show of photography in the College Art Gallery. His hobby is photography and his excellency in this field is clearly portrayed in his exhibition.

Mr. Clayton Charles and Mr. John Rembert of the Art Department exhibited some of their works in the State Art Gallery during the first of the month.

For the past two weeks the students have been enjoying the poetical side of life while reading Dr. McCurdy's A Straw Flute. They admire the versatility of their faculty.

Mr. Zeno Martin gave a picnic supper for the members of the faculty on May 10 at the chimney. This was a period of relaxation and fun.

The annual "Play Day" was scheduled for the afternoon of May 16. At this time everyone including faculty and students were to forget their classes, studies, and worries and to get together for a carefree afternoon of play. The faculty-student softball game was to be the big event of the day—but how the students wanted to be victorious for they have never won this part of "Play Day"! The weather man was disagreeable on that day and preferred to sprinkle us with showers rather than send sparkling rays across our campus. Everyone was disappointed that the event could not be held and turned to go to the Arts and Science building, the library, and their rooms to continue their studying.

These were a few of the faculty highlights during the month at Meredith. Soon our instructors will be leaving for a well deserved vacation, and the students wish them a summer's worth of pleasure and happiness.

Club Notes

BARBER SCIENCE CLUB

Members of the Barber Science Club were entertained at a picnic lunch in the Hut Tuesday, May 14. Hamburgers, cold slaw, cookies, ice cream, and punch were served. Music was enjoyed during the hour also.

TOMORROW'S BUSINESS WOMEN

Tomorrow's Business Women held its last meeting of the year Tuesday night, April 14, at 6:45 in Phi Hall. The officers for 1946-1947 were installed after which a party was held with Sis Foster and Alice Delbridge in charge. The party came to a close with the graduating seniors telling of their future plans.

set up in the rotunda, where Lulie Marshall Wyatt and Catherine Wyatt, co-chairmen of the hospitality committee, will be in charge of welcoming and registration. The class dolls will again be on display. The following are the reunion classes of 1946: 1906, 1911, 1912, 1913, 1914, 1921, 1930, 1931, 1932, 1933, 1936, 1944.

GIRLS CORRESPOND WITH SPANISH BOYS

It began a year ago this spring when Miss McDonald, a former Spanish teacher asked her Spanish classes if they would like to correspond with some South American girls. Several of the girls, including Helen Norville, signed up and eagerly awaited mail all summer. No mail came.

Early this fall, Helen went to her postoffice box and found a mysterious letter. The envelope was addressed in the most exquisite handwriting. The letter was from Barcelona, Spain, and Helen began pondering over the situation until she read the first paragraph, which said: "A friend of mine gave me your address from the local representation of the International Students' Society, and I thought it would be nice to correspond with an American girl." The writer was a student at the "Peritaji Mercantil" and was majoring in Home Economy. Helen answered, using all feminine articles because she knew Miss McDonald had said the correspondents would be girls. She awaited an answer and finally one came. Inclosed was a picture, but not of a girl. Instead, it was a very nice looking boy with a definite Spanish air. Helen was completely amazed as well as embarrassed. She read his letter, noticing the masculine articles this time. In her next letter, she apologized.

In the second letter, he asked for names and addresses of several friends as some of his friends wished to start a similar correspondence. They had to know a little Spanish, because always half of the letters are in Spanish and half are in English. She sent names and ages, so they could be easily matched, and they are Eleanor Jane Andrews, Ann Beal, Ronney Holleman, Lucye Norville, and Christine Bordeaux. All of these girls have received at least one letter, and every one has contained a picture of the boys. They spend a great deal of time after the letters arrive comparing pictures, reading the letters out loud, helping each other translate, and discussing contents.

All of the boys are in school, some in their fifth year at the University of Barcelona, and Mother Nature frowned down on what promised to be a most successful Play Day. Because of this interruption by rain, and because it is so late in the season, it will be impossible to hold Play Day this year. But why not make an hour or two of each day a "play day"? We have the facilities to fill just about every wish in the sports category—tennis, golf, softball, horseback riding—to mention only a few. Come out and play!

The softball tournament is now under way. The first game was played last week with the Freshmen and Juniors winning from the Sophomores and Seniors by a close score of eight to seven. The remaining games are to be played on Monday, Tuesday, and Thursday afternoons at five o'clock. Come and cheer your team to victory.

The new members of the Athletic Association who have been installed and are looking forward to a successful sports ditions and college songs. The regulations are divided into college policies and those rules made by the students. All "dead" material has been omitted from the new handbook. This material includes traditions no longer followed. In addition to the songs in the present handbook, the May Queen Song, Big Sister-Little Sister Song, "Hail to the Even Spirit," which is the traditional song of the even classes, and "These Bones," song of the odd classes, will appear in the new handbook. Because of the changes made in the rules, the new handbook will not be out by the end of school, but will be mailed to students during the summer.

others completing what we call undergraduate work. Most of them are interested in art, music, sports, math, and attend the British Institution to study English. Helen investigated more extensively and found that Home Economy is about the same as our economics and not Home Economics as she first thought. Evidently they are fierce advocates of poetry as much has been sailing back and forth recently.

SENIORS PREPARE CLASS DAY PROGRAM

Plans are being made for the 1945-46 Class Day exercises to be held Saturday afternoon, June 1. The chairman of Class Day is Ruth Van de Kieft of Raleigh, N. C., with Mary Jo Clayton as assistant director. Those in charge of the committees are Jane Watkins, music; Betsy Hatch, staging; Mabel Summers, programs; Josephine D. Kornegay, costumes; Willa Grey Lewis, sticks and stones; and Mary Wilson, arrangements chairman. Mary Virginia Warren, president of the Sophomore Class is planning the activities of her class. The "daisy chain" will be carried by the sophomores as they march down singing the traditional daisy chain song. They will form two lines and the seniors will march between them. The class history and prophecy will be presented in the form of a skit entitled, "Luxury Liner, Good Queen Mary-dith." The prophecy will present each senior thirty years from now, and the history will include all of the important happenings during the four years of college life. The seniors of the even class of 1946 will pass out to the sophomores the traditional sticks and stones.
