Students Discuss Chapel Attendance

At the weekly Student Government chapel meeting the student body was told that unless chapel attendance improves in the next two weeks some method of checking will have to be used. Checking rooms during chapel time by members of the Council was proposed, but the proposition was voted down, and a motion was carried to assign chapel seats by students' signing up for their seats in the places they want.

Greater Council Has First Meeting

The officers of the Y.W.A., Sunday School, and Training Union met with the Executive Council of the Baptist Student Union on Wednesday night, November 5. In this first meeting of the Greater Council the emphasis in the night's program was upon the responsibility of the officers of these organizations for whom the Executive Council merely acts as a steering committee in the total program of the Baptist Student Union. It was also stressed that the main purpose of the Greater Council

Baptist Colleges Represented Here At Faculty Meet

Meredith was host to the first inter-faculty meeting of the Baptist colleges in North Carolina on November 7 and 8. The meeting was planned by the Correlation Committee on Christian Education of the North Carolina Baptist Convention. The purpose of the session was "to have these representatives discuss policies and courses of study followed in their respective colleges with a view to achieving an increased correlation among the colleges and greater facility for students in transferring from the junior colleges to the senior colleges."

The program began on Friday with dinner in the college dining hall. Following dinner, the opening general meeting was held in Astro Hall. C. Sylvester Green, chairman of the Council on Christian Education, opened the meeting with introductory remarks about the conference. W. Perry Crouch, chairman of the Committee on Correlation, explained the general purposes of the meeting. Dean Charles Burts of Meredith stated the specific problems to be considered during the convention. The plans and procedures to be followed in the meetings were explained by Dean A. R. Burkot of Campbell College.

On Friday night there were individual departmental meetings. At this time the presidents, dean, registrars, and bursars of the various colleges met together. Following these meetings, a fellowship hour was held in Blue Parlor.

The departmental groups convened again on Saturday morning, and a general meeting followed. At this concluding session, the representatives from each department made summaries of findings and recommendations and made suggestions for future actions.

In addition to the members of the faculty and administrative staff at Meredith, there were thirteen delegates from Wake Forest, fourteen from Mars Hill, thirteen from Campbell, fourteen from Wingate, and nine from Gardner-Webb.

Other representatives were the members of the Correlation Committee of the Council, which includes Mr. Crouch, Mr. Green, Mr. and Mrs. I. B. Hudson, Mr. J. S. Farmer, Claude Gaddy, and Mary Lily Duncan.

was to make the religious program on the campus and in the local churches more meaningful to the student.

INCREASING INTEREST SHOWN IN TEACHING

Manchester, Ind. — (I. P.) —

The number of persons expected to do student teaching, this year, at Manchester College is considerably above that of last year, college officials here reveal. Approximately 58 students will do their practice teaching on the secondary level, and 18 in the elementary grades. Last year there were 28 high school student teachers and 14 elementary.

Authorities point out that the number of students going into teacher education, on this campus, has been on the increase. This year approximately 68 seniors, 108 juniors, 90 sophomores, and 75 freshmen have indicated their educational goal to be the teaching field.

Four schools of the community are now being utilized for the college's expanded student teacher program. Mrs. Esther M. Ashley, new director of the program, gives several reasons for the expansion trends in this department.

Indiana has stepped up the student teaching requirements, she declares. Those students expecting to become high school teachers will need eight hours instead of the former four-hour requirement. This requirement becomes effective with the graduating class of 1950.

It is also pointed out that the increased enrollment will mean an increase of students in the field of education. Crowding in certain subject fields leads to a placement problem in the student teacher program. Music, boys' physical education, and the primary grades seem to be the more popular teaching areas.

UNDERGROUND MOVEMENT HOLDS SWAY AT MEREDITH

BY DORIS LEE

Don't look now, but there's an underground movement being organized at Meredith—a movement to undermine the morale of Meredith students. This is not just a rumor, but there is proof positive that such an underground is working in full force at Meredith. Exactly who the members of the underground are is not known; they may be brownies, or gremlins, or real live people. Whoever they are, their work establishes the fact that they exist and are a menace to Meredith morale.

Evidence of the fact that there is an underground movement at the college is seen everywhere on the campus. For example, the Hut door is always stuck when someone just must get in, and the knob on the door of the day student's room keeps constantly falling off. One saboteur always empties the coke machine and another hides all the nickels he can find. One underground worker (and this one must be a gremlin puts a "pop" in chewing gum when one is chewing in the library or drops a book in chapel just when the speaker pauses for an impressive sentence. Underground work shows up again in the library in the form of the book that is never there when it is needed for a special report or a term paper. Another worker always puts a C on a test when an A is expected, and this same worker always see that a pop quiz is given on the morning after a big date.

The underground is always busy in its demoralizing influence, so be careful; the next victim may be you!
