

Dr. Park and Psychology Students Report Interesting Activities

Since the psychology department reports a number of interesting recent activities, it would seem that that department of the college is quite deserving of a little of the spotlight. Both students in the psychology department and Dr. Park, the professor, have been quite active in recent weeks.

Dr. Park is a very busy person besides her daily routine of teaching classes, as evidenced by the fact that in March the issue of the Psychological Bulletin, published by the American Psychological Association, carried an article by her entitled, "What Constitutes a Good Textbook in Social Psychology?" Later in that month Dr. Park addressed the Beta Sigma Phi sorority on the subject "Personality and Personality Relationships."

During the week of March 13 through the 18, Dr. Park attended the workshop on client-centered counseling at Chapel Hill. In that workshop Dr. Park presented a case to the group and participated in a recorded interview with Dr. Carl Rogers, of the University of Chicago, who conducted the workshop. The interview with him was to demonstrate his method of counseling.

Four students in the Meredith psychology department, Marjorie Joyner, Marilyn Mills, Betty Ann Hall, and Carolyn Massey have been tabulating and summarizing the results from the problem check list given to the seniors and sophomores in December of last year. The results of this list show the major problems of Meredith girls, and comparisons of these results were made with those of the same test at Stephens College in Missouri.

The greatest problems shown at Meredith were in the academic field, with the percentages as follows:

1. Too much work in some classes—80 per cent.
2. Getting enough sleep—60.5 per cent.
3. Examinations — 59.5 per cent.
4. Budgeting time and effort —58 per cent.
5. Studying — 57.5 per cent.
6. Assignments — 57 per cent.

Percentages for Stephens College agreed on the whole with these from Meredith, except that their highest percentage of 76 per cent was for "getting enough sleep." Other similarities were found in problems of personal health, general attractiveness, campus life, rules and regulations, and religion and philosophy.

Under "dating," the chief problem for both girls' schools was in meeting boys, but Stephens' higher percentage indicates that they are more worried about it than we are!

The college music department presented Gazelle Moore, organist, in her graduation recital last night. Serving as marshals for the recital were Charlotte Bowman, Elizabeth Machen, LaVerne Harris, and Naomi Bennett.

In addition to her many musical activities, Gazelle has been a member of the Student Government council and participated in several Little Theatre productions. This year she has served as president of the Little Theatre.

Gazelle's program for her organ recital was as follows:

- I
Prelude and Fugue in D Major..... Bach
  - II
Choral No. 2 in B Minor..... Franck
  - III
Chant de Mai..... Jongen
  - IV
Sonata No. 3 in C Minor..... Guilman
- Preludio
Adagio
Fuga

The Beta Zeta chapter of Sigma Alpha Iota presented an all Brahms recital by members of the Meredith music faculty last Wednesday evening. Miss Helen Ashley, pianist; Mr. Stuart Pratt, pianist; and Miss

Rachel Rosenberger, violinist, were featured in the following program:

- Ballade, D Minor, Opus 10, No. 1
- Intermezzo, E Major, Opus 116, No. 4
- Rhapsody, G Minor, Opus 79, No. 2
- Miss Ashley
- Sonata for Piano and Violin in D Minor, Op. 108
- Allegro
- Adagio
- Un poco presto e con sentimento
- Presto agitato
- Miss Rosenberger and Mr. Pratt
- Variations on a Theme by Haydn, Op. 56 b
- Miss Ashley and Mr. Pratt

Spring to high school students and young aspiring artists means contests and music festivals. Members of our faculty have been very busy judging these events.

On the first of April, the Capital district held its contest at Meredith, with Mr. Pratt and Miss Donley judging the piano and voice students. Mr. Pratt will also help to judge the events at the Southeastern District contests in Greenville.

Two of the most outstanding musical groups in Raleigh are the piano ensembles, junior and senior. A joint concert is planned to present these groups to the public next Tuesday night.

A SOCIALISTIC U.S.A.?

Would you like to live in a socialist America? Most Americans wouldn't. But there's a real danger that we will—whether we want it or not.

One of the main roads to socialism is government ownership and control of important businesses. The electric light and power business is one—and this map shows how far the government is in it already.

Every white dot—209 of them—on the map marks an electric power plant now operated or financed by our federal government. Every black dot shows where another government power plant is being built, expanded or proposed. In all—over 700 places in 44 states! And a long step toward a socialistic U.S.A.

Most of the people who speak for more government control over American life don't want a socialistic nation. They have other reasons for government control.

But when government, moving step by step, controls enough things, we'll have a socialistic government, whether we want it or not. And, instead of our freedoms, we'll have government control, not only over business, but over churches, schools, homes—our whole lives.
