CHEERLEADERS CHOSEN

A fall team of five cheerleaders, all freshmen, were selected recently by the Athletic Association Board. They were Dottie Garrett, June Vann, Jody Strickland, Kay McCosley, and Charleen Smith. All were qualified by previous high school cheerleading service. Their first opportunity for Meredith service was at the Wake Forest-State game Saturday afternoon, November 1.

through the gardens. Gracious, all this woody area has been cleared off and I've never seen such magnificent shrubbery. Oh, let's do sit for a minute. I declare even my eyes are tired from looking. I hope I run into Georganne down here. Her father is really angry with her

The best dressed couple at the Corn Huskin' Bee—Edna Earle Cooper and Nancy Turner.

Frosh Take Honors At Corn Huskin' Bee

The Freshman Class turned out in great numbers all wonderfully well-dressed, and carried home nearly all the honors of the Corn Huskin' Bee. Two freshmen, Edna Earle Cooper and Nancy Turner were judged best-dressed along with Dr. Norma Rose and Miss Mae Grimmer of the faculty. The freshmen also won the sing-song with a dramatization of "I Went to Your Wedding." They came out about two minutes ahead of the Juniors for first place in corn-shucking, and were also the best chicken callers. The seniors kept two honors from the Freshmen by winning the hog-calling contest and the tall tale, which was told by Bernie Limer.

Hockey Team Plays At Chapel Hill

Though the Junior-Freshman team has been proclaiming campus hockey champs and the regular practice season is over, there are still games to play. Next week will see two important games. One is the annual Astro-Phi game for which the date has not yet been set, and the other is a game with Carolina at Chapel Hill on Thursday. Everyone is urged to come out to cheer for her society at the Astro-Phi game. An announcement will be made concerning the time and date.

for not coming home. She says she loves Meredith too much. Oh, yes, I see the rose and gardenia bushes! Aren't they lovely—Look at that beautiful fountain. I do believe it's a memorial to Miss Ida Poteat.

Girls, you know those fabulous buildings can't be the new class buildings. But they must be—I hear Dr. Cannady shouting "Erase." Thank goodness that some things haven't changed. The class rooms are painted such lively shades, and fluorescent lights in every room sure make a difference. Look—comfortable chairs and tables of the right height. I can hardly believe it.

There's my Jody—On the way to the Bee Hive. You might know, eating again! I used to think the Bee Hive couldn't get more modern, but it really has. See, she's got on her cheerleading uniform. I can remember when we didn't have to go to Winston-Salem for Wake Forest games.

Look, isn't that a lake I see? Where the old field was, right across from the Royal Bakery. is that your home, President Campbell? It is lovely. So that's faculty row. They really are beautiful homes.

What's that! You're certainly right. There's a lot of truth in that old saying, "Born 30 years too soon."

Is it time for another Declaration of Independence?

The men who wrote the first one struggled to put new ideas into simple words. Humbly, they tried to set down clearly certain rights of man that could be called God-given, and hard-to-say things of a spiritual nature—truth, equality, freedom.

And the words came alive, and the ideas shone clear. The idea that each man is more important than his government; his spiritual strength more lasting than his armies; his independence more precious than his security.

Upon these ideas, a nation grew great.

There are always people who fear such ideas—even today, even in America. These people feel that man cannot be trusted with his destiny. They are working to make government the master—instead of the servant—of the people.

Their distrust of the individual has spread frighteningly in the past few years.

It can be stopped by ideas—the same ideas spelled out in the Declaration of Independence.

It's time for all of us, privately and in public, to declare once again our independence—to speak up for freedom, and against anything that threatens it.

The trend toward more and more government controls is a threat to every business, every family, every individual. That's why we bring you this message.
