

ALUMNAE NEWS

Two members of our Meredith family, Miss Louise Fleming and Miss Mae Grimmer are away for a few days, visiting the Richmond Chapter of the Alumnae Association. They met on Thursday November 6 in the home of Miss Edna Frances Dawkins who is associated with the personnel department of Foreign Missions. About twenty former Meredith girls heard Miss Fleming discuss the college of today. Talking on projects of the Alumnae Association was Miss Grimmer.

Today they are representing Meredith at College Day in the Richmond High School. Their duties will include advising prospective students.

Next Friday, November 14, Dr. Rose, Dr. Johnson, and Miss Grimmer will meet with the Apex Alumnae group in the home of Mrs. Dewey Powells. Dr. Rose and Dr. Johnson will be on the program, relating their recent trip to the British Isles.

Audubon Screen Lecture To Be Presented Here

The 1952-53 season of the Audubon Screen Tours in Raleigh is being presented jointly this year by the Raleigh Woman's Club, Meredith College, the Raleigh Garden Club, N. C. State College, the Raleigh Bird Club, and the National Audubon Society. These groups are bringing this series to Raleigh with the hope that the beauty, glory, and value of our national resources may be better understood, appreciated, and enjoyed. There is no admission charge to these lectures, which begin at 8:00 p.m.

The first in this series of lectures is to be held in the Meredith College Auditorium on November 13. At this time Allan Cruickshank will lecture on "Below the Big Bend."

Two art majors, Carolyn Bahlentine and Sally Clark, are serving as art supervisor of the Sanford Grammar Schools, and commercial artist for Raleigh's Hudson-Belk Company, respectively.

Raleigh claims a good representative number of Meredith alumnae. Among those engaged in work in the city are: Mrs. Caroline Merritt Childress, third grade teacher; Anne Creech Freeman, also a third grade teacher; Mrs. Lou Griffin Hale, teacher of the fourth and fifth grades at the State School for Blind; Carlene Kinlaw, histology technician at Rex Hospital; Martha Upchurch Martin, private secretary to an executive of a trade association; Sally Massey, in lab technician training at Rex Hospital; Zeta Morton Peters, teacher; Barney Schettler, archivist; and Barbara Ann Todd, secretary to M. C. Austin, with the Seaboard Air Line and Railroad.

Several girls are teaching in different states. Rebecca Davenport is in Princess Anne, Maryland; Sue Fitzgerald is in Blacksburg, Virginia; Barbara Hale in Loyall, Kentucky; Bobbie Anne Hall Ward in Nevada; Macyln Mackie in Greenville, S. C.; and Mrs. Sallie Matthis Pope in King City, California.

Emily Boone Renfro and Betty Sue Spence Stephens are both teaching in Knightdale. In Fayetteville teaching are Elizabeth Ann Cooper and Matel Royal. Sanford claims Dorothy Helms and Linda Swann for teachers, and Leatrice King and Metta Mae Spence Bass are both teaching in Laurinburg.

Jean Miller is teaching music in Burlington Junior High School, and Betty Jo Smith is teaching music in the first through the twelfth grades in Thomasville. Mary Ruth Godfrey is teaching the eighth grade in Statesville, and Jean Johnson Moore is teaching typing and shorthand in her hometown, Benson. Evelyn Krause Moss is teaching the fourth and fifth grades at Wake Forest, and Dott Miller Bryan is teaching the third grade at Ahsokie, while Angerlane Whitfield is teaching piano in the first through the eighth grades in Rocky Mount.

other market for their goods, than to receive more charity from the government.

"However, my main desire for taking the trip with the Seminar was to see Yugoslavia," Miss Tilley continued. "One of my happiest memories was to see an American flag towering over Trieste with its white buildings gleaming against the blue Adriatic Sea. Two highlights of the trip were riding on the Orient Express, which tradition claims has a murder every 24 hours, and visiting a Mosque with its very beautiful Byzantine Interior."
