

The Carteret News Times has run a series of four articles about the late Alice Hoffman, who owned much of Bogue Banks, and whose heirs, also descendents of Theodore Roosevelt, developed the property into what is now our town. Spokesmen for the press say that non-resident property owners may write for copies of the articles which will be sent for $1.20. Requests should reach the newspaper before the end of September.

Libraries in our area Lots of us in Pine Knoll Shores are avid readers and want to know what area libraries are available to us. Once a month on Wednesday morning from 10:30 - 11:15 the bookmobile comes to Pine Knoll Shores with Mrs. Clarice Willis in charge. Next visit October 3. It stops in front of the Murrills' home on Yaupon near Oakleaf, and you will see us streaming in from all directions by car, bicycle, or on foot. The collection is small but active, and you may borrow as many books as you wish. We make them stretch even further by lending them all round the neighborhood. In Morehead City there are two libraries we may use. The Webb Memorial Library is in the Civic Center at 107 South 9th Street. Hours are 9:30 -12:00 and 2:00 - 5:00 Monday through Friday and 9:30 - 1:00 on Saturday. The collection is arranged informally like a home library with no numbers on the backs of the books. The Librarian is Frances Stokes. Carteret Tech library on the second floor of Carteret Tech is also open to us. Their book collection is chosen to meet the needs of their students, so if you want some technical information, that is the place to go. They also have foreign language tapes for those of us who want to learn or brush up our knowledge of another language. The Carteret County Public Library is in Beaufort at 210 Turner Street. It is open from 10 until 5 Monday, Wednesday, Friday, and Saturday, and from 10 until 9p.m. Tuesday and Thursday. Mrs. Minnie Simpson tells us that they have approximately 31,000 volumes, 25 periodicals, and 5 newspapers including the Sunday New York Times.

SHORE-LINE-BY-LINE: ALLEN MITCHELL, volunteer contributor, has offered us the following. Allen, his wife, and their cat, Fred, have recently moved to PKS. "We wandered to our new and chosen home early in June. Actually it's not our final resting place, as we are renting for the summer. My wife led the procession and had the house set up and everything going upon Fred's and my arrival. Most important, the martinis were cool and in place for the first day's lunch. Fred didn't have any martinis; doesn't like them, but then cats are more sensible than humans... So far, the weather has been marvelous; the succession of clear days is quite unusual for us. Around the Philadelphia area, two days in a row without rain or drizzle and the sun shining in a confused manner through the smog was something calling for a celebration. Now that we are incorporated, we must strive to keep PKS in tune with, 'On a Clear Day - etc!'"

New residents LOUISE and EDWARD BAKER are moving into their home on Carob Court. Ed is an engineer formerly with American Bureau of Shipping, a firm whose job is keeping ships seaworthy. His hobbies are fishing, sailing, and golf.

BESS and ANDY SANTACROCE, who have welcomed so many of us so warmly upon arrival in PKS, are going through some very hard times. Andy has been hospitalized for several weeks. Their friends and neighbors want Bess to know how strongly their thoughts are with her and with Andy, and to let her know, too, how well remembered is the warmth both of them have shared so generously with so many of us.

Sailors Irene and Ken Doremus write that they, too, are a sailboat family and have just returned to New Jersey after a seventeen day cruise to Block Island, Rhode Island.

Costs We estimate that it is costing approximately $2.00 per year per copy to send out the Shore-Line. Those of our readers who have generously sent more will be credited for additional months (or years).
