Page -4-

ON MAY 10, Carteret Historical Research Association (CHRA) will host a dinner meeting at Mike's Restaurant, Beaufort, at 6:30 p.m. This affair will commemorate Mational Historic Preservation Neek, when CHRA will recognize noteworthy historic preservation efforts in Carteret County. Mr. Graydon Paul, who has contributed much time and thought to historical preservation in the county, will be honored at this event. The public is invited to attend.

The week of May 9 - 15 has been proclaimed Historical Preservation Week by Mayor Kenneth Haller for Pine Knoll Shores and by Mr. Kenneth Newsom, chairman of the Carteret County Board of Commissioners, for Carteret County. (Mary Louise Baker)

BEAUFORT HISTORICAL ASSOCIATION'S OLD HOHES TOUR this year will be Friday and Saturday, June 25th and 26th, and the group is also sponsoring an Antique Show, featuring 22 dealers, at the National Guard Armory, on Thursday, June 24th, Friday, the 25th, and Saturday the 26th, to co-incide with and enhance the old homes festivities. On the opening night of the show, admission will be $1.50, while admission for the next two days will be $1.00. Information about both events is to be found at the Josiah Bell House in Beaufort.

KITTY FORBES AND PLTE HULING have filled us in on happenings over in Pine Knoll Townes. We must admit we were confused about the two sections of those condominiums off Salter Path Road, on the ocean, and just west of Arborvitae.... Here's the thing: Kitty and Pete work for SEAHAVEN, INC., and they handle the two western-most rows of the condominiums, in addition to operating a real estate business aside from those 46 units. Soon they will be turning the development over to its owners' association, although they will probably remain there in "on-site" management. Kitty lives in one of the condominiums, and the Hulings, Pote and Billie, live above the Seahaven offices.

Now then, the other four rows of condominiums, to the east, are separate and function by themselves, with their owners' association in command; there are ninety-two units there.

Many of the owners of both Seahaven and PKTownes have permanent residences in other parts of the state, and in other states, but Kitty says they find their way down more often than one might imagine because they all love what they've got here. All but 8 of the Seahaven units have been sold and those are apparently going fast as the real estate business climbs back on its feet again.

While we are at it, let's give you a word about Kitty and Pete. Kitty, a native of Wilson, N.C., came to the Seahaven project from Brandywine - earlier she was at Bald Head Island, a resort development, and before that she says she was "wife and mother" and taught dancing. Her daughter is in theatre in N.W York, recently sang a leading role in a Sarasota, Florida, production of "Host Happy Fella" opposite Alan Jones (yes, the real Alan Jones), and Kitty went down to see the show.

Billie and Pete Huling have led lives of multiple variations. Just for example: Pete ran the Duke Marine Lab at one time, served as an administrator at the Duke Medical Center in Durham, has shown cattle, was in the Intelligence Service - see what we mean? Oh, we could do a whole issue on some of his stories, we feel sure. Billie works as an executive secretary in continuing education at CTI. They have two kids; boys: 21 and 10.

Wandered about and met a young Scottish girl, DOROTHY BORTHACK, in number 120 of Seahaven, wife of one of the many men from Great Britain who stream in and out of Cherry Point, dedicating themselves to making the Harrier planes a success here. Morris Borthwick is a technical representative; they have been here for three years, have twin boys, five and a three year old boy as well. There is a possibility they will return to Edinburgh in the fall, but they hope to remain longer - they love it here, especially the weather. Dorothy works nights at the Rex Restaurant, says she has met some great people, is warmed by the friendliness she finds, although the Harrier group, she recognizes, does stick together - quite naturally, of course - but she would welcome knowing more Americans.