

Vern Wallace and her committee of 12 will shortly be distributing flyers and taking orders for candle kits. Each kit includes bags and candles to make 15 luminaria, and each kit will cost $4. The committee requests that residents place orders for the kits early, because once the supply is exhausted no more kits will be available.

If you do not receive a flyer, or a call from one of the committee members please call Verne Wallace (726-7890), Noni Eastland (726-0315), or Margaret Jones (726-1209).

It is hoped this year's display will be as spectacular, or even more so, than past years and we urge everyone to participate.

STRAY ANIMAL LAW

TO BE ENFORCED

The Town of Pine Knoll Shores will stringently enforce the stray animal ordinance, which has been on the books for some time, and which requires that dogs in particular must be leashed or otherwise restrained from roaming the town. Strict enforcement of the law has become necessary at this time because of the large number of animals at large and which has resulted in numerous complaints to the police and other town officials. Failure to observe the ordinance will result in the animal being removed to the pound and imposition of fines to the owner. Please keep your dog leashed or otherwise contained.

HOUSE NUMBERS WILL

BE HELPFUL TO MANY

Police Officer David Brown has suggested that because of the rapid growth of the town that residents should as soon as possible install house numbers either on their houses or on their mail boxes. Without these numbers, he pointed out, it is increasingly difficult for police, or fire and rescue equipment to respond promptly to calls. In the event you do not know your house number a call to the Town Clerk will get it for you. The SHORE LINE suggests that the Rescue Squad, or the Fire Department could make such numbers available to residents at a modest cost.

ALSO the police advise that residents should use the telephone number 8-728-3772 for non-emergency calls to the police. In the event of an emergency, however, the number 8-728-4111 should be used. Please make a note of both of these numbers for your convenience.

EX-POLICE CAR

IS FOR SALE

The Town of Pine Knoll Shores has for sale a 1974 Ford four-door sedan, which has been retired by the Police Department. If interested in this vehicle please get in touch with the Town Clerk who can arrange the necessary details.
