

At the March 11 meeting Edward Burtcher, an avid gardner at Broad Creek will speak on "Vegetable Gardening." Husbands of members are invited to attend the March meeting; husbands also are invited to go along on the trip on April 8 to Wilmington, where the group will visit the azalea gardens. This will be a one-day trip and reservations will be necessary to assure adequate bus seating.

OUR NEW

NEIGHBORS

Brenda and Michael Bennett, of 130 Yaupon Road, came here from Greenwood Lake, New York, "the snow belt". After renting their house for a few months, they decided to buy it in December. Michael is the Technical Representative for Lucas Aerospace. The company furnishes parts for the Harrier plane at Cherry Point. He was transferred here from New Jersey. Brenda worked as a receptionist and typist, but she is not presently employed. She likes riding her bicycle, cooking and making hooked rugs. Michael spends a lot of time working on their home. Later he hopes to get around to playing softball.

Joan and Robert Dawson moved to 155 Oakleaf Drive from Farmington Hills, Michigan, in October. He had worked for Ford Motor Company as a Timing and Programming Manager for Overseas Products Engineering. Over the past 20 years they have lived in several Latin American countries: in Mexico City, Mexico; Buenos Aires, Argentina; and Valencia, Venezuela. Both originally came from Kansas. Her father, John Power, from Kansas City, now lives with them. They have three children. A daughter is with American Banking Association in Washington, D. C. One son is with the State Department in Washington, D. C., having recently returned from Rio de Janerio. The younger son, a recent graduate of University of Michigan, works in finance in Dayton, Ohio. Joan likes bridge and sewing. Both are golfers, beach combers, and like snorkeling. In South America, both worked with church youth groups.

Pat and Bob Brady moved from Wilson, North Carolina into their new home at 129 Cedar Road early in January. "We've been Salter Pathers for about 20 years—we've had a trailer in Paradise Bay West." Bob is a native of Smithfield, North Carolina, while Pat is originally from Oceanport, New Jersey. He is now manager of Sears in Havelock and has been with the company for 23 years. In his spare time Bob works at fixing up their home and green house. In Wilson he remodeled an old house. He likes to fish and play golf. Pat is interested in house plants, sewing, and ceramics. She collects shells and makes shell craft. They have a married daughter living in Smithfield. Another is a senior at East Carolina, majoring in intermediate education. The third daughter, Adrian lives at home and is a professional scalloper, working aboard the Harkers Island workboat which her father owns. Pat and Bob have a seven year old Poodle, named Desiree. Adrian owns a four year old St. Bernard named Sasquache, which means "big foot". They met Mary and Bill Mueller through mutual friends. After visiting the Muellers in Pine Knoll Shores they decided to buy a lot and build a home. - Olga Hedrick

THAT

Open stretches of beach strewn with shells, sea weed, sand dollars, and an occasional Portugese Man-of-War blown in from more southerly waters. Behind the dunes majestic live oaks hung with Spanish moss shade herds of wild horses grazing peacefully. Sound like a tropical paradise? It's Shackleford Banks - a small island hidden just inside Cape Lookout..Scenes such as these are now on display at the NC Marine Resources Center, Pine Knoll Shores. The color photographs are a part of a new exhibit furnished by Cape Lookout National Seashore and portray the island's diverse habitat ranging from beach to maritime
