

From E-mail Buddies

This lil' feller ran out in front of a car. Thought it was a lost baby goat. Stopped to get it and, WOW. A real Albino Whitetail Deer.

Just hours old, but doing fine. No mama deer around. Another car nearly hit it.

Well, he is THE neatest thing ever seen. And such a freak of nature that only one in more than a million are ever born. He took his bottle of food, followed us around the house, doing great.

So, we called the Zoo and Fossil Rim, who were both interested, but going to send him to a rehab farm. One of Dad's best friends is our game warden. I called him and he came right over. We got a lot of pictures. Something we will never see again probably, so it was very cool. Maybe he will make it in captivity somewhere and be appreciated.

So rare. Sure we wanted to keep him but it is not the thing to do, and not legal either. Here are a couple of pictures to show you. He is snow white with pink eyes, ears, nose and hooves.

The kids called him Powder. He is so small! That is my shoe lying beside him. WOW, how cool is that??

Basket Making Workshops Set

By Barbara Milhaver

"A tisket, a tasket, a green and yellow basket." Is there a culture on earth that doesn't utilize baskets? Baskets today are useful and decorative. There is, however, nothing better than one that is handmade!

In our country, the basket making tradition dates back to the Native Americans. Around the world baskets have been essential parts of culture since primitive times. Jean M. Auel describes, in The Plains of Passage, basket-type boats used during the Ice Age called a "coracle." (The Maritime Museum has one in their collection.)

Whether baskets are made of reed, rush, pine needles, oak strips, grass or other fibers they remain an important part of just about every household. You have the opportunity to try your hand at making your very own basket at a workshop directed by Janice Mines of Otway offered at the Beaufort Historic Site Aug. 18 from 9:00 a.m. to noon as part of their ongoing Living History Program.

There is a participation limit of 12 adults and a materials fee of $15. Pre-registration is required and can be made by calling 728-5225.

Mary Jo Jennings

In addition to the basket making workshop you will be able to see a recently scheduled demonstration of Gathering Baskets presented by Ruth Whippich at 10:00 a.m. on Aug. 4. This program will also be held at the Beaufort Historic Site and there is no registration, fee or space limitation.

Other Living History Programs scheduled for the 2005 season are a Quilting Workshop on July 28, a Scrimshaw Workshop Aug. 11 and a Beginner's Knitting Workshop Aug. 25. For information please call 728-5225 or go to the website www.beauforthistoricsite.org.

Fabulous Baby
Infant & Children's Boutique

Come See Our Great Selection of Baby Gifts, Infant &
Children's Clothing &
Accessories...

The Ultimate Store
For Fabulous Kids
& So Much MORE!

Special Shoreline Offer 10% OFF
Excluding Furniture, Bedding & Sale Items

Brandywine Crossing Shopping Center • Hwy. 70 West, Morehead City
252.727.5435

Vacation Rentals

REALTY WORLD®
BROKER NETWORK

FIRST COAST REALTY

Atlantic Beach
252-247-5150
800-972-8899

Emerald Isle
252-354-3928
252-354-7231

www.ncbeach-vacation.com
email: rentals@ncbeach-vacation.com

SALES PROPERTY MANAGEMENT