

Pine Knoll Shores Town Manager Brian Kramer and wife Tricia enjoyed a European vacation recently. On their first day in Paris, after taking in some sights, they stopped at a sidewalk café along the Seine for a glass of wine.

In spite of cold, wet weather, Brian and Tricia braved the elements for a visit to the Eiffel Tower.

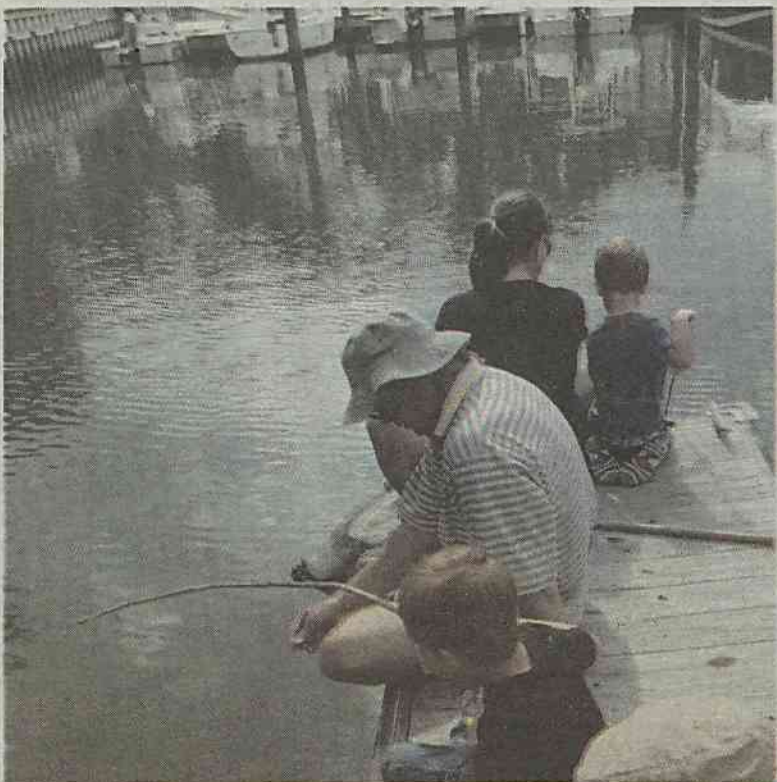

Later as they sailed west to east across Germany, mostly on the Mosel River, they were delighted to spot the hillside in the background from the sundeck of their cruise ship, planted with grapes to make German Riesling.

A Dream Vacation in Hawaii: Pauly and Lee Brown recently traveled to Hawaii with family members to celebrate their 40th wedding anniversary. Pictured are the group on an outing to the Polynesian Cultural Center and four generations who were together for the event (from left: Pauly Brown, great grandma; Melanee Wright, mother; Carly Wright, daughter; and Morgan Gainor, grandma).—Photos courtesy of the Browns

Pine Knoll Shores resident Joan Lamson (far right) was joined in August by the Lamson side of her family for their annual reunion at the beach. They're pictured here following an enjoyable evening at the Country Club of the Crystal Coast.—Photo by Henry Perreta

Making a memory: Pine Knoll Shores resident Chuck McDanal enjoys crabbing with his grandsons and daughter. From front: grandson Gabe, age 5; Chuck; daughter Meredith Piemme; and grandson Eli, age 3.—Photo by Jean McDanal

Pine Knoll Shores residents John and Belva Partin recently enjoyed a visit with their grandchildren, Riley, Jason and Will Partin. Among other activities, granddaughter Riley enjoyed time in the kayak, and grandsons Jason (foreground) and Will became expert crabbers.—Photos by John Partin

