

ON THE JOB FOR UNCLE SAM
 A Corner For Our Boys in the Armed Forces.

BROTHERS

The brothers shown above are sons of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Carter, of Leaksville. Carl R. is a seaman second class, has been in the Navy over a year and is stationed at Norfolk, Va. He's a former employee at the Bedspread Mill. Artis C., right, is A.M.M. 3/c, has been in service nearly nine months and is now in Jacksonville, Fla. Artis formerly worked in shipping department of Karastan Rug Mill.

W. B. Combs, S3/c, is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Jasper Combs, Draper. Brantley has been overseas about six months and is now somewhere in the North Africa area. Your host of friends send you their wishes for the best of luck, sailor.

V . . . —

The smiling sailor is Garnett Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Smith. Garnett trained at Bainbridge, Md., and is now stationed in Florida. (Wish we were, too). Before entering service he was employed at the Finishing Mill.

COULD BE

A candidate recently began a review of his accomplishments by telling his audience: "Now, I am going to tax your memory—"

"Gee whiz! Has it come to that?" interrupted the voice of a taxpayer in the rear of the hall.

Pvt. Thomas J. Warren, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Warren, is now training at Grenier Field, N. H. (Is it cold up there, Thomas?) He worked in twisting department at the Rayon Mill and the lads over there send you best wishes, Thomas.

Pvt. Roy W. Hall writes us from out in Arizona and says he likes it very well. The nearest town is 30 miles distant. Must be lonesome, Roy. He worked at Fieldale for four years before entering the service. Good luck, fellow.

BAD ERROR

"There's something odd about you this morning," said Hitler to Goering. "Yes—I know what it is. For the first time since I've know you, you have left off your medals."

Goering looked down at his chest. "Great heavens!" he cried. "I forgot to take them off my pajamas."

Sgt. Melvin T. and Calvin R. Smith S2/c, (l. to r.) are sons of Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Smith, of Spray. Melvin is now at home on 30-day furlough after spending 3½ years in the Panama Canal Zone. He'll be stationed somewhere in the U. S. A. Calvin also spent a short furlough at home recently. He's been in service a little over four months, completing his training at Great Lakes and now is stationed at Little Creek, Va.
