

These two boys are (l. to r.) Pvt. H. C., Jr., and Elbyrn Shropshire, S2/c, sons of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Shropshire, Ridgeway road. H. C., Jr. is now at home on furlough and will soon return to his station at Camp Shelby, Miss. Elbyrn was also at home recently. He has finished his training and is now in active duty, and from his address we presume he is in the North African area.

V . . . —

DAD AND JUNIOR

Wouldn't you just know that the manly little fellow giving that snappy salute is a Navy man and that he is saluting his Dad, a real sailor? Daddy Dewey Navey is somewhere in the Pacific and while at Great Lakes won a medal in wrestling. And Dewey, Jr. certainly has the build of a future wrestler.

V . . . —

Cpl. Vance Coleman, who was recently promoted to his present rank, is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Coleman, Draper. Vance recently spent his furlough with his family at Draper. Before entering the service he was employed in the Blanket Mill.

V . . . —

Remember . . . HE is depending on YOU! — Buy More War Bonds!

This charming little lady is the year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Grayson Talbott. We think you will agree with us when we say this picture is well worth printing. Mr. Talbott works in the Finishing Mill.

V . . . —

SWELL ANSWER

"Senator" Ed Ford told this story about an old grouch on a recent NBC "Can You Top This" program.

This man enjoyed screaming at everybody. One day a delivery boy left a door open and the grouch yelled: "Shut the door. Were you brought up in a barn?"

The lad started to cry and the grouch was sorry. "I didn't mean to make you cry," he said.

"I'm not crying because you yelled at me," said the boy. "I'm crying because I was brought up in a barn, and every time I see a jackass it makes me homesick."

BLASTS

From Draper Office

By Selma Stone

There's been a change in the weather and a change in our office just recently. As for the weather, you know that; and in the office the following girls picked up, desk and all, and moved into other offices in the mill: Virginia Giles to the blanket spinning department; Agnes Foster, sheeting weaving; and Mildred Estes to the sheeting spinning. We're gonna miss you girls, but we hope you'll like your new surroundings.

Miss Gladys Barber had as house-guest the past week-end, Miss Sally McGuire, of Danville, Va.

According to June Hundley, the fleet was in last week. We have to take her word for it, 'cause she used her head and kept him out of sight of the gals who walk out with her at five o'clock. Now June, was that nice? You could have locked the car doors so he couldn't get out.

With all due apologies to the Woolen Mill reporter for "horning in" on his territory, but I hear that Mae Roberts of the Woolen Mill office, pays visits to the post office so often that she's about to acquire the title of "Postal Parkin' Mama."

In Double Ceremony

Mrs. J. Elwood Brown, left, who before her marriage on October 30th, was Miss Julie Frances Griffin, of South Henderson, N. C. Mr. Brown is a son of Mrs. M. J. Eure and the late Fred G. Brown. The ceremony was performed at the home of Mrs. Eure, on Ridgeway road, by Rev. J. P. Davis. At the same time Mrs. Eure's youngest daughter, Daisy Corinna Eure, was being united with Willie Franklin Odell, son of Mrs. Lillie Odell and the late Frank Odell, of Leaksville. Mr. and Mrs. Brown will make their home in Danville; Mr. and Mrs. Odell will for the present reside with the bride's mother.