Bedspread Mill

I received a very nice letter the other day from Randoiph "Blue" Pulliam, who is "Somewhere in the War Zone." He says he is getting along fine and liking where he is very well, and having a little fun once in a while, but it's not anything like the old Tri-Cities. He asked me to tell all his friends "hello" for him, and I know of no better way to do this than to put it in our paper.

Here is part of his letter just as I received it: "I got the first issue of the unnamed mill paper. Since you are one of the correspondents and one of my old friends, I will tell you how I appreciate it and how much good it did me. I got the biggest kick out of the article about the promotions the fellows had gotten, from filling carrier to weaver, from yarn carrier to space doffer, etc. All the fellows here got a big kick out of the paper. A lot of them used to be textile workers, too. Everybody got a big laugh out of it and I hope I continue to get the paper. I am interested in what goes on in the mills and especially the Bedspread."

Folks, he wants to hear from you, it will cheer him up and keep him informed on the happenings in the Tri-Cities; not only him, but lots of other boys. They're doing their "big bit", so let us do our "little bit" and write them once in a while.

For anyone who would like to write to "Blue", here is his address:

Pvt. Thomas R. Pulliam,
 Battery D, 252nd C. A.
 A.S.N. 34175018, A.P.O. No. 868,
 Care Postmaster, New York, N. Y.
 (Be sure to send it via Air Mail.)

Pvts. Thomas and Rodger Crowder, of the U. S. Army, spent the weekend with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Crowder. Both boys are former employees of the Bedspread Mill.

John Henry Stevens, Jr., with a few friends, spent last weekend at Fairystone Park. And the boys seem to have a special talent at dish washing, at least that's what the manager thought. It seems they ate dinner there and when the bill was presented them, they discovered they had locked their wallets in the automobile and the boy with the keys could not be found. So you know the story. They did find him, however, but not until most all the dinner dishes were sparkling.
