Helen Watkins had the time of her sweet young life Saturday night at a birthday party given for her cousin, Oline Oakley. Helen, don't you know you can't run with spike heels?

Clarice Edwards spent a week in Pennsylvania. How did you rate such a good looking friend, Clarice?

Doris Furgeson and children spent Wednesday at Fairystone Park, and, my, what a picnic lunch they had! Next time you go off "eating," invite me, please.

Helen and Edith Gilley went to Fairystone Park again Sunday. Did you finish getting a sun tan, Helen?

"Dr." Lee Nelson has discovered the "Fountain of Youth" on his farm, and plans to open a park. Say Mr. Nelson, I hate to disappoint you, but mother had a spring like it on her farm back in the West Virginia hills and we called it "Sulphur" water.

Well, who knew Robert Wilkins was grandpa? Well, he is six times. He flew to New York last week in a large passenger plane, and brought his daughter-in-law and three of his grandchildren home with him. He was only in the air 3½ hours going from Greensboro to New York City. Quick traveling, huh? He says it was the most enjoyable trip he has ever taken, and he gets about a lot, too.

"Hop" Tolbert spent a few days last week with his family here.

Velma Johnson and Bill Inman of Charlotte spent the week-end with Letitia Scott.

Claudia Bingham and children spent their vacation in Mt. Airy, N. C., and Ararat, Va. Sure, they had a good time. Who wouldn't?

Mrs. Margaret Franklin of New York will spend the next two weeks with Stella Tolbert. Oh! Say, Stella is taking a trip in the very near future, but that can wait.

Berean Tolbert visited Carolyn Abliot of New Orleans, La., over the week-end.

Melvin Robbins spent the past two weeks at home returning Sunday night to his camp at Pittsboro, Calif. Why didn't you come to the mill while you were home, Melvin? We all wonder how you look in uniform.

Ernest Macy is still looking for nails to finish his new home. Do you have a few to spare? If they are bent and rusty, he can straighten them.

James Gallimore and family visited his brother in Worcester, Mass. While there he drove over to Long Island and took in the zoo. Poor boy, he could hardly leave, got in an argument with a monkey. Their subject, of course, centered on the meat and lard situation back home. Almost had James up a tree looking for coconuts, too. Well, that

Violet Woods and Christine Freeman were recent visitors in New York City.

Rev. Clarence Fargis and his brother, Marvin, and Miss Lucy Fargis have returned from a trip to Long Island, N. Y., where they visited a brother, Lindsay Fargis, who had been run down by an automobile. A leg was broken and he had cuts about the face.

Take a tip from Drew Watkins: a nice cool foot bath every afternoon at two, and a change of shoes can do wonders for you if you are tired.

Health Department To Spray Homes Of Malarial Veterans

All World War discharged veterans who have a history of malaria are requested to notify the Health Department. Dr. B. M. Drake, District Health Officer, has been notified by the State Board of Health that homes of discharged World War Veterans having a malaria history may be sprayed with DDT.

This service is furnished free of charge to these veterans by the United States Public Health Service in an effort to prevent the spread of malaria.

Since malaria is carried by the anopheles mosquito which travels mostly in the cool of night and dusk, the control program is based on spraying the homes of those persons who have had malaria. In this way the mosquito will not be able to travel on and carry the disease further.

Virginia Beach seems to be a very popular resort this season. The following people spent their vacations or part of it at least there:

Bettye Jones, Kathleen Wise, Helen Litaker, and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Whitehead.

We welcome Marie Sedell who takes Pat Litaker's place, and Marion S. Hair, of Charleston, S. C., who is doing some temporary work, both in the Engineering department.

That Northern accent Ben Dunton has recently acquired was caused by a trip to Albany, N. Y., where he and his wife visited his folks.

Another beach item: Mr. and Mrs. Garland Newnam visited Myrtle Beach.

Dick Henry is a sadder but wiser man. It seems as though he mistook poison ivy for something else. It wasn't.

Research Department is conducting some intensive work on bugs recently from the way they were crawling around looking for same. Any one having or knowing of any spare insects please bring same in person to the above department.

Larry Richards is going on a visit North this week. Hope he takes part of this heat wave up with him. It will certainly insure him of a warm reception.

Postman's Holiday: Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Gardner took a vacation trip up in the mountains of Virginia. We were told he took his camera and made pictures.
