Sympathy:

The entire Mill unites in extending our most sincere sympathy to the families of Ed Cabler and Calvin Hill, who were killed in a motorcycle-truck accident. Also to Ruby and Helen Gilley, whose brother, Junior Gilley, lost a leg in the same accident.

We are glad to have Henrietta Coleman and Effie McCulloch back again after being on the sick list for several days.

We have had quite a bit of company for the past two weeks including my next-door neighbor. How do you like our Mill, W. B.? We like it.

Talking of company. John Coleman wanted everything spic and span while they were here so he poured a fire bucket full of water in the water sink just to see it run out in the floor. The plumbers had disconnected the pipes and he didn't know it, but we know he got very busy mopping it up. O.K., Henrietta, he knows how, so rest your bones while friend hubby mops this week-end.

Wonder who got whose supper Monday evening? And was her face red when she found she had a sack of good things to eat instead of her Coca-Cola

Michael Herko, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Herko, of Sioux City, Iowa, celebrated his first birthday September 3. "Mike's" mother before her marriage was Edith Campbell, formerly of the Rayon Mill.

Little Sandra Lee Cruise is the three-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Cruise, of Draper. The proud Daddy works in the Finishing Department at Woolen Mill.

bottles. Mistakes don't make hay-stacks, do they?

Mrs. Dan DeHart spent Saturday and Sunday in Martinsville. Have a good time, Lula?

Wonder what's wrong with Madeline? Hurry back!

Dot Tolbert is back with us again. Glad to have you back, Dot.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Stegall, Paul Barrow and Lois Johnston and Mrs. Lititia Scott spent the week-end in Gastonia.

Woolen Mill News

By Millard Winecoff

Employees of John Smith and Sons were unloading a box car of sand late Tuesday afternoon and in wanting to move it a short piece, the car got out of control and ran away.

Crashing the steel fence and gate posts, approximately at 7:00 p. m., the car continued through the Woolen Mill yard tearing down the "gang-plank" between the Warehouse and Machine shop, and finally stopping; after going over the side of the coal chute and slightly entering the door of the boiler room.

There was considerable damage done but no one was hurt. (Quite a few slightly frightened).

Mr. Sidney Cox just returned from New York where he was in conference with Kinard and Company officials on new samples of Woolen goods.

Barbara Ann Fagge, six-months-old, is daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Fagge, Leaksville. Her Daddy works in Karastan and her aunt, Martha L. Brame, in the General Office.
