Fieldale Girls' Basketball Team Wins In Tourney

FIELDALE-The Fieldale high school girls defeated Spencer-Penn High girls 27 to 14 in the finals of the Henry county high school basketball tournament recently and were crowned county champions. They had not lost a game in intra-county competition this year. By virtue of their past playing season's record, the Fieldale lassies already had qualified for possession of one of the handsome trophies presented annually to the teams boasting the best season record. The trophies were presented following the final games by S. J. Townes, head of the Henry county high school Athletic association.

Following their winning of the championship, the Fieldale girls will represent Henry county's Class 3 schools in a sub-district tournament to be staged in the Martinsville high school gymnasium later this year with similar teams from Franklin and Patrick counties participating.

Victors in the sub-district event will go to the district tournament, to be played probably at Blacksburg, with the winner in that to battle a similar outfit from the eastern section of Virginia for the state Class 3 cage title.

The Tournament All-star teams along with the best offiensive and defensive players in the girls and boys divisions were selected by the tournament authorities. These were listed as follows:

$5,178.72 Raised So Far In Scout Finance Drive

Contributions to the Boy Scout and Girl Scout drive thus far total $5,178.72 against a budget of $8,800, according to a report by J. Frank Wilson, Marshall Field production manager, who is chairman of the campaign.

With a balance of $3,621.28 yet to be raised to meet the budget, Marshall Field and Company has offered to donate $2,500 if the remaining $1,121.28 can be secured in the general drive.

Mr. Wilson said that prospects look good for raising the balance of the money and that this has been the most successful Scout drive ever put on in the Tri-Cities. The contributions from the colored people have not come in yet but it is understood that this will be a sizable amount. Also, the Madison, Mayodan, and Stoneville contributions are not included in the report.

Of the $8,800 budget, $5,200 is needed for the Boy Scouts and $3,600 for the Girl Scouts. These estimates represent a minimum necessary to carry on the work.

Following is the box score of the drive to date:

Rayon Mill By Mildred Saunders and Virginia Hurd

To give you an idea of PART of what's been going on at the Rayon suppose we check on the gang that was over at Mr. and Mrs. Leon Shropshire's home Saturday at an oyster supper. Margaret Oldham made the music while Rosa Curry took her first step in a rhumba. Because of shyness, Howard Flinn refused to teach 'em his new waltz. Last but not least, Pete Robertson showed a real talent for frying oysters. There were a number of other guests present that can't be bribed.

Cicero Hall is proud of another grand-daughter, Louise, born to Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Hall.

19 EMPLOYEES RETIRE

(Continued from Page One) a practical way. He pointed out that statistics show that a person lives longer if he ceases active work around 65 years of age, instead of working on until his age forces him to stop.

Luther H. Hodges, New York, vice-president of the Company and general manager of the Manufacturing Division, and Harold W. Whitcomb, divisional vice-president and assistant general manager, explained the two-fold purpose of the retirement program, to help take care of older employees in their later years and to give younger employees a better chance for advancement.

Testimonials to retiring employees were presented by J. G. Halsey, J. M. Norman, Jr., J. E. Barksdale, and J. H. Ripple, Mill managers, and J. P. Powell, assistant Mill manager.

Walter J. Stephens, Sheeting Mill employee, led in length of service with 45 years and five months. Four more employees had continuous service in excess of 25 years.

Marshall Field employees with five or more years continuous service are eligible for retirement with pension at the age of 65. Full cost of the plan is borne by the Company.
