

Vertie Richardson reports small cut and has finger bandaged by Jesse Holland, first aid attendant in Bedsread Winding Department. Prompt reporting of injuries had big part in campaign.

Prevention of falls, a frequent cause of injury, was stressed in safety activities throughout the year. Above, Jesse Holland, left, and Posey Earles look over sign in Karastan Weave Room.

Membership on safety committees was rotated to give all employees an opportunity to serve during the year. Making inspections Ruby Moorefield, Jesse Newman and Larry Stone, all employees of Karastan Finishing Department.

Use of machine "lockouts" to prevent machines being started up while they are being repaired or adjusted aided in eliminating injuries from this cause. In the Bedsread Spinning Department, Andrew Collins and Vertie Richardson, fixers, lock out frame.